Gaspar: More Concerned With Climbing The Political Ladder Than Serving Californians

Significant Findings

- ✓ Gaspar is a ladder climber constantly running for the next higher office instead of doing the job she was hired to do.
- ✓ One year after being sworn in as a San Diego County Supervisor, Gaspar announced her run for Congress.
- ✓ Nine months after taking office as the first elected Mayor of Encinitas, Gaspar announced her campaign for Supervisor.
- ✓ Gaspar went back on her promises.
- ✓ Gaspar claimed she would “restore trust” to the Board of Supervisors but did not vote to schedule a public, evening budget hearing despite precedent and public support to do so.
- ✓ Gaspar refused to vote on a controversial city council issue, ‘recusing’ herself without reason – the deadlocked vote resulted in a law suit against the City of Encinitas.
- ✓ Just four months after 57 percent of San Diego County voters backed legalization, Gaspar went back on her pledge to “respect the will of the voter,” and proposed an “all-out ban” on medical and non-medical marijuana in unincorporated areas of San Diego County.
- ✓ Gaspar accepted a $19,000 pay raise – raising her salary to $180,000 a year – after she was the only Supervisor to initially vote against it.
- ✓ Gaspar had a history of exaggerating her record and running ethically questionable campaigns.
- ✓ Gaspar exaggerated her volunteering record and claimed to be an “educator” despite not having a teaching certificate.
- ✓ A group called “We Love Encinitas,” tied to Gaspar, sent out mailers highlighting Gaspar and claimed to be a 501(c)(3), but did not register with the IRS.
- ✓ Gaspar paid for her ambition – literally – loaning her campaigns thousands of dollars.
- ✓ Gaspar benefited and advocated for perks.
- ✓ Gaspar benefited from free airport parking, a perk reserved for elected officials by the airport, by claimed she was unaware of the benefit.
- ✓ Gaspar voted to consider spending $2.9 million to renovate the Board of Supervisors’ public hearing room.
- ✓ Gaspar consistently backed real estate and developer interests – an industry that contributed significant financial support to her 2016 election to the Board of Supervisors.

Jan. 2018: Gaspar Announced Her Campaign For Congress Just One Year After Being Sworn In As A San Diego County Supervisor

Jan. 2018: Gaspar Announced Her Campaign For Congress, Following A Meeting With Paul Ryan. “After a trip to Washington, D.C., last week, San Diego County Supervisor Kristin Gaspar has formed a committee to run for Congress. [...] Gaspar, 38, who recently became chairwoman of the Board of Supervisors, was on Capitol Hill last week, where she met for 10 minutes with House Speaker Paul Ryan. [...] Gaspar’s supervisor seat includes Del Mar, Encinitas and Solana Beach - all of which overlap with the congressional district - as well as Escondido, which does not.” San Diego Union Tribune, [1/23/18]

Gaspar: “It’s Time For A New Generation Of Fresh Faces In Congress Who Will Set Aside The Bickering And Focus On Getting Things Done.” “‘It’s time for a new generation of fresh faces in Congress who will set aside the bickering and focus on getting things done,’ Gaspar said. ‘I’ve demonstrated my ability to govern effectively as the Republican mayor of a coastal Democratic city, and I’ve shown my ability to attract crossover votes by winning a seat Hillary Clinton carried by 20 percentage points.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/25/18]

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Was Sworn In As A Supervisor Representing District 3 On The San Diego County Board. “A week after officially being sworn into office, Kristin Gaspar and two other county supervisors were honored at a ceremonial swearing-in ceremony Monday morning at the County Administrative Building. Gaspar, who recently unseated incumbent Dist. 3 Supervisor Dave Roberts, was flanked by her husband, Paul, and their three children — Addison, Payton and Carson — as San Diego Mayor Kevin Faulconer administered the oath of office. Gaspar’s official first day in office was on Jan. 2, however, the Jan. 9 ceremony was a chance to celebrate the elections of Gaspar, Dist. 1 Supervisor Greg Cox and Dist. 2 Supervisor Dianne Jacob.” Coast News Group, [1/10/17]

Sept. 2015: Gaspar Announced Her Campaign For San Diego County Supervisor Just Nine Months After Taking Office As The First Mayor Of Encinitas

Sept. 2015: Gaspar Announced Her 2016 Campaign For San Diego County Supervisor, Nine Months After Taking Office As The First Elected Mayor Of Encinitas. “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. Gaspar, 36, has served on the Encinitas City Council since November 2010 and will face Escondido Mayor Sam Abed along with Roberts, and perhaps others, in the June election. [...] Gaspar has hired political strategists Revolvus Consulting, which has worked on the campaigns of San Diego Mayor Kevin Faulconer, San Diego County District Attorney Bonnie Dumanis, former San Diego City Council member Carl DeMaio and many others. She also has hired Golden State Consulting for fundraising, and Competitive Edge Research & Communications for polling.” San Diego Union Tribune, [9/1/15]

Nov. 2014: Gaspar Was The First Elected Mayor Of Encinitas. “By a wide margin, Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar easily won the city's mayoral post in Tuesday's election and will become the first directly elected mayor in the city's history, according to unofficial election results. ‘I'm feeling pretty good,’ Gaspar said just before midnight when nearly 50 percent of the city's ballots had been counted. By 2 a.m., with 100 percent of precincts tallied, Gaspar continued to far outstrip her nearest challengers and had 48 percent of the vote. In the race for a vacant council seat, newcomer Catherine Blakespear also clinched a victory, with roughly 38 percent of the vote.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/4/14]

NOTE: Previously, the Encinitas City Council rotated the position of Mayor between city councilmembers. The City Council appointed Gaspar Mayor from June to December 2014. For more information, see “Legislative Timeline.”

...Instead Of Doing The Job She Was Hired To Do

Gaspar Went Back On Her Campaign Promises

2015: Gaspar Said She Would “Restore Trust” To The Board Of Supervisors, But Did Not Vote To Place A Public Evening Budget Meeting On The Board’s 2018 Calendar, Despite Precedent And Public Support

Gaspar Said She Would “Restore Trust” To The Board Of Supervisors. “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. Gaspar, 36, has served on the Encinitas City Council since November 2010 and will face Escondido Mayor Sam Abed along with Roberts, and perhaps others, in the June election. In making her announcement, Gaspar referred to Roberts in her news release as ‘embattled’ and said she would ‘restore trust to the office’ -- references to the controversy around Roberts, who was accused of misconduct by several staff members in the spring.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/1/15]

Gaspar Sought To Unseat Incumbent Democrat Dave Roberts, Who Was Accused By Three Employees Of Using “Public Resources In His Re-Election Bid” And Showing “Inordinate Favoritism.” “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. [...] Three women in Roberts’ office who resigned in April have filed claims that allege the supervisor used public resources in his re-election bid, showed inordinate favoritism to a subordinate and offered an employee a raise and promotion in exchange for misleading a county human resources inquiry into his office. Roberts has repeatedly denied the accusations.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/1/15]

The County Had A “History Of Scheduling Budget Hearings At Night So People Who Work During The Day Have A Chance To Weigh In On How Billions Of Tax Dollars Should Be Spent.” “County supervisors have a history of scheduling budget hearings at night so people who work during the day have a chance to weigh in on how billions of tax dollars should be spent. But this year, with most members of the Board of Supervisors no longer facing re-election due to term limits, support for after-hours meetings has evaporated. ‘If you’re a concerned citizen ... you could make the time to come down here to testify,’ Supervisor Bill Horn said at a recent board meeting. ‘I’m willing to sit here for two days. ... I don’t want to sit here at night.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Dec. 2017: Gaspar Recommended The Board Of Supervisors Calendar For 2018, Which Was Rejected By The Board. San Diego Board of Supervisors, minutes, [12/5/17]

VIDEO [2:40:04]: Supervisor Cox Raised Concerns About The Calendar’s Lack Of An In-Person Evening Budget Hearing And Specific Dates For In-Person Community Enhancement Hearings In Gaspar’s Proposed Calendar. “We’ve historically had two days of [community enhancement] public hearings to allow everyone to come down and I realize it’s only a minute and a half or two minutes but I find that to be very informative in all the great things that are going on by a lot of our community organizations and nonprofits. [...] I still think it would be advisable to set aside a specific time, in addition to doing the video presentations, anybody that is applying to community enhancements to come down and have an opportunity to do a presentation separate from the other board deliberations because I think we're going to find ourselves having a lot of those. [...] A couple years ago we were requested to have an evening budget hearing. I realize that's kind of out of the norm for what we do on a daily basis but on the other hand, I think it's something that we should extend to the public, an opportunity to those people that are working during the day that don't want to take time off from work to come down and do a presentation or make their comments known, concerns known, in regards to the County's budget. [...] I certainly think we shouldn't shortchange the public to have an opportunity to come down outside of their normal work hours to address the Board of Supervisors in an evening session to deal with our $5.7 billion budget, and growing budget. [...] So I would move that we modify the calendar that we have before us to include an evening budget session and to provide an opportunity for community enhancement hearings to be presented at a designated time during the budget hearings." San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:40:04, [12/5/17] (VIDEO)

Gaspar Voted Against A Motion To Approve A Modified Version Of The Board Of Supervisors 2018 Calendar, Which Designated Specific Dates For Community Enhancement Hearings. "ACTION 31.2 ON MOTION of Supervisor Cox, seconded by Supervisor Roberts, the Board of Supervisors directed the Chief Administrative Officer to modify the Board of Supervisors 2018 Calendar to add dates for Community Enhancement Hearings on June 11, and June 12, to reschedule the Budget Hearing from June 12 at 9:00 a.m. to June 13 at 9:00 a.m., and to end the Budget Hearings on June 20. AYES: Cox, Roberts, Horn NOES: Jacob, Gaspar ACTION 31.3 MOTION by Supervisor Cox to direct the Chief Administrative Officer to modify the Board of Supervisors 2018 Calendar to include a Budget Hearing date of June 13, 2018 at 6:00 p.m. (Motion failed for lack of a second) ACTION 31.4 ON MOTION of Supervisor Cox, seconded by Supervisor Roberts, the Board of Supervisors approved the Board of Supervisors 2018 Calendar as modified and adopted Resolution No. 17-181 entitled: RESOLUTION SETTING THE DATES AND TIME FOR REGULAR MEETINGS OF THE SAN DIEGO COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS IN CALENDAR YEAR 2018. AYES: Cox, Roberts, Horn NOES: Jacob, Gaspar[.]" San Diego County Board of Supervisors, minutes, [12/5/17]

Dec. 2017: Supervisor Cox Moved To Add An Evening Budget Hearing To The 2018 Schedule, But No Other Supervisors Seconded The Motion. "The comments from Horn came in response to a suggestion from Supervisor Greg Cox, who asked his colleagues to amend the yearly meeting calendar to add a night-time budget hearing for people who want to testify about how the county will spend billions of public dollars. 'I don't want to close the door to the public,' Cox said. 'I realize it's a burden, but we ought to have at least one opportunity for the public to come down during non-normal working hours.' The discussion came up as the board approved changes allowing grant applicants and others to submit testimony online rather than travel to downtown San Diego to testify in person. Cox's motion died when no other supervisor agreed to the idea. Community advocates are now planning to petition the supervisors to rethink their position and add a night meeting to the schedule of budget hearings this spring." San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Supervisor Cox Motioned To Modify The Calendar To Include An Evening Budget Hearing, But Failed For Lack Of A Second Motion. "ACTION 31.3 MOTION by Supervisor Cox to direct the Chief Administrative Officer to modify the Board of Supervisors 2018 Calendar to include a Budget Hearing date of June 13, 2018 at 6:00 p.m. (Motion failed for lack of a second)[.]" San Diego County Board of Supervisors, minutes, [12/5/17]

VIDEO [2:49:40]: Gaspar Said There Were "Several" Days And Budget Hearings That The Public Could Testify And Said There Were "Very Few Public Speakers" At The Previous Evening Budget Hearing. San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:49:40, [12/5/17] (VIDEO)

KPBS: A Member Of The Public Testified That More Than 1,000 People Testified At The 2017 Evening Budget Hearing And More Than 350 Testified In 2016. "'The fact is that people are coming to you to ask for basic needs, like food stamps and assistance with their rent — they probably don't all have computer access. And so for you to say that you're opening it up to more folks in the community through that medium, it totally shows how out of touch this board is,' said Martinez-Montes, whose group is a member of the Invest in San Diego Families coalition. Martinez-Montes told KPBS that organizations counted about 380 people in attendance at the evening budget meeting in 2016 and nearly 1,100 people in 2017.” KPBS, [2/14/18]

Gaspar Refused To Vote On A Controversial City Council Issue, ‘Recusing’ Herself Without Reason – The Deadlocked Vote Resulted In A Law Suit Against The City

Gaspar Recused Herself From Voting To Rezone A Former Elementary School “Even Though She Didn’t Have To,” Which Resulted In A 2-2 Split That Denied The Development

Aug. 2011: Gaspar Recused Herself From A Vote That Resulted In Denying The Encinitas Union School District To Rezone A Former Elementary School For Residential Development “Even Though She Didn’t Have To.” “Despite acknowledging the city might lose in court, the Encinitas City Council has denied allowing a 2.8-acre former elementary school property two blocks from the beach to be rezoned for residential development. The 2-2 decision Wednesday night not to rezone the site of the old Pacific View Elementary School frustrated Encinitas Union School District officials, who had agreed in February to delay suing the city over the site so the two agencies could negotiate. [...] The vote Wednesday by the five-member City Council was complicated when Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar recused herself even though she didn’t have to. The rezone needed four votes to pass entirely. Three would have allowed the district to take it to a public vote. It received support from Councilman Jerome Stocks, who acknowledged the city would likely lose in court, and Mayor James Bond. Councilwomen Maggie Houlihan and Teresa Barth voted no.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

Gaspar Claimed She Recused Herself Because The Issue Predated Her Tenure On The City Council

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Recused Herself Because The Issue Predated Her Tenure On The City Council. “Mayor James Bond voted against going to court. ‘It’s probably not the best use of taxpayer money for one public agency to litigate another public agency,’ he said. Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar recused herself from the vote because she has said the issue predates her time on the council, and it would be inappropriate for her to step in now.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/5/11]

Gaspar Claimed She Recused Herself Because She Had Previously Refrained From The Issue. “Gaspar, elected in November, raised eyebrows of two council members when she recused herself. She said she had always stayed out of the Pacific View issue and felt it was inappropriate to weigh in now since she refrained from a related action in January. Houlihan and Bond questioned the move. Sabine said it was Gaspar’s right to participate in the item if she wanted to. Gaspar, reached Thursday, declined to say how she would have voted on the Pacific View rezone, but said she stood by her decision to recuse herself.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

Gaspar Was A Former Board Member Of Encinitas Education Foundation, Which Reportedly Supported The Encinitas Union School District

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was A Former Board Member Of Encinitas Education Foundation, Which Supported The Encinitas Union School District. “The 2-2 decision Wednesday night not to rezone the site of the old Pacific View Elementary School frustrated Encinitas Union School District officials, who had agreed in February to delay suing the city over the site so the two agencies could negotiate. [...] Gaspar, reached Thursday, declined to say how she would have voted on the Pacific View rezone, but said she stood by her decision to recuse herself. ‘I was not going to simply step in to cast a vote. I have to make sure there really is an independent proposal coming forward,’ said Gaspar, a former board member on the Encinitas Education Foundation, a private, nonprofit that supports Encinitas Union.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

Gaspar: “I Was Not Going To Simply Step In To Cast A Vote. I Have To Make Sure There Really Is An Independent Proposal Coming Forward.” “Gaspar, reached Thursday, declined to say how she would have voted on the Pacific View rezone, but said she stood by her decision to recuse herself. ‘I was not going to simply step in to cast a vote. Encinitas Elected Officials “Questioned” Gaspar’s Decision To Recuse Herself From The Controversial Vote

San Diego Union-Tribune: Two City Councilors And The Superintendent “Questioned” Gaspar’s Decision To Recuse Herself From The Controversial Vote. “Gaspar elected in November, raised eyebrows of two council members when she recused herself. She said she had always stayed out of the Pacific View issue and felt it was inappropriate to weigh in now since she refrained from a related action in January. Houlihan and Bond questioned the move. Sabine said it was Gaspar’s right to participate in the item if she wanted to. Baird, the superintendent, said he did not expect Gaspar to recuse herself. ‘It’s probably a vote that City Council members don’t want to be on either side of,’ he said. Gaspar said she does not shy away from controversial issues. ‘I think it’s an unfair criticism to say I simply step out of a contentious issue,’ she said. ‘That’s what we’re here for, that’s our job, it’s incredibly difficult for me to sit on the sidelines, I want to be there participating.’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

The Encinitas Union School District Sued The City Of Encinitas For Denying The Rezoning

Nov. 2011: The Encinitas Union School District Sued The City Of Encinitas Over Its Decision To Deny A Rezoning Of A Former School Sit For Residential Development. “Despite its admittedly slim chances in court, the city of Encinitas will defend itself in a lawsuit filed by the Encinitas Union School District to rezone a former school site for residential development. The Encinitas City Council voted 2-1 Wednesday to defend its two previous denials of what the school district considers its right under state law to rezone the old Pacific View Elementary School to the same as the surrounding residential neighborhood. The council most recently denied the district’s request in August in a 2-2 vote, despite concessions made by Encinitas Union to retain historical elements of the property. Ensuing negotiations between City Manager Gus Vina and school Superintendent Tim Baird to keep part of the property as a park failed, and the district announced last month it would sue the city.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/5/11]

Just Four Months After 57 Percent Of Voters Backed Legalization, Gaspar Went Back On Her Pledge To “Respect The Will Of The Voters” And Proposed An “All-Out Ban” On Marijuana

Oct. 2016: Gaspar Said She Would “Respect The Will Of The Voters” When It Came To Marijuana Legalization...

San Diego Union Tribune: Column: Gaspar Reportedly Said She Would “Respect The Will Of The Voters” When Pressed About Marijuana Farming During A Candidate Forum. “During a candidate forum Monday night hosted by the San Diego Farm Bureau, Larson asked the two District 3 supervisorial candidates — Supervisor Dave Roberts and Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar — if they would support the cultivation of marijuana in the county’s unincorporated areas. In their haste to express their disapproval of recreational marijuana, the candidates fumbled Larson’s question, which was about farmers making money, not preserving public safety. When pressed to address the marijuana farming question, Gaspar simply said, ‘I respect the laws that are passed. I respect the will of the voters.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, column, [10/13/16]

57 Percent Of Voters In San Diego County Voted In Favor Of Proposition 64, Which Legalized Marijuana In California

57 Percent Of San Diego County Voters Previously Voted In Favor Of Proposition 64, Which Legalized Marijuana In California. “The board’s efforts to curtail the opening of dispensaries and cultivation centers comes after 57 percent of voters across San Diego County supported Proposition 64, a ballot measure that legalizes, regulates and eventually taxes marijuana. While the proposition allows for recreational use and homegrown pot, it also allows cities and counties to ban dispensaries and cultivation centers within their jurisdictions.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/28/17]

Gaspar Claimed That Cities In Her District Were Not Interested In Additional Marijuana Dispensaries, But 65 Percent Of Voters In Encinitas Supported Proposition 64, “The Biggest Spread Among All 18 Cities Within The County.” “Gaspar said she needed to make safety a priority and made the motion that her colleagues later passed. ‘Clearly, my cities have spoken and haven’t been interested in additional dispensaries,’ she said, referring to some actions to ban dispensaries. Election results, however, show that a majority of constituents in each of the cities within Gaspar’s district supported Proposition 64. In Encinitas, the city where Gaspar served as mayor before becoming a supervisor earlier this month, 65.23 percent of voters supported Proposition 64, the biggest spread among all 18 cities within the county. Horn also said that his constituents opposed more marijuana facilities.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/28/17; San Diego County Board of Supervisors, minutes, [1/25/17]

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Proposed A Ban On All Medical And Non-Medical Marijuana Facilities In Unincorporated San Diego County Areas

Jan. 2017: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Proposed An “All-Out Ban” On Marijuana Businesses In Unincorporated Areas, After The Board Originally Met To Consider A Package Of Regulations For Medical Marijuana Facilities. “The San Diego County Board of Supervisors voted today to consider a ban on all marijuana businesses in unincorporated county areas, with plans to vote on the proposal before a moratorium expires in March. The board met to consider a package of regulations for medical marijuana facilities in the unincorporated areas and whether to extend a moratorium on new dispensaries for an additional year, but Vice Chairwoman Kristin Gaspar instead proposed an all-out ban.” City News Service via Southern California Patch, [1/25/17]

The Motion Passed On A 3-2 Vote. “‘It’s our responsibility to protect what we have control over in an uncertain environment,’ Gaspar said. ‘At the risk of quickly becoming the most unpopular supervisor in this room, I’d like to make a motion to have staff bring back a ban ordinance for board consideration.’ After a two-hour hearing involving county staff, community groups and dozens of individuals, the motion passed on a 3-2 vote, with Supervisors Greg Cox and Ron Roberts dissenting.” City News Service via Southern California Patch, [1/25/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Board Passed The Ban Only “Four Months After A Majority Of San Diego County Voters” Supported Legalizing And Regulating Recreational Marijuana. “Four months after a majority of San Diego County voters supported a statewide proposition to legalize and regulate recreational marijuana, the Board of Supervisors on Tuesday passed a ban on cannabis shops and farms in unincorporated areas. In November, 57 percent of county voters backed Proposition 64, a ballot measure that makes recreational marijuana legal, regulated, and eventually, taxable. It also gave local governments the ability to regulate where cannabis facilities could be located, or ban them entirely. On Tuesday, supervisors exercised that option and voted 3-2 to stop almost all new medical and recreational marijuana facilities from opening. Three dispensaries that are operating must close by 2022. Two that are in the permitting process may still open, but must also close in five years.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/15/17]

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Accepted A $19,000 Plus Pay Raise – Raising Her Salary To $180,000 – After Her First Meeting On The Board Of Supervisors, Although She Initially Voted Against It

The Board Of Supervisors Proposed A 12.5 Percent – More Than $19,000 – Pay Increase Before Gaspar Was Sworn In

Dec. 2016: San Diego Union-Tribune: The Board Of Supervisors “Took The First Step” To Approve A $19,000 Pay Increase, Before Gaspar Was Sworn In. “Without discussion or explanation, San Diego County supervisors took the first step Tuesday to approve a $19,000 increase in their salaries, which also would raise their pensions. As a part of their consent calendar - where a variety of items on the meeting's agenda are considered simultaneously with a single vote - supervisors approved the first reading of an ordinance that will boost their compensation. The only objector was Supervisor Dave Roberts, who used a procedural move that allowed him to vote in support of all consent calendar items with the exception of the pay increase." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

A Second Vote Would Take Place After Gaspar Was Sworn In In January 2017. "The raise will be considered again on a second reading on Jan. 10 and will take effect on March 17 if passed. Items rarely fail at that point. Dave Roberts did not explain his no vote during Tuesday's supervisors meeting, and his office did not respond to a re-request for comment. He lost his bid for re-election and will be replaced on the board by Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar ahead of the second vote. All other supervisors declined or did not respond to requests to comment on their vote. On Monday, Chairman Ron Roberts released a statement that said the raise is justified." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Pay Raise Would Raise Supervisor Pay "By More Than $19,000." "The move increases the supervisors' salary by more than $19,000 and also raises their pension. [...] Supervisors' salaries are set at 80 percent of the salaries of Superior Court judges. The vote on Tuesday will shift the formula twice this year, to 85 percent on March 17 and 90 percent on Dec. 7. The base salary for supervisors will increase from the current $153,290 to $162,870 and then $172,451 under the new formula." San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/10/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Pay Raise Proposal Would Increase The Supervisors' Base Pay From 80 Percent Of A Superior Court Judge's Salary To 85 Percent And Then 90 Percent. "Under the existing policy, San Diego County supervisors' base pay is set at 80 percent of a Superior Court judge's salary, which is currently $191,612. But if the ordinance introduced by Supervisor Ron Roberts is passed next month, the index will change to 85 percent from March 17 to Dec. 7, and to 90 percent thereafter." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Supervisor Salary Would Increase "12.5 Percent" In "Just Under Nine Months" And Cost Taxpayers More Than $95,000 More A Year. "A supervisor's regular compensation will go from $153,289.60 to $162,870.20 and then $172,450.80 provided judicial pay doesn't increase as well. It amounts to a 12.5 percent increase in pay in just under nine months. The switch will cost government at least $95,806 more per year. Superior Court judge pay is also fluid and relies on a complex formula. By law, judicial salary increases are determined by multiplying the current base pay of all justices by the average percentage increase in pay of the current fiscal year for state employees. The average percentage of pay increase is a factor of the 21 labor unions of varying size and salary structures that represent state employees." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Pay Increase Would Also Increase Supervisors' Pensions. "If the pay increase is passed, all incumbent supervisors will qualify for the higher pension by the time they leave office, but it's unclear exactly how their pension payments will increase. Supervisors' auto allowances are also included in the pension formula. Supervisors regularly approve items on the consent calendar, and sometimes pull particular measures to make brief comments, observations, or have discussions. On Tuesday, they did not pull the pay item from the consent calendar for additional review, and no one from the public spoke on the matter." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

San Diego County, Gaspar Board of Supervisors salary records, obtained via public records request [2/21/18]

Supervisors Earned Approximately $153,000 Before The Pay Increase. “Without discussion or explanation, San Diego County supervisors took the first step Tuesday to approve a $19,000 increase in their salaries, which also would raise their pensions. [...] While it has been 18 years since the formula changed, San Diego was then, as it is now, the second-most populous county in California, and remains geographically larger than Rhode Island and Delaware. Supervisors currently earn $153,289.60.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Was The Only Supervisor To Vote Against The Pay Raise, Which Occurred In Her First Meeting As Supervisor...

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Would Vote Against The Second Pay Raise Vote. “In the coming year the Board of Supervisors faces several issues. It will have to decide on an extension of a moratorium on new medical marijuana facilities, pay raises for supervisors - Gaspar said she will vote against the pay hike when it comes up for a second vote Tuesday - and, as it does every year, a multibillion-dollar budget. Project One For All, an initiative to provide intense and comprehensive support for homeless people with mental illnesses, will also have its one-year anniversary.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/7/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was The Only Supervisor To Vote Against The Pay Raise. “The San Diego County Board of Supervisors voted today to increase their own salaries by more than $19,000 a year, despite public comment by dozens of opponents. ‘The formula for establishing supervisors’ salaries has not been adjusted in decades,’ Supervisor Ron Roberts said before the 4-1 vote. ‘Board members salaries have increased less than one percent over the last nine years, and the adjustment before us today is fair and reasonable.’ Newly seated Supervisor Kristin Gaspar cast the lone dissenting vote, as did her predecessor, Dave Roberts, when the raise was first proposed last month.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/10/17; San Diego County Board of Supervisors, Ordinance No. 10455, [1/10/17; San Diego County Board of Supervisors meeting, 1:51:04, 1/10/17] (VIDEO)

All Four Supervisors Who Voted For The Pay Raise Were Serving Their Final Terms Due To Term Limits. “Cuskaden was standing a few feet away from Roberts when she made the comments from the public speaker’s podium. ‘You all are so damn stupid. You’re building a damn bomb in this city,’ Cuskaden said. ‘You’re an embarrassment.’ Roberts was joined by board Chairwoman Dianne Jacob and Supervisors Greg Cox and Bill Horn in voting for the raise. All four are in their final terms on the board because of term limits.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/10/17]

The Vote Took Place During Gaspar’s First Meeting As Supervisor. “As some citizens yelled ‘shame on you,’ San Diego County Supervisors voted Tuesday to give themselves a 12.5 per-cent pay raise, with newly elected Supervisor Kristin Gaspar opposing the increase at her first meeting. The move increases the supervisors’ salary by more than $19,000 and also raises their pension.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/11/17]

Gaspar Said She Could Not “Get Past” The “First Fundamental Question” Of Whether A Pay Increase Was “Appropriate For The Work Performed,” Having Just Been Sworn Into The Board Of Supervisors. “The former Encinitas mayor told the room that she could not support the 12.5 percent pay hike because she was not sure she deserved the money. ‘One of the first questions I always ask myself is, ‘Is the compensation appropriate for the work performed?’ ‘she said before casting her no vote. ‘Awkwardly, I sit here, having been sworn in just 24 hours ago, and I can be the first to admit that I don’t know how to get past that first fundamental question.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/18/17]

...But Ultimately Accepted The 12.5 Pay Raise, Claiming Not Accepting Would Create A “Disparity” Among Supervisors

San Diego Union-Tribune: Two Months After Voting Against A Pay Raise, Gaspar Accepted The 12.5 Percent Raise, Which Would Initially Increase Her Pay By Almost $10,000. “The former Encinitas mayor told the room that she could not support the 12.5 percent pay hike because she was not sure she deserved the money. ‘One of the first questions I always ask myself is, ‘Is the compensation appropriate for the work performed?’ ‘ she said before casting her no vote. ‘Awkwardly, I sit here, having been sworn in just 24 hours ago, and I can be the first to admit that I don’t know how to get past that first fundamental question.’ Two months later, it turns out, the newest member of the Board of Supervisors will accept the raise, which goes into effect today, pushing her annual $153,289 paycheck up by almost $10,000, with an additional boost coming in December.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/18/17]

Gaspar Said “Not Accepting” The Pay Raise “Would Create A Disparity Among The Supervisors.”

“Gaspar issued a statement explaining her thinking, in response to a question from U-T Watchdog. ‘While I did not vote for the proposal, this is now the official compensation for supervisors,’ the statement said. ‘Not accepting it would create a disparity among supervisors who all perform the same job serving the public.’ That position was criticized by good-government activists.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/18/17]

Gaspar Had A History Of Exaggerating Her Record & Running Ethically Questionable Campaigns

2016: Gaspar Exaggerated Her Volunteering Record And Claimed To Be An “Educator” During Her Campaign For Supervisor, Despite Not Having A Teaching Certificate

May 2016: Gaspar Claimed To Be An “Educator” But Reportedly Did Not Have A Teaching Certificate

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar “Repeatedly” Called Herself An “Educator,” But She Did Not Have A Teaching Certificate And Her “Work As An Educator [Was] Limited To Six Hours Of Volunteer Service.” “In debates, interviews and her official ballot statement as she campaigns for county supervisor, Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar repeatedly describes herself as an ‘educator’ who dutifully teaches elementary school students. ‘I looked up at the kids’ wall today as I was teaching the third grade civics program and there’s a whole poster about how character counts. It works for our young people, it should work for our adults, too, in our community,’ Gaspar, a Republican, said at an April 26 debate. Gaspar’s work as an educator is limited to six hours of volunteer service. She doesn’t have state teaching certifications, and except for the three hours of training for the volunteer work hasn’t studied pedagogy.” San Diego Union Tribune, [5/17/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Group Gaspar Claimed To Volunteer With Said Volunteers Worked For One Hour Per Week For Six Weeks. “Gaspar’s campaign says she participates in the City Stuff program, a volunteer education initiative sponsored by Carlsbad, which she’s been involved with for two years. Some volunteers share their duties with another volunteer, but it’s unclear if Gaspar has a partner for her work. Her campaign said she volunteers with City Stuff once or twice per week for three months, but according to the program’s website, volunteers work for one hour per week for six weeks. Her campaign manager, Jason Roe, declined a request to further explain Gaspar’s work in education.” San Diego Union Tribune, [5/17/16]

May 2016: Gaspar Criticized The San Diego Union-Tribune And Claimed They Only “Scratched The Surface” Of Her Teaching Experience

Gaspar San The San Diego Union-Tribune’s Article Only “Scratched The Surface” Of Her Volunteer Work With Schools. “The 1,200-word piece reported that Gaspar has exaggerated her ‘educator’ claims and said her opponents ‘also have repeatedly twisted their accomplishments in their quest to win voters.’ Republican Gaspar told an audience of 90 at Petco’s corporate headquarters in Rancho Bernardo that the article only “scratched the surface” of her work with schools. She said her 10-year-old son, Carson — who attended the North San Diego Business Chamber-hosted event — could “attest to the fact that I spend so much time at the local schools — and not just my child’s school.’ She said City Hall could confirm the number of school groups visiting for mock council meetings and tours. Caspar said she talks to third-graders throughout the Encinitas Union School District about what local government does and also teaches under a Junior Achievement program. ‘Certainly the article doesn’t do anything to really showcase the level of involvement, engagement that I have,’ said Gaspar, aiming to be the challenger facing Roberts in a November runoff.” Times Of San Diego, [5/18/16]

May 2016: The San Diego Union-Tribune Ultimately Endorsed Gaspar For Supervisor, But Said Her Decision To Call Herself An “Educator” Was “Disrespectful To Actual Educators”

The San Diego Union Tribune Endorsed Gaspar, But Said That Gaspar’s Decision To Call Herself An “Educator” Was “Disrespectful To Actual Educators And To Voters.” “However, her decision to represent herself as an ‘educator’ while campaigning and in her official ballot statement is disrespectful to actual educators and to voters. She is a school volunteer. We’re disappointed that Gaspar defends this gambit. We expected better from her. Nonetheless, we think Gaspar can grow into an effective, influential, coalition-building supervisor. Our frustration with her political gamesmanship is trumped by our confidence in her potential. This editorial board endorses Kristin Gaspar for county supervisor.” San Diego Union Tribune, Editorial, [5/31/16]

A Group Called “We Love Encinitas,” Tied To Gaspar, Sent Out Mailers Highlighting Gaspar And Claimed To Be A 501(c)(3), But Did Not Register With The IRS...

Love Encinitas Sent Out Mailers During The 2012 Election That Used “Survey Information Highlighting Citizen Satisfaction” And Pictured Gaspar

2012: Coast News Group: A Group Called We Love Encinitas Sent Out Mailers That Claimed To Be A 501(c)(3) During The 2012 Election And Used “Survey Information Highlighting Citizen Satisfaction.” “A group called We Love Encinitas sent out mailers during the campaign season using survey information highlighting citizen satisfaction. The group is now being scrutinized over its 501 (c) 3 status. Earlier this year it wasn’t apparent what group or individual was behind the two mailers that were sent out in October. The mailers contained a contact address, which led to a shopping center and a crude website that showed only the survey results. The site has since been revamped to include news and happenings around Encinitas.” Coast News Group, [12/13/12]

Encinitas Undercover, A Blog, Claimed They Obtained A Copy Of The Mailer, Which Pictured Gaspar. “Remember those innocent days of yesteryear when shady, unnamed political campaign supporters claiming tax deductions for campaign propaganda would at least pretend to cloak their propaganda in the guise of a generic “thank you” to unnamed, but obvious, incumbent politicians? That was October 12, 2012. Today? [...] Yes, “We Love Encinitas,” which is a 501(c)(3) charity, meaning donations to it are tax-deductible, is now naming, quoting, and featuring press photos of the politicians it loves during the peak of the campaign season. Gaspar said that his only goal with the group, which claims to be a 501 (c) 3 nonprofit on its mailers, was to advance positive news about Encinitas and city staff. May 2016: [45:00] Gaspar Said She Was "Not Shy Or Embarrassed" To Have Founded "We Love Encinitas," In Response To Accusations That We Love Encinitas Skirted IRS Regulations "Mayor Gaspar and her husband created a non-profit in the last mayor's election to avoid IRS regulations and we are pursuing that to make sure the voters get the message. So Mayor Gaspar, you need to make sure you address my accomplishments [...] GASPAR: Well I am happy to have the opportunity to talk about We Love Encinitas because if you follow politics at all, does it get a little bit depressing? Yes, it does because things are always so negative. We Love Encinitas is an opportunity to be prideful about the community in which we live. Gaspar Was The Top Fundraiser In Her Campaign For Mayor

Nov. 2014: Gaspar Was The Top Fundraiser With More Than $27,000 Raised From January To October, Including A $5,000 Personal Loan. “Gaspar, who was first elected to the council in 2010, has raised and spent far more money than any of the other candidates. From the start of the year until Oct. 18 -- the latest date covered by the campaign financial forms -- Gaspar collected $27,291 in cash and in-kind contributions, including a $5,000 loan that she made to her campaign. She spent $25,923.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/2/14]

Gaspar Raised The Most Money Out Of Any Candidate For City Council

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Raised The Most Money Out Of Any Candidate For City Council. “First-time Encinitas Council Candidate Kristin Gaspar raised $40,908 in her successful November-election campaign, according to the most recent financial campaign disclosures, which cover contributions through Dec. 31. That’s roughly $16,000 more than the other successful candidate, incumbent Teresa Barth, who raised $25,000 in the race for another four-year term. Gaspar loaned herself more than $16,000 for the campaign. Barth reported $5,000 in loans. Ex-mayor Dan Dalager, who finished last out of four candidates and lost his seat after eight years, raised about $28,000. First-time candidate Tony Kranz, who finished third in the vote, raised about $13,500.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/7/11]

Gaspar Was Found To Have Benefited From Free Parking At Lindbergh Field Airport, A Perk The Airport Reserved For Elected Officials, But Claimed She Was Unaware Of The Perk. “Encinitas Mayor Jerome Stocks was surprised to learn that he took advantage of $210 worth of free parking at Lindbergh Field in March -- he had returned his complimentary pass a year and a half ago. ‘Some attorney somewhere said ‘You’ve got to report this as a gift,’?’ he said, referring to state disclosure forms for elected officials. ‘I mailed it back. Now I simply pay for parking and submit a receipt for reimbursement.’ Airport officials for years have handed out free-parking cards to local officials and former board members to thank them for their service and to promote Lindbergh Field. [...] All four of Stocks’ colleagues on the Encinitas City Council were reported as cardholders, even though none knew about or used the passes. Several were surprised they were on the list. ‘I don’t have one, and I’ve never applied for one,’ Councilman Mark Muir said. ‘I heard about them somewhere, but I don’t remember who brought it up. I was never interested, so I didn’t pay any attention to it.’ Deputy Mayor Kristin Gaspar said she learned about her pass from The Watchdog and quickly told the city to return it.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

Gaspar: “I Have A Policy Of Not Accepting Passes Or Free Tickets Of Any Nature And Always Pay My Own Way.” “Deputy Mayor Kristin Gaspar said she learned about her pass from The Watchdog and quickly told the city to return it. ‘I have a policy of not accepting passes or free tickets of any nature and always pay my own way,’ she said.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

The Airport Claimed They Waived Public Officials’ Parking Fees For Official Business, And Trusted That Officials Were On Official Business When They Parked For Free

A Spokesperson For The Airport Claimed The Airport Authority Waived Public Officials’ Parking Fees “When They Travel On Business” Instead Of Submitting Reimbursements. “Airport spokeswoman Katie Jones said the cards are a meaningful way to help politicians conduct public business. ‘The Airport Authority recognizes the value of our public officials’ work in supporting the airport’s interests at the state and federal levels,’ she said. ‘Rather than submitting reimbursements for their airport parking, which would ultimately be paid by taxpayer dollars, the Airport Authority waives their parking fees when they travel on business.’ Carl Luna, a political-science professor at Mesa College and the University of San Diego, said the program could have another purpose. ‘This makes the authority look like it’s buying political support with a nice little freebie,’ Luna said. ‘What’s next -- expedited VIP treatment in security?’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

The Spokesperson Claimed The Airport Trusted That Public Officials Were On Official Business When They Parked For Free. “According to airport policy, the passes are personally approved by President Thella Bowens. Jones said the annual passes are renewed automatically, and the airport trusts that cardholders are actually on official business when they park free -- rather than checking. All four of Stocks’ colleagues on the Encinitas City Council were reported as cardholders, even though none knew about or used the passes. Several were surprised they were on the list.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Voted To Consider Spending $2.9 Million To Renovate The San Diego County Supervisors’ Public Hearing Room

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Voted Against Reconsidering A Proposal To Renovate The San Diego County Supervisors’ Public Hearing Room. “Seven months after they voted down a $44.45 million proposal to overhaul their chambers, San Diego County supervisors are again considering major renovations to the auditorium where they hold their public meetings. Last year, supervisors voted against three plans ranging from $12.81 million to $44.45 million to overhaul their public hearing room. At their meeting Tuesday, they voted 3-2 to reconsider these proposals as well as a fourth, less-expensive option, in June. Supervisor Bill Horn voted against the plans last year but said the board’s decision on Tuesday allows them to consider all proposals, including the expense in detail, this spring. ‘I want to see it in context with all the things that would be out there, and what it would cost,’ he said. Supervisors Dianne Jacob and Kristin Gaspar voted against taking another look at the old plans.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/25/17]

Dec. 2016: San Diego Business Journal: Developers May Have “Caught A Break” With Gaspar In Office, Who Was A “Proponent Of Smart Growth” And “Open Minded To Land Use Issues.” “North County housing developers haven’t had much to cheer in the past few years, but they may have caught a break now that Kristin Gaspar has officially unseated Dave Roberts in the Third District County Board of Supervisors election. Gaspar has described herself as a proponent of smart growth and being open minded to land use issues. That is good news for Newland Communities, which has proposed the 2,100-home Newland Sierra development in Twin Oaks north of San Marcos, and Accretive Investments' proposed 1,746-home Lilac Hills Ranch northwest of Valley Center." [San Diego Business Journal, 12/5/16]

"Kristin Gaspar's bid for county supervisor is being boosted by two big-spending, business-minded committees, one of which is dedicated to attacking her opponent, incumbent Dave Roberts. In the last two weeks the effort has raised tens of thousands of dollars from development and real estate interests. The anti-Roberts committee is called the Public Integrity League of San Diego and is funded almost entirely by the Lincoln Club, a business-centric, Republican-leaning political organization. Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership is a committee created to promote Gaspar, the Republican mayor of Encinitas. "Additionally, political action committees have spent more than $100,000 to help their favorite candidate. Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar, in particular, has benefited from a group funded by the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce and the Lincoln Club, both business-oriented, Republican-leaning organizations. [...] Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership spent $108,865 for mailers and literature supporting Gaspar. The organization is funded by the chamber and Lincoln Club. Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership raised $115,000 through the last reporting period in its effort to get Gaspar elected." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/4/16]

Aug. 2016: The Lincoln Club Had Spent More Than $200,000 To Support Gaspar. “But despite his deft financial footwork, Gaspar might have the upper hand. She has the backing of an independent committee that has spent more than $200,000 to get her elected, more than enough to erase Roberts’ $113,000 advantage. With less than three months to go until the Nov. 8 primary, Dave Roberts had raised $453,914 in his re-election effort while Gaspar has collected $340,762. A group funded by the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce, and the business-oriented Lincoln Club has spent just over $200,000 to get Gaspar into county office. Campaign finance records show that nearly all the funds have gone to media buys in an effort to introduce the top politician from the waterfront city to the rest of the district.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [8/16/16]

Gaspar’s Supervisor Campaign Was Supported By The San Diego Regional Chamber Of Commerce, The Building Industry Association Of San Diego County, The Associated General Contractors, And The California Association Of Realtors. “While Gaspar’s campaign leads in fundraising, a group called Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership Supporting Kristin Gaspar for Supervisor 2016 raised an additional $185,000 in contributions to boost her candidacy. The San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce gave $100,000 in the latest period, while political action committees from the Building Industry Association of San Diego County, the California Association of Realtors, and the Associated General Contractors’ local chapter gave the remaining $85,000. Land-use policy and permitting is one of the primary duties of county government. The group has raised $397,000 through the election, but most of its spending was in support of Gaspar ahead of the June 7 open primary.” San Diego Union Tribune, [10/7/16]

Gaspar Had A Record Of Supporting Developer-Friendly Proposals

July 2014: Gaspar Voted Against Requiring That Low-Income Units Within Some Proposed Developments “Be Closer In Size To The Market-Rate Units”

July 2014: Gaspar Voted Against Requiring That Low-Income Units Within Some Proposed Developments “Be Closer In Size To The Market-Rate Units.” “Opponents of the state’s density bonus law, which lets builders squeeze more units into their projects than would otherwise be allowed, celebrated late Wednesday as the Encinitas City Council tightened some city development standards. Most of the revisions garnered unanimous support from council members, who said they wanted to act now because community dissatisfaction with some recent housing projects that fall under the law has been so intense. [...] On Wednesday night, the council unanimously agreed to four proposed changes, including one that requires city planning employees to ‘round down’ rather than up when calculating a project’s allowable housing density. The council also voted 4-1, with Gaspar opposed, to require that low-income units within the proposed developments be closer in size to the market-rate units. The council agreed to make the changes effective immediately.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 7/18/14; Encinitas City Council, minutes, [7/16/14]

March 2013: Gaspar Approved The “Controversial” Desert Rose Housing Proposal, Which Local Homeowners Opposed

March 2013: Gaspar Voted To Approve The “Controversial” Desert Rose Housing Proposal In Olivenhain. “The Encinitas City Council has rejected a city Planning Commission decision and approved the controversial Desert Rose housing proposal. In a meeting that lasted until late Wednesday night, council members called it one of the toughest decisions they’ve made, but said the state low-income housing laws were on the developers’ side and thus the Olivenhain area project couldn’t be denied.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/14/13]

Woodbridge Farms Estates, A Developer, Proposed To Build 16 Homes On A Horse Boarding Facility That Local Homeowners Opposed. “The developers -- Woodridge Farms Estates -- are proposing to build 16 homes on what is now a horse boarding facility on Desert Rose Way, which is east of Rancho Santa Fe’s intersection with 13th Street on the very edge of the city limits. Nearby homeowners have been fighting the proposal for years, saying that 16 homes is far too many for the 6-acre lot. They argue that the project doesn’t fit with their neighborhood’s rural character, is a fire hazard and could harm the environment.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/14/13]

The Developers Were Allowed To Build On The Property Because They Reserved On Home For A Low-Income Family. “Attorney Marco Gonzalez, a noted environmental attorney who is representing the developers on this project, has countered that the surrounding neighborhood is more suburban than rural, and has repeatedly said that the developers have state law on their side. Under state law, developers get special privileges, including permission to put extra homes on their lots, if they agree to set aside part of those homes for low-income residents. One of the 16 houses in the Desert Rose development would go a low-income family.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/14/13]

May 2014: Gaspar Said The Council Had To Be “Very Careful And Considerate” When Raising Fees On Developers

May 2014: Gaspar Said The Council Had To Be “Very Careful And Considerate” When Raising Fees On Developers. “The Encinitas City Council backed away Wednesday from a proposal to increase by nearly 63 percent a traffic impact fee that developers pay. In a unanimous vote, the council instead agreed to a small -- 2 percent -- fee hike and asked staff members to come back at a later date with proposals to possibly phase in the larger fee increase over a three-year period. The vote to go with a 2-percent fee increase came after the council heard from two local developers and a representative for the Building Industry Association of San Diego. John Vance of Shea Homes told the council that drastically raising the fee would make new homes more costly in an area where home prices are already high, while building association representative Mike McSweeney said the city could face legal trouble if it unfairly raised fees to fight existing traffic congestion issues. Following their comments, Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said the city already has ‘clear affordability’ issues and any fee increases would compound the problem. ‘I believe we have to be very careful and considerate when making these changes,’ she said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/22/14]

Rep. Darrell Issa (CA-49) Voted Against The Republican Tax Scam Bill

Dec. 2017: Rep. Darrell Issa (CA-49) Voted Against The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act. In December 2017, Issa voted against “Adoption of the conference report on the bill that would revise the federal income tax system by lowering the corporate tax rate from 35 percent to 21 percent; lowering individual tax rates through 2025; limiting state and local deductions to $10,000 through 2025; decreasing the limit on deductible mortgage debt through 2025; and creating a new system of taxing U.S. corporations with foreign subsidiaries. Specifically, it would repeal personal exemptions and would roughly double the standard deduction through 2025. It would raise the child tax credit to $2,000 through 2025, would repeal the alternative minimum tax for corporations and provide for broader exemptions to the tax for individuals through 2025. It would double individual exemptions to the estate tax and gift tax through 2025, and would establish a new top tax rate for ‘pass-through’ business income through 2025.” The conference report passed 227 to 203. Issa Said He Would Vote Against The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Because It Did “Not Go Far Enough To Guarantee Tax Relief” For His Constituents And That It Would Could Raise Taxes “For Many.”

“Congressman Darrell Issa (R-Vista) released the following statement on the final tax reform bill released today by the Conference Committee to the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act: ‘While the bill agreed to in conference today makes some improvements, unfortunately, the changes do not go far enough to guarantee tax relief for constituents in my district. Californians need tax relief now more than ever, especially as the tax factory in our State Capitol continues looking for ever increasing ways to take more of our hard-earned paychecks. Yet I still fear that, even in the revised proposal, many in my area could face higher taxes under this plan. Californians have entrusted me to fight for them. I will not vote to make the incredible tax burden they already endure even worse.’” Rep. Darrell Issa, press release, [12/16/17]

Nov. 2017: Rep. Darrell Issa (CA-49) Voted Against The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act The First Time It Appeared In The House Of Representatives. In November 2017, Issa voted against “Passage of the bill that would revise the federal income tax system by: lowering individual and corporate tax rates; consolidating the current seven tax income rates into four rates; eliminating the deduction for state and local income taxes; limiting certain deductions for property taxes and home mortgages; and creating a new system of taxing U.S. corporations with foreign subsidiaries. Specifically, it would eliminate personal exemptions and would nearly double the standard deduction. It would raise the child tax credit through 2022, repeal the alternative minimum tax, repeal the estate tax in 2025 and reduce the gift tax rate in 2025. It would establish a new top tax rate for pass-through business income and would modify tax credits related to energy production.” The bill passed 227 to 205. HR 1, Vote [#637, 11/16/17; CQ, 11/16/17]

Issa Said The House Bill Did “Not Provide The Same Tax Relief To Californians As It [Did] To The Rest Of The Nation.” “Congressman Darrell Issa released the following statement after voting no on the House Republican tax reform package which today was passed by the U.S. House of Representatives: ‘I didn't come to Washington to raise taxes on my constituents and I do not plan to start today,’ said Congressman Issa. ‘It's disappointing that the bill approved today will not provide the same tax relief to Californians as it does to the rest of the nation. California families are being crushed under the constant barrage of tax increases coming out of Sacramento's tax factory on everything from their everyday purchases, paychecks and yes even their gasoline. Constituents in my district have picked up extra shifts, stayed late, and worked hard only to see less and less of their take-home pay as taxes have skyrocketed across the state. My constituents deserve to see a tax cut too. Before reform reaches the President's desk, I will continue fighting for changes to deliver tax relief for ALL taxpayers -- regardless of where they live.’” Rep. Darrell Issa, press release, [11/16/17]

...Which Included A Cap On SALT & Property Tax Deductions That Could Eliminate Savings On $12,303 Worth Of Taxes For CA-49 Homeowners

Final Tax Bill Scaled Back The Cap On State & Local Taxes To $10,000, Which Included SALT, Property Tax Deductions, Or A Combination Of Both. “Under current law, the state and local deduction (R-SALT) is unlimited. In the final GOP plan, people can deduct up to $10,000 (R-married couples are also limited to just $10,000). The House initially restricted the $10,000 deduction to just property taxes, but the final bill allows any state and local taxes to be deducted, whether for property, income or sales taxes. The move is widely viewed as a hit to blue states such as New York, Connecticut and California, and there are concerns it could cause property values to fall in high-tax cities and leave less money for public schools and road repairs.” Washington Post, [12/15/17]

The Final GOP-Trump Tax Bill Would Allow Individual Tax Cuts To Expire In 2025 While Reductions For Businesses Remain Permanent

Politifact: GOP Tax Bill Would Raise Taxes For The Middle Class After Individual Tax Cut Provisions Expired In 2025. “Gillibrand said the Republican ‘tax [plan] raises middle-class taxes.’ That’s not true during the first years of the new tax provisions. If not for the sunset for the tax changes for individuals, we likely would have rated Gillibrand’s statement False or perhaps Mostly False. Middle-income taxpayers will either benefit or see no change in their tax liability through 2025. But her claim could hold up after the bill’s individual provisions expire that year. There’s no guarantee a future Congress will extend those parts of the bill.” Politifact, [12/22/17]

The Final Tax Bill Could Reduce Health Care Coverage For As Many As 31,000 People In CA-49

Final Tax Bill Eliminated Central Affordable Care Act Provision, Leading To 13 Million Fewer Americans With Insurance. “The individual mandate is part of the Affordable Care Act, and removing it was a top priority for Trump and congressional Republicans. The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Increased The Federal Debt – And Republicans Planned To Pay For It With Cuts To Medicare And Social Security

Official CBO Estimate Found Final Tax Bill Would Increase The Federal Deficit By $1.46 Trillion.

“Republicans decided it would be all right to go into debt up to $1.5 trillion to fund the tax cut. In the end, they nearly hit that mark. The official estimate -- released Friday evening alongside the bill -- came in at $1.46 trillion.” Washington Post, [12/15/17]

Center For A Responsible Federal Budget Found True Cost of Tax Bill Would Be $2 Trillion Or More, After Budget Gimmicks Were Accounted For.

“Adding these gimmicks to the cost of the bill would increase the total cost to $2.0 trillion to $2.2 trillion. Though the dynamic effect of making the bill permanent is unknown, we estimate a permanent bill would produce roughly $450 billion of feedback,* leading to a dynamic cost of roughly $1.6 trillion to $1.7 trillion. With interest, these costs would rise to $2.4 trillion to $2.5 trillion, or $1.9 trillion to $2 trillion with dynamic effects included, over a decade.” CRFB, [12/18/17]

After Passing A Tax Bill That Added Trillions To The Deficit, Speaker Ryan Said Medicare And Medicaid Would Need To Be “Reformed” In Order To Decrease The Deficit.

“With his dream of tax reform now realized, Ryan is hoping to make progress on two other issues he’s targeted during his two-decade career in Washington: entitlement and welfare reform. ‘We’re going to have to get back next year at entitlement reform, which is how you tackle the debt and the deficit,’ Ryan, a former Budget Committee chairman, said in a recent interview this month on the Ross Kaminsky radio talk show. Medicare and Medicaid are the ‘big drivers of debt,’ Ryan said, suggesting Republicans could once again use the budget reconciliation process to avoid a Democratic filibuster. Medicare is the ‘biggest entitlement that’s got to have reform,’ Ryan added.” The Hill, [12/27/17]

Ryan: “We Have To Address Entitlements. Otherwise, We Can’t Really Get Our Handle On Our Future Debt.” “NORAH O’DONNELL: --will Congress take up entitlement spending next year? REPRESENTATIVE PAUL RYAN: Yes. We will. And Bob and I actually see a lot of these things very similarly. We have to address entitlements. Otherwise, we can’t really get our handle on our future debt. There’s two things you need to do to get the debt under control so that our kids and grandkids get a debt-free nation. Number one, grow the economy. This tax cut bill will help do that. Number two, reform entitlement programs. We’re-- it’s unfortunate that our health care bill which passed the House last May didn’t get through the Senate, but we need to revisit that issue because that’s key entitlement reform. And then back to the welfare issue.” [CBS This Morning, 12/20/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: A Feasibility Report Conducted By The City Of San Diego Found That CCAs “Could Deliver More Green Energy While Costing Residents And Business Less Money Over Time.” “A government-run alternative to San Diego Gas & Electric could deliver more green energy while costing residents and businesses less money over time, according to a report released Wednesday by the city of San Diego. The document sparked the latest round of jockeying by environmentalists, fiscal hawks, backers of investor-owned utilities and others, with each group espousing what it sees as the benefits, detriments or unknown factors of community choice aggregation — commonly called CCA.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/12/17]

The Report Stated That CCAs Could Be Cheaper And Provide More Green Energy Than San Diego Gas & Electric. “Under community choice, a utility still operates the poles and wires needed to deliver energy, but elected officials control the buying and selling of power for their jurisdiction. If a city or county votes to form or join such a program, ratepayers can opt out if they prefer to stick with the plans and rates offered by their traditional utility. Specifically, the new report found that a community choice program has the potential to deliver cheaper rates than SDG&E’s while providing 50 percent renewable energy by 2023 and 80 percent green power by 2027. SDG&E currently offers about 43 percent renewable energy to its customers, and under state law must get to 50 percent by 2030.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/12/17]

Feb. 2017: Gaspar Voted For The Chief Administrative Officer To Return To The Board With An Update On “A Status Update” On Other CCA Feasibility Studies In Other Areas Of The State. “1.2 ACTION: Supervisor Jacob made a motion to approve the Planning Commission recommendation to prepare a Community Choice Aggregation (CCA) Feasibility Study with an evaluation by a third party, and include a review of Direct Access and the role of the utilities. (This motion failed due to lack of second.) 1.3 ACTION: ON MOTION of Supervisor Jacob, seconded by Supervisor Gaspar, the Board directed the Chief Administrative Officer to return to the Board in 12 months with a status update on other CCA feasibility studies in other jurisdictions in the state. Feb. 2017: Gaspar Asked What The “Rush” Was To Implement CCAs And Said It Was “Often Hard” To Find Jurisdictions With CCAs That Had Cleaner Power And Lower Rates

VIDEO [2:11:29]: Gaspar Asked What The “Rush” Was To Implement CCAs. “In my view, after completing extensive review, there are many jurisdictions in that feasibility process stage. There are fewer jurisdictions that have actually implemented and have a CCA operational. So in my view, the CCA is still in its infancy compared to where it will be over the next few years. [...] So having said all of this, I think my review can be summarized in three words and perhaps one question. The three words would be ‘What’s the rush?’ and my former city manager will tell you words that I frequently spoke to him: ‘Let’s get it right and not rushed.’ Because there are indeed times when being a trailblazer is of clear value. Is this one of those times?” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:11:29, [2/15/17] (VIDEO)

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said Feasibility Studies Should Be Done “When You’re Ready To Move Forward And Pull The Trigger.” “On Wednesday, the supervisors were considering the CCA study as part of a range of potential projects considered to be environmentally friendly — from taking better stock of wind-energy projects in unincorporated communities to raising the public’s awareness about use of solar-panel systems. The broader effort is known as the Comprehensive Renewable Energy Plan, which has been in the making since 2013.

Newly minted Supervisor Kristin Gaspar, former mayor of Encinitas, opposed the plan to study how CCA would impact rates for residents in the county. ‘In my view, when you’re ready to move forward and pull the trigger, that’s when you do the feasibility study,’ Gaspar said at the board’s meeting in downtown San Diego. ‘I ask you, ‘What’s the rush?’ she added. ‘Let’s get this right, not rushed.’” San Diego Union Tribune, [2/16/17]

Registered lobbyists for Sempra Energy in the County of San Diego, as of February 2018. San Diego County Board of Supervisors, Registered Lobbyists Board letter, [2/1/18]*

Feb. 2017: Sempra Energy Representatives Publicly Spoke Against The CCA Feasibility Proposal At The San Diego County Supervisors Meeting. “The county Board of Supervisors on Wednesday blocked efforts to explore a public energy program that would provide residents and businesses an alternative to San Diego Gas & Electric. [...] During the session, the San Diego County Taxpayers Association, several contractors with Sempra Energy — San Diego Gas & Electric’s parent company — and others challenged the value of conducting a feasibility study about community choice aggregation. ‘Today, we’re told that if government is in control of procurement, we’re going to have more renewables and lower emissions. But actual experience makes this conclusion highly questionable,’ said Frank Urtasun, regional vice president of external relations for Sempra Energy.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/17/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: San Diego Gas & Electric Was “Arguably The Biggest Opponent” Of CCA And Was “The First Investor-Owner Utility In The State To Form A Shareholder-Funded Lobbying Group To

Weigh In On Community Choice. “Arguably the biggest opponent of CCA proposals in San Diego County is SDG&E. This year, it became the first investor-owned utility in the state allowed to form a shareholder-funded lobbying group to weigh in on community choice. Investigators at the utilities commission said they are looking into whether the SDG&E lobbying arm began meeting with elected officials before it was cleared to do so. Sempra officials have denied any wrongdoing. The creation of a lobbying division followed the Legislature’s decision in 2011 to bar investor-owned utilities from using ratepayer dollars to speak out on CCAs. The lawmakers took action after a bitter fight between Marin County and Pacific Gas & Electric over establishment of the state’s first CCA program.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/12/17]

Sempra Energy, The Parent Company Of San Diego Gas & Electric, Created “Sempra Services Corp,” A “Marketing Arm” To Lobby Against The CCA Proposal. “In California, a growing number of local governments have embraced or are exploring CCA as a way to limit use of fossil fuels in favor of renewable energy in the fight against climate change. These programs have routinely delivered more green power at prices equal to or lower than what utilities charge. After a bitter fight between Marin County and Pacific Gas & Electric over establishing the state’s first CCA, the Legislature in 2011 barred utilities from using ratepayer dollars to lobby on such programs. State law does allow investor-owned utilities to set up shareholder-funded marketing divisions for this purpose, and last year, SDG&E and its parent company, Sempra Energy, became the first in the state to officially pursue creation of such an entity. They named their new division Sempra Services Corp. The marketing arm cleared a key hurdle in August, but is still seeking final approval from the California Public Utilities Commission. State regulators have rejected multiple blueprints drafted by SDG&E for how the marketing division would remain independent from the utility. The CPUC is considering a third revision to the company’s so-called compliance plan.” San Diego Union Tribune, [2/17/17]

Members Of The “Clear The Air Coalition,” Whose Members Include Sempra Energy Lobbyists, “Urged Caution” Against Replacing San Diego Gas & Electric For The County’s Utilities. “The green energy program — which would account for 30 percent of all reductions under the plan — sets up a controversial decision for the supervisors. Much like in the city of San Diego, elected officials in the county will need to decide whether to start a government-run alternative to San Diego Gas & Electric or rely on a program designed by the investor-owned utility. Members of the Clear the Air Coalition, which includes lobbyists paid by the shareholders of SDG&E’s parent company Sempra Energy with some of the region’s most powerful groups — from the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce to the Downtown San Diego Partnership to the San Diego County Taxpayers Association — urged caution in the decision of whether to abandoning the utility. ‘I think it’s very important that we do not sign up for a risk that we don’t know how to quantify,’ said Haney Hong, president and CEO of the San Diego County Taxpayers Association.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Feb. 2018: Gaspar Voted For A Climate Action Plan That Included A Cap And Trade Program

Feb. 2018: The Board Of Supervisors Passed A New Climate Plan That Sought To Achieve 90 Percent Renewable Energy By 2030 And Included A Cap And Trade Program

Feb. 2018: The Board Of Supervisors Passed A Climate Action Plan With A 90 Percent Renewable Energy Target For Unincorporated Areas By 2030. “The Board of Supervisors Wednesday unanimously approved a Climate Action Plan with a 90 percent renewable energy target for unincorporated areas of San Diego County by 2030. The plan includes 26 items that range from reducing the number of miles traveled in county vehicles to acquiring conservation land and installing solar panels on existing homes. The plan covers the region’s unincorporated areas that are home to some 492,500 people, as well as county government operations.” Times of San Diego, [2/14/18]

The Board’s Plan Included A Include A Cap And Trade Program To Reduce Carbon Emissions. “The county’s most recent plan to fight global warming leans heavily on creating a new program that would allow developers to offset emission through purchasing carbon credits around the globe. Registries that sell such offsets have been around for more than a decade in California, offering projects that range from paying farmers not to cut down forests to investing in solar cook stoves in developing nations. Critics of the carbon credit strategy say the system is easy to game and the benefits hard to confirm — especially when the funded programs aren’t local.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Gaspar Favored A 100 Percent Target By 2030 Instead Of 90 Percent, But The Other Supervisors Disagreed. “The supervisors’ big choice on Wednesday was whether to set a renewable energy target of 90 or 100 percent by 2030. Chairwoman Kristin Gaspar said she favored a fully renewable plan in order to get the county ‘out of court and into action,’ but her colleagues disagreed. Several said the lower threshold was a better starting point for the county’s greener future. ‘The 90 percent threshold is more appropriate and a more realistic target,’ Supervisor Greg Cox said. ‘It’s not a ceiling, to me it’s a floor.’” Times of San Diego, [2/14/18]

The Sierra Club Previously Sued The Board For “Lack Of Specificity” In Their 2012 Climate Action Plan

The County Board Was Court Ordered To Modify Their Climate Action Plan After The Sierra Club Sued The Board For “Lack Of Specificity.” “The county’s initial plan approved in 2012 was challenged in a lawsuit by the local Sierra Club chapter, citing a lack of specificity. A judge in 2015 ordered the county to revamp the plan. The supervisors’ big choice on Wednesday was whether to set a renewable energy target of 90 or 100 percent by 2030.” Times of San Diego, [2/14/18]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Sierra Club “Argued Successfully” That The Board’s Plan “Lacked Sufficient Details” On How The County Would Cut Emissions. “County lawyers said repeatedly at Wednesday’s meeting that the plan should satisfy California law. The county was ordered by the courts to redraft its climate blueprint about three years ago after the Sierra Club challenged the document in court. The group argued successfully that the document lacked sufficient details on how the county would realize deep cuts in climate emissions.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Critics Said The Board’s Plan Did Not Do Enough To Address Tailpipe Emissions. “Advocates also expressed concerns the plan doesn’t do enough to limit tailpipe emissions. While transportation accounts for roughly 45 percent of greenhouse gases in the county, efforts to reduce vehicle miles traveled, or VMT, represent only a small part of the plan. Elected officials recognized the situation, arguing that in unincorporated rural areas alternatives to driving are limited.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Gaspar Used A Private Email Account To Conduct City Business As A City Councilor

Gaspar Used A Private Email Account To Conduct City Business As A City Councilor. “San Diego City Attorney Jan Goldsmith has done it. So have Chula Vista Councilwoman Pamela Bensoussan, Encinitas Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Bill Horn, chairman of the county Board of Supervisors. There’s no telling how many elected officials use Gmail or Yahoo or other private email accounts for government matters, a ubiquitous tool that may or may not allow the transparency intended under the California Public Records Act. [...] Gaspar regularly uses a personal email account to communicate with city staff, reporters and others. She said she expects more privacy there than on a city account, even if the subject is city business.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 7/19/11]

Gaspar: “There Aren’t Rules That Govern Personal Email Accounts...If A Constituent Emails Me At My Personal Address, That’s There Right To Do So.” “‘There aren’t rules that govern personal email accounts,’ Gaspar said. ‘The rules cover, of course, the city email account. But there is some allowance for me to be a private person as well. If a constituent emails me at my personal address, that’s their right to do so.’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 7/19/11]

April 2013: Gaspar Voted To Authorize Negotiations With The William J. Clinton Foundation To Redevelop An Old Gas Station Into A Not-For-Profit Electric-Vehicle Charging Station

April 2013: Gaspar Voted To Authorize The City To Negotiate With The William J. Clinton Foundation To Redevelop An Old Gas Station Into A Not-For-Profit Electric-Vehicle Charging Station. “A luxurious electric-vehicle charging station, complete with a coffee shop and wireless Internet service, may move into a parking lot at Encinitas City Hall. In a nifty twist of irony, this proposed charging center site once contained an old-style gasoline service station. The old gas station is long gone -- it was demolished in 2009, said Encinitas Deputy City Manager Richard Phillips -- and the area now serves as a 25-space, overflow parking lot for City Hall. The site is on the southeast corner of Vulcan Avenue and E Street. [...] Last week, the City Council unanimously agreed to authorize city employees to begin negotiating with the William J. Clinton Foundation -- a philanthropic organization founded by former President Bill Clinton -- for the use of the land. The foundation is proposing to establish a not-for-profit, regional pilot project on the site to showcase some of the newest innovations in electric-vehicle charging technology, Phillips said.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 4/17/13]

Gaspar Reportedly Called The Project A Good Opportunity. “Phillips said Monday that the city has other such arrangements and may be able to come to a deal with the foundation. The Friends of the Encinitas Library organization pays $10 a year for its bookshop space at the library’s entrance, he said. At last week’s meeting, City Council members said they were pleased the city was being offered the pilot project. Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar called it an excellent opportunity, and Mayor Teresa Barth called it ‘a 21st-century service station.’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 4/17/13]

Gaspar Said She Voted For Donald Trump In The Republican Primary, But Later Said She Would Not Vote For Him In The General Election

June 2016: Gaspar Said She Voted For Trump Because It Was “Important We Have Someone That Moves Forward With Republican Principles”

Gaspar Said She “Cast A Vote For Trump” In The Republican Primary Because It Was “Important That We Have Someone That Moves Forward With The Republican Principles.” “I cast a vote for Trump today. Gaspar Reportedly Said Trump Was “The Polar Opposite” Of Her Following Her Primary Vote

Columnist Logan Jenkins Said He Interviewed Gaspar About “12 Hours” After She Voted For Trump In The Republican Primary And That She Called “Trump Is The Polar Opposite Of Me.” “On the night of the June primary, Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar was in a celebratory mood. She’d soundly beaten Escondido Mayor Sam Abed, another Republican challenger, and appeared the hands-down favorite in November against Dave Roberts, the incumbent Democratic county supervisor who’d failed to win 40 percent of the primary vote. In the blush of the moment, Gaspar answered a reporter’s question honestly, which in politics, according to a famous axiom, is usually a gaffe. Asked how she’d voted in the presidential primary, Gaspar said she’d filled in the bubble for Trump, the only Republican candidate still in the race. Gaspar repeated House Speaker Paul Ryan’s line of reasoning that it was important that GOP principles ‘move forward.’ About 12 hours later, I interviewed Gaspar and she said that ‘Trump is the polar opposite of me,’ referring to the bullying style of The Donald.” San Diego Union Tribune, Logan Jenkins Column, [8/26/16]

Gaspar Reportedly Said Trump “Lost” Her Vote In August 2016

Gaspar Said She Voted For Trump In The Primary, But Said In August 2016 That He “Lost” Her Vote For The General Election. “Before the primary election Gaspar said she would support Trump. ‘If he were the Republican candidate, I would get behind him,' she said. But she also said she wasn't 'over the moon for anybody in this election. It's kind of sad.' After polls closed for the June 7 primary, she said she decided to vote for Trump. 'I cast a vote for Trump today. I think that's important,' Gaspar said in an interview with KPBS. Over the summer her position changed, well before the recent accusations. Gaspar said she had never endorsed Trump but hoped he was someone she could back in November. 'Sadly, it hasn't happened,' she said in late August. 'He lost my vote.'" San Diego Union Tribune, [10/15/16]

Gaspar's Campaign Manager Jason Roe Said Gaspar "Took A Position Against Trump" In August 2016. "After Donald Trump was caught bragging about sexual assault and later accused of making unwelcome physical advances, two Republican women running for office in San Diego County have taken different routes around the challenges created by their party's presidential nominee. [...] Both of his clients have criticized Trump over the course of the general election. And they're keeping their respective courses after reports that Trump groped woman on a flight 30 years ago, more recently kissed two others against their will, and groped a fourth a decade ago. These accusations didn't change anything for his clients, Roe said. 'Kristin took a position against Trump two months ago,' he wrote in an email Thursday. 'Denise continues to focus her campaign national security and job creation, not the latest Donald Trump scandal.'" San Diego Union Tribune, [10/15/16]

Gaspar Declined To Issue A Proclamation In Support Of Reducing Gun Violence Following A Mass Shooting In San Bernardino

Dec. 2015: Gaspar Declined To Issue A Proclamation To Reduce Gun Violence Following The San Bernardino Shooting Because It Was Too Politically Divisive

Dec. 2015: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Declined To Issue A Proclamation That "Called For The City To Commit To Doing What It Could To Reduce Gun Violence." "An anti-gun violence activist is crying foul after Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar declined to issue a proclamation that called for the city to commit to doing what it could to reduce gun violence, which Gaspar called too politically divisive. Steve Bartram, a board member of the San Diego County chapter of the Brady Campaign to Prevent Gun Violence, who has helped organize the National Vigil to End Gun Violence's local event the past three years, requested Gaspar issue the proclamation, which he said was even more pertinent in the wake of the recent massacre in San Bernardino. [...] In addition to declaring the day as a day of 'remembrance for all victims of gun violence,' the proclamation also encouraged 'each of us to honor our peacemakers and renew our commitment to the prevention of such suffering in the future.'" Coast News Group, [12/8/15]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said The Proclamation Did Not Have A "Link" To Encinitas And "Focused More On Broader Issues And Statements." "Reached this week, Gaspar said she declined the proclamation because it focused on the broader issue of gun violence and did not have a clear and obvious link to Encinitas, which she said is the rule of thumb she uses to determine whether to accept or decline proclamation requests. In her declining, Gaspar said she left the door open for Bartram to submit a more narrowly focused proclamation request. While the city does not have a uniform policy on proclamations, Gaspar said this has been the practice of past mayors, including her immediate predecessor, Teresa Barth. 'I have declined a few requests from groups, organizations, and individuals in my first year as Mayor. In each instance, it was offered for the request to be rewritten to demonstrate a clear and obvious link to Encinitas,' Gaspar wrote in an email. 'Unfortunately this request focused more on broader issues and statements.'" Coast News Group, [12/8/15]

Gaspar: "Dealing With The Broader Topic Of Combatting Gun Violence Is One That Has Potential To Philosophically Divide Our Community." "The issue of dealing with the broader topic of combatting gun violence is one that has potential to philosophically divide our community which is certainly not the intent of the proclamation program,' she said." Feb. 2016: Gaspar Voted Against Developing The Welcoming Community Subcommittee’s Proposals

Feb. 2016: Gaspar Voted Against A Proposal For Encinitas To Develop A “Welcoming Community” For Immigrants To Engage In Local Immigration And Refugee Integration Efforts. “A divided city council adopted a proposal for the city to fully commit to participating in a White House program that calls for communities to embrace its immigrant and refugee populations. The council voted 3-2 on Feb. 24 on the recommendations brought forth by a subcommittee composed of council members Tony Kranz and Lisa Shaffer. The city, since January, had been exploring participation in the Building Welcoming Communities Campaign, an initiative through the White House Task Force on New Americans aimed at encouraging communities to engage in local immigration and refugee integration efforts. VIDEO: 3:57:18: Gaspar Said She Did Not Think The City Was The “Preferred Facilitator” And Called Its Role “Awkward.” “I think where I’m conflicted is that I just am not convinced that we’re the preferred facilitator of this process because bulk of the money is coming from the County. And I would almost prefer to see the facilitator of this be a nonprofit organization, perhaps in our own community. Hint Leichtag Foundation. This is something that’s a real passion area and I’d really like to see a good non-profit organization in our community serve in that facilitator role. And I almost feel it’s kind of an awkward role of the city government to be providing that facilitator role.” Encinitas City Council, 3:57:18, [2/24/16] (VIDEO)

Gaspar Said The State Was “Increasing Burdens” And Referenced Dealing With Adjustments On The Minimum Wage

VIDEO [51:10]: March 2017: Gaspar Said The State Was “Increasing Burdens” And Referenced Dealing With Adjustments On The Minimum Wage. “And then we come back we present this to you and you have a right to be upset over it. Because you didn’t have the opportunity to plan, as the accountant that spoke articulately this morning – there was no opportunity to plan over a period of time. And so getting hit with an 88 percent increase, getting hit with a 168 percent increase, that’s significant with no time to adjust your business models. So I think that your concerns are heard. This is not something that I would be able to accommodate for in my own business. I have my challenges with this too. We have increasing burdens coming down from the state. We’re dealing with adjustments on the minimum wage and as business owners we’re all trying to find a way to make it work. Now if we have a full cost recovery board policy that’s fine by me, but by all means we have to adhere to that policy so that we give our businesses time to adjust and at the same time, a reexamination of the fees may only lead us to the same place we’re in today.” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 51:10, [3/22/17] (VIDEO)

May 2014: Gaspar Supported A Hiring Freeze Of County Employees

May 2014: Gaspar Supported A Hiring Freeze On County Employees In Order To “Launch An Extensive Review Of City Finances” And Called It A “Breathing Moment” For The Council To “Take A Look At The Bigger Picture.” “A majority of the Encinitas City Council this week rejected a temporary hiring freeze for city employees, calling the proposal a political stunt. Instead, the panel looked at adding to the city’s workforce. [...] Mayor Teresa Barth and Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer also voted against the proposal. Shaffer said Muir’s request to hold off on hiring, in order to launch an extensive review of city finances, didn’t make sense to her. City officials are already doing an intensive financial assessment because they’re in the middle of settling the budget for the next fiscal year, which begins July 1. [...] Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar, who also opposed the Pacific View property purchase, backed Muir on the hiring freeze, saying it would give the city ‘a breathing moment and (let the council) take a look at the bigger picture.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/16/14]

June 2014: Gaspar Voted Against A Motion To Direct Staff To Pursue A Categorical Exemption For A Single-Use Disposable Bag Reduction Ordinance. Encinitas City Council Meeting Minutes, [6/25/14]

June 2014: The City Council Voted To Reject A Consultant’s Recommendation To Issue An Environmental Study On Banning Single-Use Plastic Bags, Effectively Approving To Move Forward With The Ban. “Encinitas will move forward with plans for an ordinance banning single-use plastic bags by Sept. 1, instead of waiting to do a full-scale environmental study of the idea, the City Council decided Wednesday night. [...] ‘We are a coastal city that has a direct responsibility to protect our marine environment,’ Councilman Tony Kranz said as he explained why he wanted to pursue the bag ban now and seek an exemption to the environmental report.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/26/14]

Gaspar Voted To Issue The Study And Said The County Should Not “Cherry Pick” Which Environmental Standards To Follow. “By a 3-2 vote, the panel rejected a consultant’s recommendation that the study be ordered. Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir voted no. [...] Gaspar said she may not agree with some of the consultant’s findings, but said the city shouldn’t seek an exemption to its own greenhouse gas emission standards in order to pursue the bag ban. The council shouldn’t ‘cherry pick’ when it comes to the standards it will follow, she said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/26/14]

A Fellow City Councilor Called The Consultant “Uber-Conservative.” “Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer called the report by Rincon Consultants ‘uber-conservative,’ saying it makes assumptions that reusable bags have far more of an environmental impact than they do in reality. The report estimates that reusable bags are tossed in the trash after 52 uses and are washed once a month.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/26/14]

Nov. 2013: Gaspar Voted Against A City Ordinance To Ban Single-Use Plastic Bags. “Encinitas will create its own ban on single-use plastic bags, instead of waiting for state legislators to vote on weaker restrictions early next year, the City Council decided this week. The environment ‘can’t wait for the state to get its act together,’ Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer said Wednesday night as the council asked city staff to draft a bag ordinance similar to one approved by Solana Beach in 2012. Solana Beach bans the use of plastic bags at grocery stores, food vendors, pharmacies and retail stores and mandates a 10-cent charge for paper bag use. The Encinitas council voted 3-2 to pursue plastic bag restrictions, with Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir opposed.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/22/13]

Gaspar Voted Against The Proposal Because She Wanted To See Where The State Senate’s Bill To Ban Plastic Bags “Play[ed] Out.” “Muir and Gaspar said they wanted to wait to see what happens to a plastic bag bill that the state Senate is expected to consider in early 2014. ‘For me, timing is of the essence here and I’d like to see how (Sen. Alex) Padilla’s bill plays out,’ Gaspar said. But the council majority said the time had come to act. Encinitas first considered creating its own plastic bag ban five years ago, but held off out of fear that the city would be sued. Councilman Tony Kranz said Wednesday that the proposed Senate bill has holes and Encinitas should enact the ‘more robust’ ban used by Solana Beach.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/22/13]

Gaspar Supported Constructing A Landfill On Sacred Native American Land

May 2016: Gaspar Supported Building A Landfill In Gregory Canyon, Claiming That It Would Be More Environmentally Friendly To Store Trash Locally Than Out-Of-State. “Gregory Canyon Landfill: The landfill is more than two decades in the making and is on state Route 76, east of I-15, next to the San Luis Rey River. Developers have promised to install sophisticated and long-lasting liners before dumping trash and contend it’s more environmentally friendly than trucking it elsewhere. Critics say that there is still too much of a risk of contaminating water supplies, including sources that provide drinking water to Oceanside. Gaspar said she’s fine with a landfill. ‘I stand by the voters, and I stand by the courts when I say I do support a landfill project,’ she said, referring to the long political and legal course the project has taken. Storing trash locally is more eco-friendly than moving it out of state, but at the same time, people should work to reduce their waste to make refuse disposal a smaller problem, she said.” Sam Diego Union Tribune, [5/2/16]

Gregory Canyon, Where Gaspar Supported Building A Landfill, Was Considered Sacred Land By Several Native American Tribes. “More than 20 years of controversy over a plan to put a landfill in Gregory Canyon in North County comes to an end, as the Pala Band of Mission Indians buys a portion of the site for $13 million. [...] Robert Smith, chairman of the Pala Band, said its members voted this week to go ahead with the $13 million purchase of 700 acres on Gregory Mountain, in order to stop the dump. ‘Yeah, we’ve been fighting it for over 20 years,’ Smith said. ‘The main thing is protecting our water sources and ancestral burial grounds and village, so it’s a great accomplishment for the tribe.’ Shasta Gaughen, the environmental director and Tribal Historic Preservation Officer for Pala, said several Native American Indian bands regard Gregory Mountain as sacred, the legendary home of one of their spirit ancestors.” KPBS, [11/18/16]

The Landfill Was “Scrapped After A Key Piece Of The Land Was Sold To A Native American Tribe That Opposed The Project.” “In late November, a controversial plan to build a landfill in rural northern San Diego County was scrapped after a key piece of the land was sold to a Native American tribe that opposed the project. The deal ended a 25-year fight that included several lawsuits and two countywide ballot measures over the proposed Gregory Canyon landfill. The city of Oceanside, environmental groups and the Pala Band of Mission Indians had all tried to block the project, but it steamed ahead until a few years ago when financing problems forced the property owner into bankruptcy.” [San Diego Union Tribune, 12/25/16]

Gaspar Physical Therapy Sued Gaspar's 2016 Opponent, Dave Roberts, Claiming That His Campaign Mailers Defamed The Company.

“Supervisor Kristin Gaspar’s physical therapy company has sued former Supervisor Dave Roberts for libel and has accused the former politician’s attack ads of harming the business’ reputation during last year’s bare-knuckled campaign. The complaint filed in San Diego County on Wednesday says that Roberts’ campaign mailers contained false and misleading statements about elder abuse, negligence and malpractice that harmed Gaspar Physical Therapy and one of its officers, Brian Stone.” San Diego Union Tribune, [9/9/17]

Roberts' Mailers Accused Gaspar Physical Therapy Of Being “Known For Malpractice, Elder Abuse And Negligence.”

“The plaintiffs said they’ve suffered at least $5 million in damages. In one of the ads, Gaspar was accused of running a ‘shady business’ that is ‘known for malpractice, elder abuse and negligence.’ The ads cited a 2006 lawsuit against the physical therapy company and Stone, one of the therapists there. The ads targeted Gaspar but also hurt the business and Stone, two entities that had nothing to do with the race, the lawsuit said.” San Diego Union Tribune, [9/9/17]

Gaspar Physical Therapy Claimed That Roberts, Gaspar's Former Opponent, Mischaracterized A 2006 Negligence Lawsuit Against The Company.

“The complaint acknowledges that Gaspar’s business and Stone were sued in 2006, but also said the attack ad omitted important details that would have shown that the old lawsuit was without merit. ‘Had that been done, it would have been readily apparent that the Complaint related to an alleged slip and fall incident at a public swimming pool area during off-clinic hours,’ the recent lawsuit said.” San Diego Union Tribune, [9/9/17]

Del Mar Times: San Dieguito Sports Medicine & Scholarship Foundation Held An Athletic Training Contract With San Dieguito Union High School District For “More Than A Decade.” “San Dieguito Union High School District board voted 3-2 to increase the level of certified athletic trainer services at its four high schools. The board extended its contract with Rehab United Sports Medicine and Physical Therapy through 2018, increasing the level of service and the contract amount from $126,152 to $165,000 a year. For the first time since 2009, the district will be paying for these services out of the general fund rather than asking for donations to support the program from the high school foundations. [...] The board heard public comment from Paul Gaspar, a board member of the San Dieguito Sports Medicine Foundation, which held the athletic trainer contract with the district for more than a decade until a few years ago, when it was awarded to Rehab United.” De Mar Times, [7/23/15]

2010: Gaspar Called The Foundation The “Official Employer Of Athletic Trainers” For The School District

Gaspar Claimed The San Dieguito Sports Medicine Foundation Was The “Official Employer Of The Athletic Trainers” For San Dieguito Union High School District. “During the last 10 years, I have assisted the local high schools and San Dieguito School High School District (SDHSD) with employing and fundraising for the Athletic Trainers Program. We have raised several hundred thousand dollars for the schools, trainers, and scholarships for student trainers during that time. I currently serve as President of the San Dieguito Sports Medicine Foundation, which is the official employer of the athletic trainers for the SDHSD. In 2008, in honor of my service to the community, I was selected to participate in two unique activities; the Encinitas Union School District's Principal for a Day program, and Scripps Memorial Hospital's Physician for a Day program. These experiences reinforced my pride in both the Encinitas public school system and our community hospital.” Smart Voter, [11/2/10]

Paul Gaspar Said The School District Made Untimely Payments. "There were numerous problems over the last year with the new provider," Gaspar said, referring to last fall when several parents expressed concerns that athletic trainers were contractually obligated to refer injured athletes to Rehab United. 'Those things I hope were written into the contract so this does not happen again,' Gaspar said. Gaspar asserted that he was not making these comments because he wanted the contract over Rehab United. He said because of the way trainers were treated by the district and the district's failure to make timely payments, he wouldn't be interested in working with the district again." Pay Raises

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Accepted A $19,000 Plus Pay Raise After Her First Meeting On The Board Of Supervisors, Although She Initially Voted Against It

The Board Of Supervisors Proposed A 12.5 Percent – Or More Than $19,000 – Pay Increase Before Gaspar Was Sworn In

Dec. 2016: San Diego Union-Tribune: Board Of Supervisors “Took The First Step” To Approve A $19,000 Pay Increase, Before Gaspar Was Sworn In. “Without discussion or explanation, San Diego County supervisors took the first step Tuesday to approve a $19,000 increase in their salaries, which also would raise their pensions. As a part of their consent calendar - where a variety of items on the meeting’s agenda are considered simultaneously with a single vote - supervisors approved the first reading of an ordinance that will boost their compensation. The only objector was Supervisor Dave Roberts, who used a procedural move that allowed him to vote in support of all consent calendar items with the exception of the pay increase.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

A Second Vote Would Take Place After Gaspar Was Sworn In In January 2017. “The raise will be considered again on a second reading on Jan. 10 and will take effect on March 17 if passed. Items rarely fail at that point. Dave Roberts did not explain his no vote during Tuesday’s supervisors meeting, and his office did not respond to a re-request for comment. He lost his bid for re-election and will be replaced on the board by Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar ahead of the second vote. All other supervisors declined or did not respond to requests to comment on their vote. On Monday, Chairman Ron Roberts released a statement that said the raise is justified.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Pay Raise Would Raise Supervisor Pay “By More Than $19,000.” “The move increases the supervisors’ salary by more than $19,000 and also raises their pension. [...] Supervisors’ salaries are set at 80 percent of the salaries of Superior Court judges. The vote on Tuesday will shift the formula twice this year, to 85 percent on March 17 and 90 percent on Dec. 7. The base salary for supervisors will increase from the current $153,290 to $162,870 and then $172,451 under the new formula.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/10/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Pay Raise Proposal Would Increase Supervisors’ Base Pay From 80 Percent Of A Superior Court Judge’s Salary To 85 Percent And Then 90 Percent. Under the existing policy, San Diego County supervisors’ base pay is set at 80 percent of a Superior Court judge’s salary, which is currently $191,612. But if the ordinance introduced by Supervisor Ron Roberts is passed next month, the index will change to 85 percent from March 17 to Dec. 7, and to 90 percent thereafter.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Supervisor Salary Would Increase “12.5 Percent” In “Just Under Nine Months” And Cost Taxpayers More Than $95,000 More A Year. “A supervisor’s regular compensation will go from $153,289.60 to $162,870.20 and then $172,450.80 provided judicial pay doesn’t increase as well. It amounts to a 12.5 percent increase in pay in just under nine months. The switch will cost government at least $95,806 more per year. Superior Court judge pay is also fluid and relies on a complex formula. By law, judicial salary increases are determined by multiplying the current base pay of all justices by the average percentage increase in pay of the current fiscal year for state employees. The average percentage of pay increase is a factor of the 21 labor unions of varying size and salary structures that represent state employees.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Pay Increase Would Also Increase Supervisors’ Pensions. “If the pay increase is passed, all incumbent supervisors will qualify for the higher pension by the time they leave office, but it’s unclear exactly how their pension payments will increase. Supervisors’ auto allowances are also included in the pension formula. Supervisors regularly approve items on the consent calendar, and sometimes pull particular measures to make brief comments, observations, or have discussions. On Tuesday, they did not pull the pay item from the consent calendar for additional review, and no one from the public spoke on the matter.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Was The Only Supervisor To Vote Against The Pay Raise, Which Occurred In Her First Meeting As Supervisor

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Would Vote Against The Second Pay Raise Vote. “In the coming year the Board of Supervisors faces several issues. It will have to decide on an extension of a moratorium on new medical marijuana facilities, pay raises for supervisors - Gaspar said she will vote against the pay hike when it comes up for a second vote Tuesday - and, as it does every year, a multibillion-dollar budget. Project One For All, an initiative to provide intense and comprehensive support for homeless people with mental illnesses, will also have its one-year anniversary.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/7/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was The Only Supervisor To Vote Against The Pay Raise. “The San Diego County Board of Supervisors voted today to increase their own salaries by more than $19,000 a year, despite public comment by dozens of opponents. ‘The formula for establishing supervisors’ salaries has not been adjusted in decades,’ Supervisor Ron Roberts said before the 4-1 vote. ‘Board members salaries have increased less than one percent over the last nine years, and the adjustment before us today is fair and reasonable.’ Newly seated Supervisor Kristin Gaspar cast the lone dissenting vote, as did her predecessor, Dave Roberts, when the raise was first proposed last month.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/10/17; San Diego County Board of Supervisors, Ordinance No. 10455, [1/10/17; San Diego County Board of Supervisors meeting, 1:51:04, 1/10/17] (VIDEO)

All Four Supervisors Who Voted For The Pay Raise Were Serving Their Final Terms Due To Term Limits. “Cuskaden was standing a few feet away from Roberts when she made the comments from the public speaker’s podium. ‘You all are so damn stupid. You’re building a damn bomb in this city,’ Cuskaden said. ‘You’re an embarrassment.’ Roberts was joined by board Chairwoman Dianne Jacob and Supervisors Greg Cox and Bill Horn in voting for the raise. All four are in their final terms on the board because of term limits.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/10/17]

The Vote Took Place During Gaspar’s First Meeting As Supervisor. “As some citizens yelled ‘shame on you,’ San Diego County Supervisors voted Tuesday to give themselves a 12.5 per-cent pay raise, with newly elected Supervisor Kristin Gaspar opposing the increase at her first meeting. The move increases the supervisors’ salary by more than $19,000 and also raises their pension.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/11/17]

[...] While it has been 18 years since the formula changed, San Diego was then, as it is now, the second-most populous county in California, and remains geographically larger than Rhode Island and Delaware. Supervisors currently earn $153,289.60.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/14/16]

Gaspar Said She Could Not “Get Past” Whether The Pay Increase Was “Appropriate For The Work Performed” Since She Was Just Sworn In

Gaspar Said She Could Not “Get Past” The “First Fundamental Question” Of Whether A Pay Increase Was “Appropriate For The Work Performed,” Having Just Been Sworn Into The Board Of Supervisors. “The former Encinitas mayor told the room that she could not support the 12.5 percent pay hike because she was not sure she deserved the money. ‘One of the first questions I always ask myself is, ‘Is the compensation appropriate for the work performed?’ ‘ she said before casting her no vote. ‘Awkwardly, I sit here, having been sworn in just 24 hours ago, and I can be the first to admit that I don’t know how to get past that first fundamental question.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/18/17]

Gaspar Ultimately Accepted The 12.5% Pay Raise, Claiming Not Accepting Would Create A “Disparity” Among Supervisors

San Diego Union-Tribune: Two Months After Voting Against A Pay Raise, Gaspar Accepted The 12.5 Percent Raise, Which Would Initially Increase Her Pay By Almost $10,000. “The former Encinitas mayor told the room that she could not support the 12.5 percent pay hike because she was not sure she deserved the money. ‘One of the first questions I always ask myself is, ‘Is the compensation appropriate for the work performed?’ ‘ she said before casting her no vote. ‘Awkwardly, I sit here, having been sworn in just 24 hours ago, and I can be the first to admit that I don’t know how to get past that first fundamental question.’ Two months later, it turns out, the newest member of the Board of Supervisors will accept the raise, which goes into effect today, pushing her annual $153,289 paycheck up by almost $10,000, with an additional boost coming in December.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/18/17]

Gaspar Said “Not Accepting” The Pay Raise “Would Create A Disparity Among The Supervisors.”

“Gaspar issued a statement explaining her thinking, in response to a question from U-T Watchdog. ‘While I did not vote for the proposal, this is now the official compensation for supervisors,’ the statement said. ‘Not accepting it would create a disparity among supervisors who all perform the same job serving the public.’ That position was criticized by good-government activists.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/18/17]

Gaspar Recommended Placing A 45 Percent Pay Raise For City Councilors On The Agenda Before Her Mayoral Term Ended In 2016

San Diego Union-Tribune: Before Her Term Ended, Gaspar Recommended “Placing The Latest Pay Raise Proposal,” A 45 Percent Increase, On The City Council Agenda. “After going without a raise for nine years, the Encinitas City Council has decided to hike council pay by 45 percent. The proposal, approved 3-1 by the panel Wednesday night, will require a second vote and would kick in after the November 2018 election. Three council seats will be up for grabs that year, so it’s possible some council members who voted for the increase won’t reap its benefits. [...] Just before their terms ended in December, former Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer and former Mayor Kristin Gaspar recommended placing the latest pay raise proposal on the council's agenda. Wednesday night's vote was 3-1, with Councilman Mark Muir opposed." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/15/17]

The Proposal Would Increase From $1,186 A Month To $1,719.70 A Month. "Council pay varies widely in San Diego County and Encinitas sits somewhere near the middle of the pack. According to the state controller's database, Encinitas council members earned about $20,000 in total pay and benefits in 2013, compared to the similarly sized National City, whose council members earned $28,000 - roughly the same as council pay in Oceanside, a city three times as large. Under the Encinitas proposal, the council's base pay would increase from $1,186 a month to $1,719.70. The city's mayor receives $100 more a month than the council members." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/15/17]

March 2014: Gaspar Proposed Increasing The Mayor's Vehicle Allowance, Which Was $350, Instead Of Raising The Mayor's Salary By $100 In 2016

March 2014: Gaspar Proposed Increasing The Mayor's Vehicle Allowance, Which Was $350, Instead Of Raising The Mayor's Salary By $100 In 2016. "Gaspar initially said Wednesday night that she wouldn't participate in the salary discussion because she was contemplating running for the mayor's spot. 'Although it's not legally required, to me it feels like a conflict of interest,' she said as she described why she was considering abstaining from voting. Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer then told Gaspar to wait a moment, saying that she was proposing to make the salary hike start at the end of 2016. Gaspar then participated in the council discussion. The council's vote on the pay raise was 4-1, with Gaspar opposed. She had suggested that instead of raising the salary by $100, the council should increase the mayor's vehicle allowance." [Sam Diego Union-Tribune, 3/15/14]

The Mayor Was Traditionally Paid The Same Amount As City Council Members. "Encinitas will pay its mayor $100 a month more than its City Council members, but the higher salary won't start until late 2016 -- two years after city's first elected mayor takes office. In November, city voters will choose a mayor, ending nearly two decades of having the job rotate between council members. The shift to an elected mayor system was approved by voters in 2012. On Wednesday night, the City Council decided that mayoral and council pay will remain equal for the first mayor's two-year term. Council members currently make $1,186 a month." [Sam Diego Union-Tribune, 3/15/14]

“After a trip to Washington, D.C., last week, San Diego County Supervisor Kristin Gaspar has formed a committee to run for Congress. [...] Gaspar, 38, who recently became chairwoman of the Board of Supervisors, was on Capitol Hill last week, where she met for 10 minutes with House Speaker Paul Ryan. [...] Gaspar’s supervisor seat includes Del Mar, Encinitas and Solana Beach - all of which overlap with the congressional district - as well as Escondido, which does not.” San Diego Union Tribune, [1/23/18]

Gaspar: “It’s Time For A New Generation Of Fresh Faces In Congress Who Will Set Aside The Bickering And Focus On Getting Things Done.” “‘It’s time for a new generation of fresh faces in Congress who will set aside the bickering and focus on getting things done,’ Gaspar said. ‘I’ve demonstrated my ability to govern effectively as the Republican mayor of a coastal Democratic city, and I’ve shown my ability to attract crossover votes by winning a seat Hillary Clinton carried by 20 percentage points.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/25/18]

2016 San Diego County Board Of Supervisors Campaign

Nov. 2016: Gaspar Was The First Candidate In 32 Years To Defeat A San Diego County Board Of Supervisors Incumbent

2016: Gaspar Defeated A Democratic Incumbent, Making Her The First Candidate In 32 Years To Defeat A San Diego County Board Of Supervisors Incumbent. “With a growing margin of over 1,200 votes, Kristin Gaspar today claimed victory in her race for a northern San Diego County seat on the Board of Supervisors, over incumbent Dave Roberts. The Encinitas mayor said Roberts congratulated her in a telephone call, making her the first candidate to defeat an incumbent on the board in 32 years. [...] ‘I ran on a platform of fiscal accountability, support for public safety, and addressing our inadequate mental health programs and exploding homeless crisis,’ Gaspar said. ‘There will be a lot of change at the county in the next four years and I’m looking forward to getting to work on those issues and make a difference for our taxpayers.’” [City News Service, 11/28/16]

The San Diego Board Of Supervisors Were All Republicans. “Gaspar said she’s also planning to speak with department heads to get a better understanding of public safety operations, social services, and other county issues. She said she toured several facilities during her campaign. During her campaign she met with the four supervisors she’ll join. Like her, all are Republicans. Roberts was the lone Democrat and first new member on the board in two decades when he was elected four years ago.” Del Mar Times, [11/30/16]

Sept. 2015: Gaspar Launched Her 2016 Campaign For San Diego County Supervisor Nine Months After Taking Office As The First Elected Mayor Of Encinitas

Sept. 2015: Gaspar Announced Her 2016 Campaign For San Diego County Supervisor, Nine Months After Taking Office As The First Elected Mayor Of Encinitas. “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. Gaspar, 36, has served on the Encinitas City Council since November 2010 and will face Escondido Mayor Sam Abed along with Roberts, and perhaps others, in the June election. [...] Gaspar has hired political strategists Revolvus Consulting, which has worked on the campaigns of San Diego Mayor Kevin Faulconer, San Diego County District Attorney Bonnie Dumanis, former San Diego City Council member Carl DeMaio and many others. She also has hired Golden State Consulting for fundraising, and Competitive Edge Research & Communications for polling.” San Diego Union Tribune, [9/1/15]

San Diego Union-Tribune: “[Gaspar] Climbed The Ladder Quickly.” “Gaspar has the least political experience of the three but has climbed the ladder quickly in Encinitas. She also pledged to bring a higher level of ethics to the office. She was elected to the City Council in Encinitas in November 2010, appointed deputy mayor 13 months later, and appointed mayor in 2014 before she was elected to the top job in 2014 after the city changed how the post is filled. She is the chief financial officer of a physical therapy company she co-owns with her husband.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/29/16]

Gaspar Was Criticized For Seeking A Position On The Board Of Supervisors 10 Months After Being Elected Mayor. “Roberts has denied all the accusations, and none of the ex-staffers has filed a lawsuit. Meanwhile, Roberts’ campaign manager, Gary Gartner, criticized Gaspar for seeking another office just 10 months after becoming Encinitas’ first elected mayor. ‘This kind of political opportunism from yet another career politician is just what voters are tired of,’ he said.” City News Service via KPBS, [8/31/15]

Citizens For Fair And Honest Leadership And The Public Integrity League Of San Diego, Both Sponsored By The “Business-Centric, Republican-Leaning” Lincoln Club, Supported Gaspar. “Kristin Gaspar’s bid for county supervisor is being boosted by two big-spending, business-minded committees, one of which is dedicated to attacking her opponent, incumbent Dave Roberts. In the last two weeks the effort has raised tens of thousands of dollars from development and real estate interests. The anti-Roberts committee is called the Public Integrity League of San Diego and is funded almost entirely by the Lincoln Club, a business-centric, Republican-leaning political organization. Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership is a committee created to promote Gaspar, the Republican mayor of Encinitas. It’s also sponsored by the Lincoln Club, which is joined by the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce and three development-related political action committees, records show.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/2/16]

Citizens For Fair And Honest Leadership Received Contributions From “Development-Minded Political Action Committees.” “In the last two weeks the pro-Gaspar group expanded its donor base to development-minded political action committees that have given a combined $65,000. The Building Industry of San Diego County PAC gave $30,000 over two contributions, the Associated General Contractors gave $10,000 from their PAC, and the California Association of Realtors’ PAC gave $25,000, records show. None of these groups returned requests for comment. Aimee Faucett, the chamber’s executive vice president, said her organization expects to contribute an additional $150,000 to the pro-Gaspar group.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/2/16]

Gaspar’s Supervisor Campaign Was Supported By The San Diego Regional Chamber Of Commerce, The Building Industry Association Of San Diego County, The Associated General Contractors, And The California Association Of Realtors. “While Gaspar’s campaign leads in fundraising, a group called Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership Supporting Kristin Gaspar for Supervisor 2016 raised an additional $185,000 in contributions to boost her candidacy. The San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce gave $100,000 in the latest period, while political action committees from the Building Industry Association of San Diego County, the California Association of Realtors, and the Associated General Contractors’ local chapter gave the remaining $85,000. Land-use policy and permitting is one of the primary duties of county government. The group has raised $397,000 through the election, but most of its spending was in support of Gaspar ahead of the June 7 open primary.” San Diego Union Tribune, [10/7/16]

Aug. 2016: The Lincoln Club Had Spent More Than $200,000 To Support Gaspar. “But despite his deft financial footwork, Gaspar might have the upper hand. She has the backing of an independent committee that has spent more than $200,000 to get her elected, more than enough to erase Roberts’ $113,000 advantage. With less than three months to go until the Nov. 8 primary, Dave Roberts had raised $453,914 in his re-election effort while Gaspar has collected $340,762. A group funded by the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce, and the business-oriented Lincoln Club has spent just over $200,000 to get Gaspar into county office. Campaign finance records show that nearly all the funds have gone to media buys in an effort to introduce the top politician from the waterfront city to the rest of the district.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [8/16/16]

Lincoln Club Executive Director: “Gaspar Has A Proven Record Of Supporting Responsible Public Policies And The Expansion Of Economic Opportunity.” “The Lincoln Club said Gaspar has a record of backing economic growth. ‘Kristin Gaspar has a proven record of supporting responsible public policies and the expansion of economic opportunity for her constituents during her time on the Encinitas City Council and as mayor,’ Lincoln Club Executive Director Brian Pepin said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/2/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: “Citizens For Fair And Honest Leadership,” Spent More Than $100,000 For Campaign Literature Supporting Gaspar. “Additionally, political action committees have spent more than $100,000 to help their favorite candidate. Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar, in particular, has benefited from a group funded by the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce and the Lincoln Club, both business-oriented, Republican-leaning organizations. [...] Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership spent $108,865 for mailers and literature supporting Gaspar. The organization is funded by the chamber and Lincoln Club. Citizens for Fair and Honest Leadership raised $115,000 through the last reporting period in its effort to get Gaspar elected.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/4/16]

Gaspar Campaigned On Ethics Accusations Against Her Incumbent Opponent And Said She Would “Restore Trust” To The Board Of Supervisors

Gaspar Sought To Unseat Incumbent Democrat Dave Roberts, Who Was Accused By Three Employees Of Using “Public Resources In His Re-Election Bid” And Showing “Inordinate Favoritism.” “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. [...] Three women in Roberts’ office who resigned in April have filed claims that allege the supervisor used public resources in his re-election bid, showed inordinate favoritism to a subordinate and offered an employee a raise and promotion in exchange for misleading a county human resources inquiry into his office. Roberts has repeatedly denied the accusations.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/1/15]

The San Diego County Board Of Supervisors Paid A $310,000 Settlement To The Three Employees, Who Accused Roberts Of Unethical Deeds. “The San Diego County Board of Supervisors agreed today to pay $310,000 to settle claims brought by three former staffers of Supervisor Dave Roberts, who was accused of misusing his powers. In a joint statement, the board members said they don’t necessarily believe all the allegations against Roberts, but found substantial risk that jurors would find some of the contentions valid at trial. In his own statement, Roberts said, ‘I strongly oppose the action taken today by a majority of the Board of Supervisors, (but) I respect my colleagues’ right to make such a decision.’” [City News Service, 9/15/15]

Gaspar Called Roberts’ Actions A “Disappointment” And Said The Settlement “Could Otherwise Be Used To Support Critical County Services.” “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar, who will challenge Roberts for the seat, said his ‘actions are a disappointment to those who put their trust in him and have become a distraction from the job he was elected to do. This settlement will cost San Diego County taxpayers hundreds of thousands, which could otherwise be used to support critical county services.’” [City News Service, 9/15/15]

After The District Attorney Found No Charges Against Roberts, Gaspar Said Elected Officials Should Not “[Blur] The Line Of Ethics.” “The District Attorney’s Office announced Monday it will not file criminal charges against county Supervisor Dave Roberts, capping a nearly year-long investigation into allegations of workplace improprieties made by some of his former employees. [...] Gaspar said Monday that the lack of criminal charges does not absolve Roberts from the problems in his office. ‘His behavior in this incident is unacceptable, and we shouldn’t have elected officials blurring the lines of ethics, or distracted from doing the job they were elected by inappropriate personal behavior,’ she said in a statement.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/18/16]

Gaspar Said She Would “Restore Trust” To The Board Of Supervisors. “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. Gaspar, 36, has served on the Encinitas City Council since November 2010 and will face Escondido Mayor Sam Abed along with Roberts, and perhaps others, in the June election. In making her announcement, Gaspar referred to Roberts in her news release as ‘embattled’ and said she would ‘restore trust to the office’ -- references to the controversy around Roberts, who was accused of misconduct by several staff members in the spring.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/1/15]

Gaspar Said There Was “No Excuse” For Roberts’ “Inappropriate And Self-Serving Behavior.” “Kristin Gaspar, the first elected mayor of Encinitas, is also running for the office. She previously served on the Encinitas City Council and she and her husband are the owners of a small business that employs 138 people in six locations throughout North County. ‘The incumbent has embarrassed the office with several scandals that resulted in the exodus of eight county staffers and a legal settlement requiring the county to pay out more than $300,000 in taxpayer money,’ Gaspar said. ‘There is no excuse for the inappropriate and self-serving behavior exhibited by Supervisor Dave Roberts.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/7/16]

Gaspar Said If She Had Made Roberts’ Choices In The Private Sector, “We’d Likely Be Out Of Business.” “Q: How does the Bonnie Dumanis decision affect the race, not to charge (Roberts) criminally? A: I think it’s disappointing. It has created a certain level of frustration where maybe it’s another blessing in disguise because people are disappointed that our elected officials aren’t held to a higher standard. It didn’t surprise me at all, but it is disappointing. I think that the trouble that he found himself in cost us nearly a half-million dollars when you count all the staff time in. And that’s a half-million dollars that isn’t going to something else in the district that he serves. And that’s just wrong. So if fundamentally you can’t manage your own workplace, you have no business serving there. If I made those choices in the private sector, we’d likely be out of business.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/20/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Reportedly Launched A “Hall Of Shame” Website That Featured Opponent Dave Roberts, Former San Diego Mayor Bob Filner, And Former Rep. Duke Cunningham. “For most of the election season, Roberts has had to defend himself against attacks based on the scandal. Gaspar brought it up twice at a recent forum hosted by the San Diego Farm Bureau. ‘Unfortunately, due to Mr. Roberts’ behavior, he immediately disqualified himself from serving,’ Gaspar said. Gaspar’s campaign recently launched a ‘Hall of Shame’ website that features Roberts alongside former disgraced San Diego Mayor Bob Filner and former Rep. Duke Cunningham, who was sent to prison in a bribery scandal.” Del Mar Times, [10/24/16]

Gaspar Turned Down Two Invitations To Participate In Local Forums In Encinitas

Coast News Group: Gaspar Turned Down Two Invitations To Participate In Local Forums In Encinitas For Her Campaign For District 3 Supervisor. “Encinitas residents won’t be able to see their supervisor candidates debate locally, as Kristin Gaspar declined two invitations to local forums. But Gaspar’s campaign said it was because the campaigns did not fit in the schedule, not for political reasons. Gaspar is running against Dave Roberts in a runoff for the Dist. 3 Supervisor post, as both advanced to the Nov. 8 date after besting Escondido Mayor Sam Abed in the June primary. Gaspar’s campaign turned down an invite to appear at the Leucadia-Encinitas Town Council forum set for Oct. 4 at the Encinitas Library, and also turned down an invitation to a forum hosted by the North County Arts Network. Both forums were sponsored by the nonpartisan League of Women Voters. Both forums have been canceled as a result of the decision.” Coast News Group, [9/2/16]

Gaspar's Opponent Criticized Her For Being In The Minority On 3 To 2 Votes On The Encinitas City Council

2016: Gaspar’s Opponent Criticized Her For Being In The Minority On 3 To 2 Votes On The Encinitas City Council. “He has criticized Gaspar for split votes on the Encinitas City Council, a political division he says shows his opponent doesn’t know how to collaborate and iron out disagreements. ‘She said she couldn’t get anything accomplished because it’s a 3-2 council. ... Look at all that I’ve gotten accomplished in four years because I worked with my colleagues,’ Roberts said. [...] Gaspar said she votes with her colleagues in Encinitas around 90 percent of the time, and while Democrats have a voter registration advantage, her constituents elected her, a Republican. Gaspar is running on her experience as the chief financial officer of a physical therapy firm she runs with her husband, a job that she says has afforded her business sense to help the county set long-term goals and run efficiently.” San Diego Union Tribune, [10/24/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was “Part Of A Conservative, Pro-Business Minority” On The Encinitas City Council. “Gaspar is chief financial officer of Gaspar Doctors of Physical Therapy, which she co-owns with her husband, Paul. She was elected to the Encinitas City Council in November 2010, was appointed deputy mayor in December 2011 and appointed mayor in 2014. She became the first elected mayor of the city last November after a change in how the position is filled. Gaspar has been described as part of a conservative, pro-business minority on the council, which in recent years has faced a more liberal majority focused on environmental protection.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/1/15]

Gaspar Claimed She Was A “Republican Mayor Of A Democratic City Because I Have Cross Appeal”

Gaspar Said She Was A “Republican Mayor Of A Democratic City Because I Have Cross Appeal.” “Q: How do you think that your race is going to be decided? A: It’s a diverse district and the coast acts as a swing. And you have to be able to capture the coast to be successful. This is where I have the clear advantage. I’ve been successful along the coast. I understand the coast and know how to do business in a diverse city. Inland mayor has not had that experience. It’s easy to be a Republican mayor of a Republican city. I’m a Republican mayor of a Democratic city because I have cross appeal. Escondido was named the 11th most conservative city in the United States, so it’d be a bit easier, in my view, to serve there. I think that I can do a lot of great work for the county. I’ve done wonderful things for Encinitas and have an outstanding track record in any-thing that I’ve taken on. And I think it’s time to have some fresh representation on the county board.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/19/16]

Gaspar Said Her Priorities As Supervisor Would Be Maintaining The Budget And AAA Bond Rating, Avoiding “Overdevelopment” And Fixing The Homelessness Crisis

Gaspar Said Her Priorities As Supervisor Would Be Maintaining A “Balanced Budget And AAA Bond Rating,” “Protecting Open Space From Overdevelopment,” And “Getting The Homeless Off The Street.” “County supervisor Kristin Gaspar, Republican Mayor of Encinitas After six years as Encinitas Mayor and Councilmember, and the owner of a small business, I am running for the Board of Supervisors. My priorities are 1) maintaining a balanced budget and AAA bond rating, 2) investing in roads and infrastructure, 3) supporting police and firefighters to keep our communities safe, 4) protecting open space from overdevelopment, and 5) getting the homeless off the street and back on their feet. Endorsed by Mayor Kevin Faulconer.” [San Diego Union-Tribune 10/23/16]

Gaspar Said She Wanted To Run For Supervisor Because She Wanted To “Play A More Active Role In The Important Investments We Need To Make In Our Roads, Infrastructure And Core County Services.” “‘I’ve been deeply involved in our community, and as an elected official over the last five years ... recognize the importance the Board of Supervisors plays in our region,’ Gaspar said. ‘I made the decision to seek the Third District seat because I want to play a more active role in the important investments we need to make in our roads, infrastructure and core county services,’ she said. ‘My experience in a private-sector company and as an elected official has prepared me to work successfully with the group of supervisors representing diverse districts.’” City News Service via KPBS, [8/31/15]

Gaspar Said She Did Not Want Any Interest Groups “Taking Over” The San Diego County Board

Gaspar Said She Did Not Want “To See Any Interest Group Taking Over” The San Diego County Board And That It Was “Really Important” To Have Officials That Are “Focused On Serving The People.” “Q: Why did you decide to run to be a county supervisor? A: I believe that we have to have elected officials that adhere to the highest standards of ethics and integrity in office. And we’ve had too many recent examples of people that aren’t behaving properly in office. As elected officials, we work with a lot of people. And you need to be able to manage people well because you need to get the city’s work done. You have to be able to get the county’s work done. So I believe quite strongly that if you’re failing at workplace management that’s a sign of a bigger issue. With term limits coming into play, we’re going to see new faces on that board. To me, every face that’s there has to represent genuine leadership for our county. I don’t want to see any interest group taking over that board as we move forward. It’s really important that we have people there that are fundamentally focused on serving the people in the county, and that’s it. I believe we need to push back a little bit and expect more from our elected officials.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/19/16]

Gaspar Defeated A More Conservative Republican In The Primary

June 2016: Gaspar Advanced To The General Election By Defeating A More Conservative Republican. “Gaspar, a Republican, said she gained a spot in the runoff because voters were upset about a costly scandal that involved Roberts’ office last year, and they found Abed, a firebrand conservative, too polemical for a moderate district looking for pragmatic representation on the Board of Supervisors. ‘His approach and his demeanor, to me, was a defining factor. I think, also, if you take hard party lines, that can be something of a turnoff,’ she said. She believes voters considered her - a Republican mayor with an ethical image in a city with a Democratic majority - as a good choice. ‘I think that’s where there is a real clear distinction between myself and Mayor Abed, it’s how we do our business,’ Gaspar said.” Del Mar Times, [6/9/16]

The San Diego County Republican Party Endorsed Gaspar’s Primary Opponent

Letter To The Editor: The San Diego County Republican Party Endorsed Gaspar’s Opponent, Sam Abed. “Glad to see Kristin Gaspar moving on to the runoff When will the Republican Party in San Diego County re-evaluate its endorsement of Sam Abed for political office? A longtime resident of Escondido, I voted for Sam Abed in 2010. Never again. It is good to see that, despite financial assistance provided to Mr. Abed by the Republican Party, enough of the public seems to be catching on to the lies, manipulations and chicanery that have run rampant through much of Escondido’s top governing offices, as well as its Police Department. Congratulations to Kristin Gaspar for winning the opportunity from voters to be in the runoff election for county supervisor of District 3. Evidently, voters are beginning to understand. Gaspar Criticized Her Primary Opponent For Ignoring Environmental Safeguards On A Property He Owned Gaspar Attacked Her Primary Opponent For Supervisor For “Paving A Property He Owns Without First Constructing Environmental Safeguards.” “At a forum Thursday night, Escondido Mayor Sam Abed and Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar attacked each other as the June 7 election approaches, suggesting the two Republicans believe they both won’t advance to a November runoff - just one of them against Democrat Roberts. Between discussions about affordable housing, the Chargers stadium quest, and their qualifications to lead the county, Gaspar hit Abed’s for paving a property he owns without first constructing environmental safeguards. Abed, in turn, attacked Gaspar lawsuits against her city. [...] ‘I don’t think it’s a complex issue and I don’t think it’s a non-issue. It’s called following the rules,’ she said. ‘We don’t get to plead ignorant to following the rules. We should know the rules better than everybody else.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/23/16]

Gaspar Loaned Her 2016 Campaign $50,000

May 2016: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Loaned Her Campaign $50,000. “Gaspar outraised Roberts by $46, and the incumbent actually regains the lead by a mere $2 when only cash contributions are considered in the totals and nonmonetary contributions are excluded. Gaspar also lent her campaign $50,000 and ended the period between Jan. 1 and April 23 with $128,653 in funds raised. After expenses, she has $152,605 in the bank leading up to the June 7 primary. She was the last of the three candidates to enter the race. ‘I’ve been getting a very positive response from voters and donors, who are looking for a fresh face,’ Gaspar said in a statement.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/8/16; Gaspar for Supervisor 2016, Form 460, filed 4/28/16]

Oct. 2016: The San Diego Union-Tribune Endorsed Gaspar For Supervisor

Oct. 2016: Editorial: The San Diego Union-Tribune Endorsed Gaspar For Supervisor. “Voters will pick between incumbent Supervisor Dave Roberts, a Democrat, and his Republican challenger, Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar, in San Diego County’s District 3, which spans Escondido, much of northern San Diego and part of the coast (Encinitas, Solana Beach and Del Mar). We endorsed Gaspar before the June primary and remain convinced she is the clear choice. She would bring an energetic, pragmatic, problem-solving approach to the county board - and a clean slate. Roberts has been oddly blithe about a 2015 scandal in which four members of his staff quit in a month’s span and made a series of allegations about his behavior and actions in office, including the assertion that he promised a raise to one staffer in return for providing deceptive testimony to county investigators. While District Attorney Bonnie Dumanis chose not to bring criminal charges, she also said Roberts ‘violated county and civil workplace policies.’ To head off lawsuits, the Board of Supervisors agreed to pay Roberts’ ex-staffers $310,000 and rebuked his behavior.” San Diego Union-Tribune, Editorial, [10/29/16]

The Municipal Employees Association, Which Represented “4,000 Mostly White-Collar Workers,” Endorsed Gaspar For Supervisor

Nov. 2015: The Municipal Employees Association, Which Represented “4,000 Mostly White-Collar Workers,” Endorsed Gaspar For Supervisor. “The city of San Diego’s largest organized labor group today endorsed Chris Ward for next year’s City Council race in District 3, which covers downtown, Hillcrest and North Park. Ward, chief of staff for Sen. Marty Block, D-San Diego, is seeking to replace Councilman Todd Gloria, who is being termed-out. The endorsement came from the Municipal Employees Association, which represents 4,000 mostly white-collar workers. [...] The chamber also endorsed Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar for the supervisors seat currently held by Dave Roberts. Escondido Mayor Sam Abed is also running.” [City News Service, 11/19/15]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said Her Platform For Mayor Would Include Fiscal Responsibility, Putting “Needs In Front Of Wants,” And Improving Public Safety And Road Maintenance. “The current appointed mayor of Encinitas, Kristin Gaspar, picked up papers Monday morning to run for the post this fall when it becomes an elected position, the City Clerk’s Office reported. Gaspar’s entry into the race had been anticipated for months, but she formally announced her candidacy Saturday night at a party celebrating the 20th anniversary of her family’s business, Gaspar Doctors of Physical Therapy. She told a reporter Monday right after she picked up her mayoral candidacy paperwork that she will be running on a platform emphasizing fiscal responsibility, putting ‘needs in front of wants,’ and placing a heavy emphasis on public safety and road maintenance issues. ‘Encinitas is going to need a really strong mayor over the next two years,’ she said.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 7/30/14]

Nov. 2014: Gaspar Was The Top Fundraiser With More Than $27,000 Raised From January To October, Including A $5,000 Personal Loan. “Gaspar, who was first elected to the council in 2010, has raised and spent far more money than any of the other candidates. From the start of the year until Oct. 18 -- the latest date covered by the campaign financial forms -- Gaspar collected $27,291 in cash and in-kind contributions, including a $5,000 loan that she made to her campaign. It’s unclear to what extent the officials may have been victimized because details of the charges won’t be released until today. Kinde Durkee was arrested Friday at Durkee and Associates in Burbank and charged with one count of mail fraud, said Lauren Horwood, a spokeswoman for the U.S. Attorney’s Office in Sacramento. The arrest was first reported by The Orange County Register. [...] In 2010, Voter Education Group, a slate-mailer managed by Durkee and Associates, was fined more than $110,000 by the FPPC for various reporting violations. San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was Featured On Campaign Mailers “Paid For Largely By Developers.” “Gaspar, Mayor James Bond and Councilman Jerome Stocks all said Houlihan’s endorsement would not play a major part in their decision. Houlihan and Barth routinely campaigned against Stocks, Bond and Gaspar during elections. For example, the latter three are featured on campaign mailers paid for largely by developers. Houlihan and Barth were known to fight intense development.” [San Diego Union Tribune, 10/6/11]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Raised The Most Money Out Of Any Candidate For City Council. “First-time Encinitas Council Candidate Kristin Gaspar raised $40,908 in her successful November-election campaign, according to the most recent financial campaign disclosures, which cover contributions through Dec. 31. That’s roughly $16,000 more than the other successful candidate, incumbent Teresa Barth, who raised $25,000 in the race for another four-year term. Gaspar loaned herself more than $16,000 for the campaign. Barth reported $5,000 in loans. Ex-mayor Dan Dalager, who finished last out of four candidates and lost his seat after eight years, raised about $28,000. Nov. 2016: Gaspar Was Elected Three Weeks After Election Day With More Than 50 Percent Of The Vote

Gaspar Was Elected Supervisor Three Weeks After Election Day With A Little More Than 50 Percent Of The Vote. “Supervisor Dave Roberts conceded to Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday, ending his effort for a second term and bringing a new face to the County Board of Supervisors for just the second time in two decades. Gaspar’s victory, coming nearly three weeks after Election Day, will remove the lone Democrat from the five-member board that oversees a sweeping array of regional land-use, social welfare and public safety agencies. [...] Gaspar was down 2,200 votes shortly after polls closed on Nov. 8, but as late returns and provisional ballots were counted, she took the lead on Nov. 18 and gradually widened her margin. As of Monday evening, she was ahead with 50.27 percent of the vote to Roberts’s 49.73 percent, a 1,232-vote gap.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/29/16]

The City Of Encinitas Voted To Elect Their Next Mayor In 2014, Instead Of The City Council Appointing The Mayor In A Rotation, In A Ballot Initiative. “Placing three measures on the Nov. 6 ballot to create an elected-mayor system for Encinitas came at a cost of roughly $37,630, but that price tag could have been far higher, elections officials say. [...] Encinitas is one of only three cities in the county that doesn't now have a directly elected mayor. Under the city's current system, which was established in 1986 when Encinitas incorporated, the job of mayor rotates each year among council members, and the annual selection process is often contentious. Proponents of the November ballot measures argued that having an elected mayor would eliminate those annual fights. A majority of voters backed the elected-mayor option in the Nov. 6 election, but wanted the job to be a two-year rather than a four-year post." [San Diego Union Tribune, 11/22/12]

San Diego Union-Tribune: 55 Percent Of Voters Supported Electing Their Mayor And 57 Percent Supported Making The Post A Two-Year Position. "The city's first measure, Proposition K, is expected to cost $15,682. It asked voters whether the city should have an elected mayor, and it won support from about 55 percent of those voting. The second and third ballot measures -- Propositions L and M -- are each expected to cost the city $10,974. Proposition L, which passed with 57 percent of the vote, made the post a two-year position. Proposition M, which was turned down by 71 percent of voters, would have made the mayor's spot a four-year post." [San Diego Union Tribune, 11/22/12]

One City Council Position And One Mayoral Position Would Be Up For Election In 2014, Instead Of Two City Council Seats. "Encinitas will have its first mayoral election in 2014, and will accommodate the change by eliminating one council spot on the ballot that year, Hollywood said. Instead of two council seats up for election, there will be one council seat and the mayor's spot. The two council seats up for election that year now are held by Councilwomen Teresa Barth and Kristin Gaspar." [San Diego Union Tribune, 11/22/12]

The Mayor Would Be Paid The Same Amount As The City Council. "The council spot and mayor's post will offer the same pay -- a base salary of $1,186 a month, plus $100 for each San Dieguito Water District board meeting and $50 for each Encinitas housing authority meeting, Hollywood said. Any city resident who is a registered voter can run for either post. There's no prequalification of past experience to seek the mayor's spot, she said." [San Diego Union Tribune, 11/22/12]

Dec. 2013: The Encinitas City Council Voted To Appoint Gaspar Mayor From June To December 2014

Dec. 2013: The Encinitas City Council Voted To Appoint Gaspar Mayor From June To December 2014. "Encinitas Mayor Teresa Barth will have an extra six months in the job, then Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar will take over the post and finish out the year, the council unanimously decided last week in a lighthearted session. This job-split deal is highly unusual for Encinitas, and it's happening because the current mayoral selection system is about to come to an end, council members said. Starting in November 2014, the city's voters will be directly electing the city's mayor instead of rotating the job between council members. A ballot measure authorizing this change was approved in 2012." [San Diego Union Tribune, 12/21/13]

Gaspar's Mother And 8-Year-Old Son Advocated For Gaspar During A City Council Meeting Due To Then-Mayor Teresa Barth's Attempt To Revoke A Previous Agreement To Appoint Gaspar Mayor For Half A Year. "The two council members who floated the idea of reconsidering the decision -- Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer and Councilman Tony Kranz -- found themselves facing a nearly standing-room-only crowd of Gaspar's friends, relatives and political supporters. Gaspar's mother, Jannae DeSiena, led off the public comments, telling Shaffer she was acting in a spiteful fashion because Gaspar hadn't supported the council majority's recent decision to purchase the former Pacific View school property. She said Shaffer engaged in an 'unethical, bullying tactic' by asking the council to reconsider its unanimous vote in December to split the mayor's job this year between Teresa Barth -- who has the post until June 11 -- and Gaspar, who is to take the job from mid-June until the city's first elected mayor is sworn in late this year. Shaffer, Kranz and Barth -- allies who make up the council majority -- 'continue to put petty politics ahead of city business,' DeSiena said. Gaspar's 8-year-old son, Carson, put the issue in simple terms, telling the council that his teachers have told him to keep his promises, and 'I think you should too.'" [San Diego Union Tribune, 5/29/14]

Barth Wanted To Revoke The Decision Because She Was Not Planning On Running For Encinitas' First Elected Mayor The Following November, And Gaspar Most Likely Was. "In December, when the council agreed to the job-split, both Gaspar and Barth indicated that they might run for the mayor's post when it becomes an elected position this fall and the other three council members said they would not. That's since changed -- Barth announced in April that she will not run and Kranz has said he is now considering running. Gaspar has said she will not make a decision until after the council finishes its budget process and she is sworn in as mayor June 11." [San Diego Union Tribune, 5/29/14]

2011 – 2015: Gaspar Served On The Encinitas City Council

Sept. 2011: Gaspar Was Appointed To A Committee To Determine How To Fill A Vacant City Council Seat

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was Appointed To A Committee To Determine How To Fill A Vacant City Council Seat. "Encinitas will have a new City Council member by Nov. 15 to take the place of Maggie Houlihan, who died of cancer this month. The City Council on Monday appointed Councilwomen Teresa Barth and Kristin Gaspar to a committee to weigh the options for selecting a replacement. The council can either appoint a replacement or call a special election, which would cost between $320,000 and $340,000. During the meeting Monday, a video taped a few weeks before Houlihan died showed the councilwoman suggesting that 2012 council candidate Lisa Shaffer replace her. Shaffer is a lecturer at the schools of management and international relations at the University of California San Diego." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 9/28/11]

The City Council Voted To Appoint A Temporary Replacement, Instead Of Calling For A Special Election. "Encinitas residents interested in serving the rest of Maggie Houlihan's term can now apply for the seat. The Encinitas City Council voted 4-0 Thursday to appoint a temporary replacement. Houlihan died of cancer Sept. 16. The term expires December 2012. Under the approved plan, the city would swear in its new member Nov. 9. The application period lasts through Oct. 20. The City Council will then interview prospects, five minutes at a time, at a meeting Oct. 26. It will vote to appoint a member Nov. 3. It's estimated the process will cost about $5,000, mostly to pay for advertising, Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 10/9/11]

The City Council Appointed Encinitas Fire Chief Mark Muir To Fill The Vacant Seat, Which The Widower Of The Late City Council Member Opposed. "Encinitas Fire Chief Mark Muir will serve the remainder of Maggie Houlihan's term on the City Council. The Encinitas City Council on Wednesday voted 3-1, with Teresa Barth opposed, to appoint Muir to replace Houlihan, who died of cancer Sept. 16. The term expires in December 2012. The decision disappointed some Houlihan supporters who attended the meeting. Many lobbied for Tony Kranz or Lisa Shaffer, whom Houlihan had publicly supported. Houlihan also had campaigned against current council members Jerome Stocks, James Bond and Kristin Gaspar. Muir, selected out of 13 applicants, is a known supporter of Stocks and Bond. 'If you select Mr. Muir to fill her shoes, you will be collectively dismissing the people who voted for her,' said Ian Thompson, Houlihan's widower." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/3/11]

Dec. 2011: Gaspar Was Appointed Deputy Mayor Of The Encinitas City Council

Dec. 2011: Gaspar Was Appointed Deputy Mayor Of The Encinitas City Council. "Barth, elected in 2006 and re-elected in 2010, has never had a chance to serve either as mayor or deputy mayor due to vast political differences with the council majority. Stocks will serve as the city's mayor, and Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar will serve as deputy mayor through December 2012. Stocks, first elected in 2000, served as mayor in 2003 and 2008. He said he was humbled to be selected for the position and would do his best." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/17/11]

A Group Called “We Love Encinitas,” Tied To Gaspar, Sent Out Mailers Highlighting Gaspar And Claimed To Be A 501(c)(3), But Did Not Register With The IRS

“We Love Encinitas” Sent Out Mailers During The 2012 Election That Used “Survey Information Highlighting Citizen Satisfaction” And Pictured Gaspar

2012: Coast News Group: A Group Called We Love Encinitas Sent Out Mailers That Claimed To Be A 501(c)(3) During The 2012 Election And Used “Survey Information Highlighting Citizen Satisfaction.” “A group called We Love Encinitas sent out mailers during the campaign season using survey information highlighting citizen satisfaction. The group is now being scrutinized over its 501 (c) 3 status. Earlier this year it wasn’t apparent what group or individual was behind the two mailers that were sent out in October. The mailers contained a contact address, which led to a shopping center and a crude website that showed only the survey results. The site has since been revamped to include news and happenings around Encinitas.” Coast News Group, [12/13/12]

“Remember those innocent days of yesteryear when shady, unnamed political campaign supporters claiming tax deductions for campaign propaganda would at least pretend to cloak their propaganda in the guise of a generic “thank you” to unnamed, but obvious, incumbent politicians? That was October 12, 2012. Today? [...] Yes, “We Love Encinitas,” which is a 501(c)(3) charity, meaning donations to it are tax-deductible, is now naming, quoting, and featuring press photos of the politicians it loves during the peak of the campaign season. Your federal (and state) tax dollars are paying for Jerome Stocks’ and Mark Muir’s re-election campaign.” Encinitas Undercover, blog post, [11/3/12]

Dec. 2012: Coast News Group: The IRS And California Franchise Tax Board Had “No Records” Showing That We Love Encinitas Had A 501(c)(3) Status. “Inquiries made to the Internal Revenue Service turned up no records showing that We Love Encinitas, or We Love Encinitas Community Advocates as they are referred to, has a 501 (c) 3 status. The California Franchise Tax Board also said that the group wasn’t listed as a tax-exempt. [...] Further investigation into parties attached to the group showed that Kristin Gaspar was the agent of process, as listed on documents received from the California Secretary of State’s office dated on Oct. 22. So Mayor Gaspar, you need to make sure you address my accomplishments [...] GASPAR: Well I am happy to have the opportunity to talk about We Love Encinitas because if you follow politics at all, does it get a little bit depressing? Yes, it does because things are always so negative. We Love Encinitas is an opportunity to be prideful about the community in which we live. 2016: Gaspar Exaggerated Her Volunteering Record And Claimed To Be An “Educator” During Her Campaign For Supervisor, Despite Not Having A Teaching Certificate

May 2016: Gaspar Claimed To Be An “Educator” But Reportedly Did Not Have A Teaching Certificate

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar “Repeatedly” Called Herself An “Educator,” But She Did Not Have A Teaching Certificate And Her “Work As An Educator [Was] Limited To Six Hours Of Volunteer Service.” “In debates, interviews and her official ballot statement as she campaigns for county supervisor, Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar repeatedly describes herself as an ‘educator’ who dutifully teaches elementary school students. ‘I looked up at the kids’ wall today as I was teaching the third grade civics program and there’s a whole poster about how character counts. It works for our young people, it should work for our adults, too, in our community,' Gaspar, a Republican, said at an April 26 debate. Gaspar's work as an educator is limited to six hours of volunteer service. She doesn't have state teaching certifications, and except for the three hours of training for the volunteer work hasn't studied pedagogy." San Diego Union Tribune, [5/17/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Group Gaspar Claimed To Volunteer With Said Volunteers Worked For One Hour Per Week For Six Weeks. "Gaspar's campaign says she participates in the City Stuff program, a volunteer education initiative sponsored by Carlsbad, which she's been involved with for two years. Some volunteers share their duties with another volunteer, but it's unclear if Gaspar has a partner for her work. Her campaign said she volunteers with City Stuff once or twice per week for three months, but according to the program's website, volunteers work for one hour per week for six weeks. Her campaign manager, Jason Roe, declined a request to further explain Gaspar's work in education." San Diego Union Tribune, [5/17/16]

May 2016: Gaspar Criticized The San Diego Union-Tribune And Claimed They Only "Scratched The Surface" Of Her Teaching Experience

Gaspar San The San Diego Union-Tribune's Article Only "Scratched The Surface" Of Her Volunteer Work With Schools. "The 1,200-word piece reported that Gaspar has exaggerated her 'educator' claims and said her opponents 'also have repeatedly twisted their accomplishments in their quest to win voters.' Republican Gaspar told an audience of 90 at Petco's corporate headquarters in Rancho Bernardo that the article only "scratched the surface" of her work with schools. She said her 10-year-old son, Carson — who attended the North San Diego Business Chamber-hosted event — could "attest to the fact that I spend so much time at the local schools — and not just my child's school.' She said City Hall could confirm the number of school groups visiting for mock council meetings and tours. Gaspar said she talks to third-graders throughout the Encinitas Union School District about what local government does and also teaches under a Junior Achievement program. 'Certainly the article doesn't do anything to really showcase the level of involvement, engagement that I have,' said Gaspar, aiming to be the challenger facing Roberts in a November runoff." May 2016: The San Diego Union-Tribune Ultimately Endorsed Gaspar For Supervisor, But Said Her Decision To Call Herself An "Educator" Was "Disrespectful To Actual Educators"

The San Diego Union Tribune Endorsed Gaspar, But Said That Gaspar's Decision To Call Herself An "Educator" Was "Disrespectful To Actual Educators And To Voters." "However, her decision to represent herself as an 'educator' while campaigning and in her official ballot statement is disrespectful to actual educators and to voters. She is a school volunteer. We're disappointed that Gaspar defends this gambit. We expected better from her. Nonetheless, we think Gaspar can grow into an effective, influential, coalition-building supervisor. Our frustration with her political gamesmanship is trumped by our confidence in her potential. This editorial board endorses Kristin Gaspar for county supervisor." Dec. 2017: Gaspar Claimed She Would "Restore Trust" To The Board Of Supervisors, But Did Not Vote To Schedule A Public Evening Budget Hearing, Despite Precedent To Do So

2015: Gaspar Said She Would "Restore Trust" To The Board Of Supervisors...

Gaspar Said She Would "Restore Trust" To The Board Of Supervisors. "Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. Gaspar, 36, has served on the Encinitas City Council since November 2010 and will face Escondido Mayor Sam Abed along with Roberts, and perhaps others, in the June election. In making her announcement, Gaspar referred to Roberts in her news release as 'embattled' and said she would 'restore trust to the office' -- references to the controversy around Roberts, who was accused of misconduct by several staff members in the spring." Gaspar Sought To Unseat Incumbent Democrat Dave Roberts, Who Was Accused By Three Employees Of Using "Public Resources In His Re-Election Bid" And Showing "Inordinate Favoritism." "Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar on Monday became the second North County Republican mayor to announce an election challenge to Democratic county Supervisor Dave Roberts in 2016. [...] Three women in Roberts' office who resigned in April have filed claims that allege the supervisor used public resources in his re-election bid, showed inordinate favoritism to a subordinate and offered an employee a raise and promotion in exchange for misleading a county human resources inquiry into his office. The County Had A "History Of Scheduling Budget Hearings At Night So People Who Work During The Day Have A Chance To Weigh In On How Billions Of Tax Dollars Should Be Spent." "County supervisors have a history of scheduling budget hearings at night so people who work during the day have a chance to weigh in on how billions of tax dollars should be spent. But this year, with most members of the Board of Supervisors no longer facing re-election due to term limits, support for after-hours meetings has evaporated. 'If you're a concerned citizen ... you could make the time to come down here to testify,' Supervisor Bill Horn said at a recent board meeting. 'I'm willing to sit here for two days. ... I don't want to sit here at night.'" San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Dec. 2017: Supervisor Cox Moved To Add An Evening Budget Hearing To The 2018 Schedule, But No Other Supervisors Seconded The Motion. "The comments from Horn came in response to a suggestion from Supervisor Greg Cox, who asked his colleagues to amend the yearly meeting calendar to add a night-time budget hearing for people who want to testify about how the county will spend billions of public dollars. 'I don't want to close the door to the public,' Cox said. 'I realize it's a burden, but we ought to have at least one opportunity for the public to come down during non-normal working hours.' The discussion came up as the board approved changes allowing grant applicants and others to submit testimony online rather than travel to downtown San Diego to testify in person. Cox's motion died when no other supervisor agreed to the idea. Community advocates are now planning to petition the supervisors to rethink their position and add a night meeting to the schedule of budget hearings this spring." Supervisor Cox Motioned To Modify The Calendar To Include An Evening Budget Hearing, But Failed For Lack Of A Second Motion. “ACTION 31.3 MOTION by Supervisor Cox to direct the Chief Administrative Officer to modify the Board of Supervisors 2018 Calendar to include a Budget Hearing date of June 13, 2018 at 6:00 p.m. (Motion failed for lack of a second)[.]” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, minutes, [12/5/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Community Advocates Said They Planned To Petition The Supervisors To Replace The Evening Budget Hearing To The Board’s Calendar. “Community advocates are now planning to petition the supervisors to rethink their position and add a night meeting to the schedule of budget hearings this spring. ‘For the past two years the Board of Supervisors has honored the community’s desire for an evening budget hearing,’ said Kyra Greene, executive director of the Center on Policy Initiatives, a San Diego think tank with ties to local labor unions. Public participation has been growing, with more than 1,000 people attending last year,” she said. ‘In light of that turnout, the board’s decision not to hold an evening budget hearing is a horrible blow to transparency and a terrible beginning to Kristin Gaspar’s leadership on the board.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

As Vice Chair Of The Board, Gaspar Introduced The 2018 Board Calendar, Which Did Not Include An Evening Budget Hearing

VIDEO [1:00:13]: According To Former Chair Dianne Jacob, The Vice Chair Customarily Put Together The Board Of Supervisor’s Meeting Calendar For The Following Year. “The Vice Chair, as you know, customarily puts together the calendar for the next year. Dec. 2017: Gaspar Recommended The Board Of Supervisors Calendar For 2018, Which Was Rejected By The Board. “SUBJECT: 2018 BOARD OF SUPERVISORS REGULAR MEETING CALENDAR (DISTRICTS: ALL) OVERVIEW This item is to adopt the 2018 Board of Supervisors regular meeting calendar. RECOMMENDATION (S) VICE-CHAIRWOMAN KRISTIN GASPAR Adopt the resolution: RESOLUTION SETTING THE DATES AND TIME FOR REGULAR MEETINGS OF THE SAN DIEGO COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS IN CALENDAR YEAR 2018. VIDEO [2:40:04]: Supervisor Cox Raised Concerns About The Calendar’s Lack Of An In-Person Evening Budget Hearing And Specific Dates For In-Person Community Enhancement Hearings In Gaspar’s Proposed Calendar. “We’ve historically had two days of [community enhancement] public hearings to allow everyone to come down and I realize it’s only a minute and a half or two minutes but I find that to be very informative in all the great things that are going on by a lot of our community organizations and nonprofits. [...] I still think it would be advisable to set aside a specific time, in addition to doing the video presentations, anybody that is applying to community enhancements to come down and have an opportunity to do a presentation separate from the other board deliberations because I think we’re going to find ourselves having a lot of those. [...] A couple years ago we were requested to have an evening budget hearing. I realize that’s kind of out of the norm for what we do on a daily basis but on the other hand, I think it’s something that we should extend to the public, an opportunity to those people that are working during the day that don’t want to take time off from work to come down and do a presentation or make their comments known, concerns known, in regards to the County’s budget. [...] I certainly think we shouldn’t shortchange the public to have an opportunity to come down outside of their normal work hours to address the Board of Supervisors in an evening session to deal with our $5.7 billion budget, and growing budget. [...] So I would move that we modify the calendar that we have before us to include an evening budget session and to provide an opportunity for community enhancement hearings to be presented at a designated time during the budget hearings.” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:40:04, [12/5/17] (VIDEO)

Gaspar Voted Against A Motion To Approve A Modified Version Of The Board Of Supervisors 2018 Calendar, Which Designated Specific Dates For Community Enhancement Hearings. “ACTION 31.2 ON MOTION of Supervisor Cox, seconded by Supervisor Roberts, the Board of Supervisors directed the Chief Administrative Officer to modify the Board of Supervisors 2018 Calendar to add dates for Community Enhancement Hearings on June 11, and June 12, to reschedule the Budget Hearing from June 12 at 9:00 a.m. to June 13 at 9:00 a.m., and to end the Budget Hearings on June 20. Gaspar Claimed There Were “Very Few Public Speakers” At The Previous Evening Budget Hearing, But More Than 1,000 Reportedly Attended

VIDEO [2:49:40]: Gaspar Said There Were “Several” Days And Budget Hearings That The Public Could Testify And Said There Were “Very Few Public Speakers” At The Previous Evening Budget Hearing. “SUPERVISOR JACOB: Vice Chair Gaspar? You started this. Go for it. SUPERVISOR GASPAS: I just want to point out that the decision has already been made to approve the portal. That was a 4-0 decision. This item today has to do specifically with the calendar. That discussion regarding the process took place with unanimous support of the Board. So it’s disappointing to hear some of the comments being made today. I know that it seems as though we’re limiting the ability for the public to speak but the reality is, with the current budget as being proposed, there are several days, and budget hearings, in which community groups could come down and testify before this Board. Now I want this Board to think back over the budget hearings that took place this last cycle, and you’ve been here a lot longer than I have, but apart from SEIU, which had a strong presence at all of our meetings, since we did have deliberations going on with contracts at the time, we had very few public speakers here to testify before us, giving us plenty of time during the scheduled public hearings presented in the calendar here before you for approval today for comments to be made. And certainly, adaptations could be made, and correct me if I’m wrong, if we had an unequal proportion of those wishing to come to the County and speak as part of community enhancement and very few people interested in taking advantage of the new portal as a system. So I think that there’s a way to accommodate for all speakers. Simply my observation that we had very few speakers outside of SEIU outside of the budget hearings. So I would just issue a substitute motion that we approve the calendar as presented today.” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:49:40, [12/5/17] (VIDEO)

KPBS: A Member Of The Public Testified That More Than 1,000 People Testified At The 2017 Evening Budget Hearing And More Than 350 Testified In 2016. “The fact is that people are coming to you to ask for basic needs, like food stamps and assistance with their rent — they probably don’t all have computer access. And so for you to say that you’re opening it up to more folks in the community through that medium, it totally shows how out of touch this board is,” said Martinez-Montes, whose group is a member of the Invest in San Diego Families coalition. Martinez-Montes told KPBS that organizations counted about 380 people in attendance at the evening budget meeting in 2016 and nearly 1,100 people in 2017.” KPBS, [2/14/18]

Gaspar Claimed That The SEIU, Who Supported The Evening Budget Hearing, Was Negatively “Spinning” The Board’s Previous Step To Implement An Online Budget Portal, Which Gaspar Recommended

San Diego Union-Tribune: The Board Previously Approved “Changes Allowing Grant Applications And Others To Submit Testimony Online” Rather Than Appear In-Person In Front Of The Board. “The discussion came up as the board approved changes allowing grant applicants and others to submit testimony online rather than travel to downtown San Diego to testify in person. Cox’s motion died when no other supervisor agreed to the idea.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said That It Was “Unfortunate” That The SEIU Was Negatively “Spinning” The Board’s “Innovative Step” Of Creating A New, Online Budget Portal. “Gaspar, who chairs the board, just announced she was running for Congress. She issued a statement criticizing the Service Employees International Union, which represents county employees, for advocating for a night meeting. ‘It’s unfortunate that the leadership of SEIU is spinning this in a negative way when the reality is our board has taken an innovative step to expand and enhance the way we receive testimony on the budget using the convenience of technology,’ the statement said. ‘Additionally, the budget portal and the 2018 board meeting calendar were both heard and voted on in public meetings.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Nov. 2017: Gaspar Recommended And Voted To Create An Online Budget Portal To Help Civil Society Communicate With The Board During Budget Discussions. “OVERVIEW The County of San Diego is committed to an open government by providing the public with information that is accessible and transparent. The growing use of technology allows us to expand these principals and make the process more effective and efficient. A well-informed citizenry is the backbone to a strong democracy and a government that remains accountable. In an effort to improve upon these goals, an opportunity exists to enhance the County’s annual budget process. By establishing an online portal that is dedicated to providing budget documents and receiving direct input on specific elements of the proposed operational plan, we can increase the visibility of information and consider input from a wider audience of residents, public agencies, organizations and stakeholders in the region. Today’s action will develop an online portal to expand public awareness and participation when it comes to the County’s annual operational plan, and update the process for requesting community enhancement funding RECOMMENDATION (S) CHAIRWOMAN JACOB AND VICE-CHAIRWOMAN GASPAS 1. Direct the Chief Administrative Officer to develop an online budget portal to enhance access, transparency and input. The online portal shall allow the public and organizations to electronically submit testimony on the proposed budget, as well as view all budget related documents and testimony. 2. Direct the Chief Administrative Office to update the Community Enhancement Program application process to allow organizations and stakeholders the ability to electronically provide presentations, provide links to videos they host, and other supporting documents. [...] ACTION: ON MOTION of Supervisor Horn, seconded by Supervisor Cox, the Board of Supervisors took action as recommended, on Consent. AYES: Cox, Jacob, Gaspar, Horn ABSENT: Roberts[.]” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, minutes, [11/14/17]

VIDEO [2:38:16]: Dec. 2017: Gaspar Said Creating An Online Budget Portal Would Bring “What Has Been A Rather Archaic Method Into The 21st Century.” “I was very pleased to bring forth with Chairwoman Jacob to streamline our budget process and bring what has been a rather archaic method into the 21st century. I remain very excited about this transition and am very grateful for the unanimous support of my colleagues as we voted 4-0 to move forward with our online budget portal as a way to enhance our community enhancement process.” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:38:16, [12/5/17] (VIDEO)

VIDEO [57:25]: Gaspar Said The Online Portal “Supplement” The Existing Community Enhancement And Budget Hearings. “Today’s item brings our process into the 21st century. I know that we all appreciate the time and the energy that our nonprofits spend and showing our Board the great work that they’re doing. I also believe that we can utilize technology to give these groups a portal to showcase their talent and enhance their applications without necessarily commuting down to our chambers to ask for money as part of the grant process. It’s a big county as you know, we encompass 4,526 square miles [...] Asking them to come and to speak for 90 seconds is quite a big ask considering this can take almost four hours out of their day. [...] It’s also important to note that this in no way precludes a group or an individual from coming to the Board of Supervisors and speaking during the budget or any other time. I think it’s important to note that this is something that would supplement our existing program and would allow an opportunity for a group to leverage technology, or they can come during the budget hearing as they always have, and give that presentation directly to the Board.” San Diego Board of Supervisors, [11/14/17] (VIDEO)

March 2014: Gaspar Opposed A New Online Tool That Allowed Encinitans To Submit Comments About The City And Said It Could Be Exploited By Activists

March 2014: Gaspar Reportedly Had “Significant Reservations” About Peak Democracy, A New Online Tool That Encinitans Could Use To Submit Comments About The City

March 2014: Gaspar Reportedly Had “Significant Reservations” About Peak Democracy, A New Online Tool That Encinitans Could Use To Submit Comments About The City. “Encinitas will become the first city in San Diego County to try out the online equivalent of ‘town hall’ meetings. Expected to launch within the next few months, the new online tool provided by the Berkeley-based company Peak Democracy will allow people to post comments about certain city issues directly onto the city’s website. [...] Councilman Mark Muir and Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said they had significant reservations about the Peak Democracy tool, saying it wouldn’t give the city a scientifically valid survey of residents’ views.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/7/14]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said The System Could Be Exploited By Activists Who Would “Rally The Troops” And Make Their Views More Than Others In Encinitas. “Gaspar said she thought the system could be easily exploited by activists who would ‘rally the troops’ to make sure the city heard more from them than from other people in the community. Cohen told them that Peak Democracy isn’t a survey or ‘voting’ tool, just a way to collect many more comments from a broader range of people than those who regularly go to City Council meetings.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/7/14]

Feb. 2015: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Had Concerns About Using An Online Community Participation System To Garner Opinions About A New Housing Proposal. “A debate over where high-density housing should be built in Encinitas stalled late Tuesday night when the City Council couldn’t agree on a list of proposed sites -- and decided instead to continue the discussion today. [...] Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir said they had substantial concerns with an online community participation system -- known as e-townhall -- used to create the new maps. They said few people actually participated in the process and thus the maps don’t reflect true community wishes about where housing should go.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 2/5/15]

After The City Council Voted To Terminate The City’s Contract For An E-Town Hall Service, Gaspar Said The “Product Absolutely [Had] To Go”

After The City Council Voted To Terminate The City’s Contract For An E-Town Hall Service, Gaspar Said The “Product Absolutely [Had] To Go.” “Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir have opposed the use of the Internet-based, comment-collection system, saying not enough people participated, and thus the results shouldn’t be considered a true assessment of residents’ views. ‘This product absolutely has to go,’ Gaspar said Thursday night as she described what it would take for her to support any of the housing planning options. Kranz, who supported the use of the Peak Democracy system, agreed the housing mapping program wasn’t easy to use and could benefit from some tweaking, but argued that the company created something unique for Encinitas. Instead of just collecting people’s comments on staff-produced housing proposals, Peak Democracy created an innovative system that let residents make their own housing plans and see what other people had done, he said.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 2/7/15]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Was Not Sure Whether Any Online Tool Could Provide Accurate Assessment Of Community Opinion

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Was Not Sure Whether Any Online Tool Could Provide Accurate Assessment Of Community Opinion. “The Encinitas City Council recently terminated its controversial contract with PeakDemocracy, a provider of online ways for people to comment on city issues. Council members decided last week to immediately cancel the company’s one-year contract, refund the company’s money and form a council subcommittee to review the city’s communication efforts. The vote was 4-1, with Council-woman Lisa Shaffer opposed. [...] Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir, who have long opposed the PeakDemocracy contract, said they weren’t sure information provided through the online system gave an accurate representation of community views. Muir said it wasn’t scientifically valid the way that a telephone survey would be. ‘Once you’re able to opt in/opt out, you change the dynamics of the polling,’ he said. Gaspar said she wasn’t certain whether any online tool could provide a valid assessment of community wishes, but said PeakDemocracy definitely wasn't." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/7/15]

Sept. 2016: Gaspar Later Praised A New Online Tool For Citizens To Comment On The Council Agenda

Gaspar On A New Tool For Citizens To Post Comments On The Council Agenda Online: "We're Just Trying To Do Everything To Allow Our Residents To Communicate In A Variety Of Ways." "People who don't have time to attend Encinitas City Council meetings, but still want to have their voices heard can now submit their comments on council agenda items via a new online tool. Launched late last week, the city's new eComment system is attached to the weekly agendas posted on the city's web-site, so people can read what council members will vote on and then directly submit their thoughts in the days leading up to the meeting, using an e-mail link. 'We're just trying to do everything to allow our residents to communicate in a variety of ways,' Mayor Kristin Gaspar said Monday, mentioning that the new system is part of a trio of online tools the city is starting to use." Gaspar Recused Herself From Voting To Rezone A Former Elementary School "Even Though She Didn't Have To," Which Resulted In A 2-2 Split That Denied The Development

Aug. 2011: Gaspar Recused Herself From A Vote That Resulted In Denying The Encinitas Union School District To Rezone A Former Elementary School For Residential Development "Even Though She Didn't Have To." "Despite acknowledging the city might lose in court, the Encinitas City Council has denied allowing a 2.8-acre former elementary school property two blocks from the beach to be rezoned for residential development. The 2-2 decision Wednesday night not to rezone the site of the old Pacific View Elementary School frustrated Encinitas Union School District officials, who had agreed in February to delay suing the city over the site so the two agencies could negotiate. [...] The vote Wednesday by the five-member City Council was complicated when Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar recused herself even though she didn't have to. The rezone needed four votes to pass entirely. Three would have allowed the district to take it to a public vote. It received support from Councilman Jerome Stocks, who acknowledged the city would likely lose in court, and Mayor James Bond. Councilwomen Maggie Houlihan and Teresa Barth voted no." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

Gaspar Claimed She Recused Herself Because The Issue Predated Her Tenure On The City Council

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Recused Herself Because The Issue Predated Her Tenure On The City Council. "Mayor James Bond voted against going to court. 'It's probably not the best use of taxpayer money for one public agency to litigate another public agency,' he said. Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar recused herself from the vote because she has said the issue predates her time on the council, and it would be inappropriate for her to step in now." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/5/11]

Gaspar Claimed She Recused Herself Because She Had Previously Refrained From The Issue. "Gaspar, elected in November, raised eyebrows of two council members when she recused herself. She said she had always stayed out of the Pacific View issue and felt it was inappropriate to weigh in now since she refrained from a related action in January. Houlihan and Bond questioned the move. Sabine said it was Gaspar's right to participate in the item if she wanted to. Gaspar, reached Thursday, declined to say how she would have voted on the Pacific View rezone, but said she stood by her decision to recuse herself." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was A Former Board Member Of Encinitas Education Foundation, Which Supported The Encinitas Union School District. “The 2-2 decision Wednesday night not to rezone the site of the old Pacific View Elementary School frustrated Encinitas Union School District officials, who had agreed in February to delay suing the city over the site so the two agencies could negotiate. [...] Gaspar, reached Thursday, declined to say how she would have voted on the Pacific View rezone, but said she stood by her decision to recuse herself. ‘I was not going to simply step in to cast a vote. I have to make sure there really is an independent proposal coming forward,’ said Gaspar, a former board member on the Encinitas Education Foundation, a private, nonprofit that supports Encinitas Union.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

Encinitas Elected Officials “Questioned” Gaspar’s Decision To Recuse Herself From The Controversial Vote

San Diego Union-Tribune: Two City Councilors And The Superintendent “Questioned” Gaspar’s Decision To Recuse Herself From The Controversial Vote. “Gaspar elected in November, raised eyebrows of two council members when she recused herself. She said she had always stayed out of the Pacific View issue and felt it was inappropriate to weigh in now since she refrained from a related action in January. Houlihan and Bond questioned the move. Sabine said it was Gaspar’s right to participate in the item if she wanted to. Baird, the superintendent, said he did not expect Gaspar to recuse herself. ‘It’s probably a vote that City Council members don’t want to be on either side of,’ he said. Gaspar said she does not shy away from controversial issues. ‘I think it’s an unfair criticism to say I simply step out of a contentious issue,’ she said. ‘That’s what we’re here for, that’s our job, it’s incredibly difficult for me to sit on the sidelines, I want to be there participating.’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 8/20/11]

The Encinitas Union School District Sued The City Of Encinitas For Denying The Rezoning

Nov. 2011: The Encinitas Union School District Sued The City Of Encinitas Over Its Decision To Deny A Rezoning Of A Former School Site For Residential Development. “Despite its admittedly slim chances in court, the city of Encinitas will defend itself in a lawsuit filed by the Encinitas Union School District to rezone a former school site for residential development. The Encinitas City Council voted 2-1 Wednesday to defend its two previous denials of what the school district considers its right under state law to rezone the old Pacific View Elementary School to the same as the surrounding residential neighborhood. The council most recently denied the district’s request in August in a 2-2 vote, despite concessions made by Encinitas Union to retain historical elements of the property. Ensuing negotiations between City Manager Gus Vina and school Superintendent Tim Baird to keep part of the property as a park failed, and the district announced last month it would sue the city.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/5/11]

Feb. 2016: Gaspar Recused Herself From Voting On A Council Matter And Said That David Meyer, The Attorney Representing DCM Properties, Which Was Suing The City, Was A Client Of Her Physical Therapy Practice. “Mayor Gaspar stated: ‘That I have just spoken to the FPPC and wanted to make the Council aware of a situation. Her concern was that the attorney that was retained to represent Mr. Meyer (DCM Properties, Inc.) in this lawsuit is not only an attorney that we use in our physical therapy practice but also happens to be a client of our physical therapy practice. Whenever we have matters appearing before the Council I always cross check our patient

data base and all the information we have on file to make sure a conflict does not exist. This was a little bit interesting because here it was an attorney representing and I really felt that it was important to seek the opinion of the FPPC on the matter of whether a conflict of interest would preclude my participation. I received a phone call back today from the FPPC providing me with a preliminary opinion that she does indeed have a conflict of interest and they are going to work with her to issue a written opinion as well but she wanted to share with you that information that she can't participate this evening and will have to recuse herself and will be pursuing the written opinion from the FPPC just to be on the safe side." Gaspar Recused Herself From Voting To Rename A Library After A Volunteer Because The Volunteer's Husband Directly Approached Gaspar About Donating $1.5 Million For The Honor

San Diego Union-Tribune: The City Council Decided Against Renaming Its Library After A Longtime Volunteer, Whose Husband, Steve Mizel, Offered A $1.5 Million Donation For The Honor. "The Encinitas City Council this week rejected a request to rename its downtown library after a longtime library volunteer whose husband offered the city $1.5 million for the honor. After much discussion Wednesday, the council voted 4-0 to decline the proposal from philanthropist Steve Mizel, saying the offer was extremely generous and that the city might be willing to rename part of the building after his wife, Patricia - but not the whole thing. Council members also said the contract Mizel wanted them to sign was too stringent and community opposition to the proposal too intense." San Diego Union-Tribune, [8/19/16]

Gaspar Abstained From The Vote Because She Reportedly Brought The Proposal "Directly To The Council, Bypassing The Standard City Staff Review Process" After Mizel Approached Her Privately About The Proposal. "Mayor Kristin Gaspar abstained from the vote. Steve Mizel had approached her privately about the proposal months ago, and she brought it forward directly to the council, bypassing the standard city staff review process and the county library system. That led to accusations that Encinitas was trying to secretly rename the library without any public involvement - a comment repeated by some people Wednesday night. On Thursday, Gaspar said she would reach out to the Mizel family, discuss the council's decision and stress how much Encinitas appreciates the offer and the nearly $1 million in matching money the family's foundation has given to the city's community grant program over the years" San Diego Union-Tribune, [8/19/16; Encinitas City Council Meeting Minutes, 1/13/16]

Gaspar Was Found To Have Benefited From Free Parking At Lindbergh Field Airport, A Perk The Airport Reserved For Elected Officials, But Claimed She Was Unaware Of The Perk. “Encinitas Mayor Jerome Stocks was surprised to learn that he took advantage of $210 worth of free parking at Lindbergh Field in March -- he had returned his complimentary pass a year and a half ago. ‘Some attorney somewhere said ‘You’ve got to report this as a gift,’?’ he said, referring to state disclosure forms for elected officials. ‘I mailed it back. Now I simply pay for parking and submit a receipt for reimbursement.’ Airport officials for years have handed out free-parking cards to local officials and former board members to thank them for their service and to promote Lindbergh Field. [...] All four of Stocks’ colleagues on the Encinitas City Council were reported as cardholders, even though none knew about or used the passes. Several were surprised they were on the list. ‘I don’t have one, and I’ve never applied for one,’ Councilman Mark Muir said. ‘I heard about them somewhere, but I don’t remember who brought it up. I was never interested, so I didn’t pay any attention to it.’ Deputy Mayor Kristin Gaspar said she learned about her pass from The Watchdog and quickly told the city to return it.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

Gaspar: “I Have A Policy Of Not Accepting Passes Or Free Tickets Of Any Nature And Always Pay My Own Way.” “Deputy Mayor Kristin Gaspar said she learned about her pass from The Watchdog and quickly told the city to return it. ‘I have a policy of not accepting passes or free tickets of any nature and always pay my own way,’ she said.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

The Airport Claimed They Waived Public Officials’ Parking Fees For Official Business, And Trusted That Officials Were On Official Business When They Parked For Free

A Spokesperson For The Airport Claimed The Airport Authority Waived Public Officials’ Parking Fees “When They Travel On Business” Instead Of Submitting Reimbursements. “Airport spokeswoman Katie Jones said the cards are a meaningful way to help politicians conduct public business. ‘The Airport Authority recognizes the value of our public officials’ work in supporting the airport’s interests at the state and federal levels,’ she said. ‘Rather than submitting reimbursements for their airport parking, which would ultimately be paid by taxpayer dollars, the Airport Authority waives their parking fees when they travel on business.’ Carl Luna, a political-science professor at Mesa College and the University of San Diego, said the program could have another purpose. ‘This makes the authority look like it’s buying political support with a nice little freebie,’ Luna said. ‘What’s next -- expedited VIP treatment in security?’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

The Spokesperson Claimed The Airport Trusted That Public Officials Were On Official Business When They Parked For Free. “According to airport policy, the passes are personally approved by President Thella Bowens. Jones said the annual passes are renewed automatically, and the airport trusts that cardholders are actually on official business when they park free -- rather than checking. All four of Stocks’ colleagues on the Encinitas City Council were reported as cardholders, even though none knew about or used the passes. Several were surprised they were on the list.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/27/12]

2017: Gaspar Voted To Consider Spending $2.9 Million To Renovate The San Diego County Supervisors’ Public Hearing Room

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Voted Against Reconsidering A Proposal To Renovate The San Diego County Supervisors’ Public Hearing Room. “Seven months after they voted down a $44.45 million proposal to overhaul their chambers, San Diego County supervisors are again considering major renovations to the auditorium where they hold their public meetings. Last year, supervisors voted against three plans ranging from $12.81 million to $44.45 million to overhaul their public hearing room. At their meeting Tuesday, they voted 3-2 to reconsider these proposals as well as a fourth, less-expensive option, in June. Supervisor Bill Horn voted against the plans last year but said the board’s decision on Tuesday allows them to consider all proposals, including the expense in detail, this spring. ‘I want to see it in context with all the things that would be out there, and what it would cost,’ he said. Supervisors Dianne Jacob and Kristin Gaspar voted against taking another look at the old plans.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 1/25/17]

Nov. 2013: During A City Event To Promote Refillable Water Bottles, Gaspar Touted Gaspar Physical Therapy’s Support Of Refillable Water Bottles While Displaying One Of Her Company’s Bottles On TV. “As TV cameras rolled and a smattering of local environmental advocates looked on, council members said they couldn’t believe how much media attention their water bottle issue has received in the past few days. Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer, who had proposed the city find ways to reduce the use of disposable water bottles, said she was stunned by the number of news stories and Internet commentary that resulted. [...] Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said the council only has held a few off-site meetings in recent years, so their disposable bottle use hasn’t been significant. However, her physical therapy business is a strong supporter of refillable bottles, she added, laughing as she proudly held up one of her company’s new bottles for the TV cameras.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/14/13]

Private Email

Gaspar Used A Private Email Account To Conduct City Business As A City Councilor

Gaspar Used A Private Email Account To Conduct City Business As A City Councilor. “San Diego City Attorney Jan Goldsmith has done it. So have Chula Vista Councilwoman Pamela Bensoussan, Encinitas Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Bill Horn, chairman of the county Board of Supervisors. There’s no telling how many elected officials use Gmail or Yahoo or other private email accounts for government matters, a ubiquitous tool that may or may not allow the transparency intended under the California Public Records Act. [...] Gaspar regularly uses a personal email account to communicate with city staff, reporters and others. She said she expects more privacy there than on a city account, even if the subject is city business.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 7/19/11]

Gaspar: “There Aren’t Rules That Govern Personal Email Accounts...If A Constituent Emails Me At My Personal Address, That’s There Right To Do So.” “‘There aren’t rules that govern personal email accounts,’ Gaspar said. ‘The rules cover, of course, the city email account. But there is some allowance for me to be a private person as well. If a constituent emails me at my personal address, that’s their right to do so.’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 7/19/11]

Gaspar Said That “There Should Be Zero Tolerance For Elected Officials Behaving Improperly” And Campaigned Against Her Opponent’s Misconduct Scandal

Sept. 2016: Gaspar Campaigned Against Her Democratic Opponent By Highlighting A Misconduct Scandal In His Office And Said “There Should Be Zero Tolerance For Elected Officials Behaving Improperly.”

“Gaspar said she will continue to press Roberts on a scandal that hurt his office last spring. Four of his staff members abruptly resigned and made a series of allegations against the supervisor, including a charge that he offered a subordinate a raise and promotion in exchange for misleading a county inquiry into his office. Three filed formal complaints that the county later settled for $310,000. The District Attorney’s Office investigated but declined to press charges. Roberts said he did nothing wrong beyond making bad hires. ‘There should be zero tolerance for elected officials behaving improperly while they are in office and we need to expect more from our leadership,’ Gaspar said.” [San Diego Union Tribune, 6/9/16]

Gaspar: “When You Are Up To Your Ears In Alligators, Sometimes You Forget Your Mission Is To Drain The Swamp”

March 2016: Gaspar At Her First State Of The City Address: “When You Are Up To Your Ears In Alligators, Sometimes You Forget Your Mission Is To Drain The Swamp.” “Gaspar did not specifically mention the Cardiff Rail Trail in her 30-minute State of the City Address on March 22, held a week before a March 30 special meeting in which the council is expected to address the future of the current alignment of the trail, among other things. ‘We’re addressing it next week, and I felt this wasn’t the appropriate venue to address the topic,’ Gaspar said following her speech. Gaspar framed her state of the city address around on an old idiom: ‘When you are up to your ears in alligators, sometimes you forget your mission is to drain the swamp,’ which she used as a call for city officials to not lose sight of the long-term mission (the swamp) at the expense of short-term demands (the alligators).” Coast News Group, [3/23/16]

Term Limits

Oct. 2013: Gaspar Voted Against Placing Term Limits On Members Of Encinitas' Volunteer Commissions, Claimed It Would Increase Vacancies

Oct. 2013: Gaspar Voted Against Placing Term Limits On Members Of The City's Volunteer Commissions. "People can serve two terms on city traffic, planning or environmental commissions, but then they're going to need to step down for a bit, the Encinitas City Council decided this week. The council on Wednesday voted 3-2, with Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir op-posed, to place term limits on six of the city's seven volunteer commissions. The exception will be the Youth Commission, where members are appointed to one-year terms. Other city commissioners now serve two-year terms, but that's about to shift to three years, starting in 2014 when the new term limit proposal also is expected to go into effect." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 10/18/13]

Gaspar Claimed That Placing Term Limits On The Commissions Would Increase The Problem Of Vacancies. "Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer said that having term limits would encourage new people to apply for the various commission posts and eliminate the council's temptation to repeatedly appoint the same people to the same spots. 'It's hard to turn down an incumbent when you know they've done a good job,' she said, adding that the decision will become easy when term limits are in place. But Gaspar said the city already has a problem with vacancies on some of its commissions, particularly one de-voted to senior citizen issues. Setting term limits will only increase that problem, she said." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 10/18/13]

Jan. 2018: Rep. Darrell Issa Said Gaspar Should Wait To Run For Congress, Citing Inexperience

Jan. 2018: Rep. Darrell Issa, Who Announced He Would Not Seek Re-Election In California's 49th Congressional District, Said Gaspar Should Wait To Run For Congress. "Issa praised Gaspar but said she lacks the experience Harkey has. 'She just barely started as supervisor and I think she's got time,' Issa said. 'Four or six, eight years from now the seat will be available and I think that she should look at it then.' But Jason Roe, Gaspar's campaign manager dismissed Issa's comments. 'I would say the graveyard is littered with men who told Kristin Gaspar to wait her turn,' he said." San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/25/18]

Darrell Issa endorsed California Board of Equalization Member Diane Harkey to succeed him in California's 49th District. Issa endorsed Harkey in an interview Fox5 San Diego. 'She understands the finance and what it takes to fund companies in California,' Issa said. Issa also said Harkey supports efforts to make government more transparent and knows her constituents from her time in the state Assembly and as mayor of Dana Point, The San Diego Union-Tribune reported. 'I don't go with the flow, I represent my constituents,' Harkey said in the Fox5 interview with Issa. Issa announced he would not seek re-election earlier this month, setting off a slew of Republicans jumping in the race to replace him." San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/25/18]

Maggie Houlihan

2013: Gaspar Was The Only Encinitas Councilmember To Vote Against Allowing Banners Picturing The Late Councilwoman Maggie Houlihan From Being Displayed On Highway 101

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was The Only Councilmember To Vote Against Allowing Banners Picturing The Late Councilwoman Maggie Houlihan, Who Died Of Cancer, From Being Displayed On A Local Highway. "Images of the late Councilwoman Maggie Houlihan will now be allowed to appear on banners that line Highway 101 from the downtown to Leucadia, Encinitas City Council members decided this week. In a 4-1 vote with Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar dissenting, the council told the arts group 101 Artists' Colony on Wednesday night to resubmit its application to post about 100 banners along Highway 101 with the image of Houlihan, who died last year of endometrial cancer." [San Diego Union Tribune, 4/14/12]

Gaspar: “As Decision Makers, Oftentimes We Have To Strip The Emotion Out Of Decision Making.”
“Gaspar said that while she did not object to the photos of Houlihan, she would rather have seen the council stand by the city manager’s decision made in December. ‘As decision makers, oftentimes we have to strip the emotion out of decision making,’ Gaspar said. ‘We have to strip this issue down and recognize that a process was not followed.’ Allowing 101 Artists’ Colony to resubmit an application for banners that are already hanging goes against the standards of the city and smacked of ‘pandering to threats of litigation,’ Gaspar said. Councilman Mark Muir said he was voting in favor of allowing for a new application because he liked the idea of honoring Houlihan and not of going to court.” [San Diego Union Tribune, 4/14/12]

The Artists Wanted To Honor Houlihan By Putting Her Picture On The Back Of The Art Banners. “Last year, organizers weren’t all that upbeat about their relationship with city officials. They had come into conflict with the city after they decided to honor former Councilwoman Maggie Houlihan by putting her picture on the back of the arts banners. Houlihan, who died of cancer in fall 2011, was a longtime supporter of local art projects, and banner project organizers said they wanted to honor her. But Encinitas city officials said the memorial image was a ‘political likeness’ and couldn’t be displayed on the light poles under city policy.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 2/14/13]

Roe Claimed He Was A “Senior Advisor To Marco Rubio’s 2016 Presidential Run” And “Deputy Campaign Manager For Mitt Romney’s Presidential Campaign.” “A Washington veteran, Jason was a senior advisor to Marco Rubio’s 2016 presidential run, serving as National Media Spokesman. In 2007, he was Deputy Campaign Manager for Mitt Romney’s presidential campaign, and worked on the campaigns of George W. Bush in 2000 and Bob Dole in 1996. Politico: Roe Was A “Former Romney Aide And Veteran Republican Strategist.” “The presidential race Mitt Romney planned for years crashed to a halt Thursday, stopped in its tracks by the surprisingly durable John McCain campaign and by Romney’s failure to quell concerns about his shifts on key issues, his political persona and his Mormon religion. [...] GOP operatives said Romney was acknowledging a bitter reality. ‘Numerically it wasn’t there,’ said Jason Roe, a former Romney aide and veteran Republican strategist. ‘We’re are a point now where the Democrats are going to be tearing each other apart for seven weeks, so Republicans actually have an opportunity to unite behind one candidate.’” Politico, [2/7/08]

Jason Roe And His Wife, Patricia Roe, Had Business Interests In Recreational Marijuana, But Gaspar Said She Was Unaware Of Their Interests, And That Her Public Record Against Marijuana Was Well Known

Jason And Patricia Roe, Who Ran A Political Consulting Firm That Advised Gaspar During Her Board Of Supervisor Campaign, Had Business Interests In Recreational Marijuana While She Was Hired By Gaspar. “While political consulting guru Jason Roe worked to elect some of the most prominent Republicans in San Diego County and across the nation, his wife and consulting partner was venturing into the business of marijuana, anathema to many conservative politicians. Patricia Roe, a minority owner of the campaign firm Revolvis Consulting until she resigned in December, was a founding officer at Luxe Management, a limited-liability company established in August 2016. She also was involved in Luxe Holistics, incorporated a month earlier. [...] Throughout that year, her political consulting business represented former Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar in her successful run for the county Board of Supervisors. Earlier this year, Gaspar was the swing vote on a 3-2 board decision to ban pot farms and dispensaries in San Diego County, where 57 percent of San Diego County voters supported the 2016 ballot measure to allow recreational use of the drug.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/16/17]

Gaspar Claimed She Did Not Know About Roe’s Business Interests, But That Her Public Record Against Recreational Marijuana Was Already Well Known. “In a statement Thursday, Gaspar said she did not know a Revolvis partner was pursuing a dispensary at the same time the company advised her campaign. ‘I was completely surprised to find out that Mrs. Roe had any connection to the marijuana industry,’ the statement said. ‘I just learned about this in the last 24 hours. Columnist Logan Jenkins Said He Interviewed Gaspar About “12 Hours” After She Voted For Trump In The Republican Primary And That She Called “Trump Is The Polar Opposite Of Me.” “On the night of the June primary, Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar was in a celebratory mood. She’d soundly beaten Escondido Mayor Sam Abed, another Republican challenger, and appeared the hands-down favorite in November against Dave Roberts, the incumbent Democratic county supervisor who’d failed to win 40 percent of the primary vote. In the blush of the moment, Gaspar answered a reporter’s question honestly, which in politics, according to a famous axiom, is usually a gaffe. Asked how she’d voted in the presidential primary, Gaspar said she’d filled in the bubble for Trump, the only Republican candidate still in the race. Gaspar repeated House Speaker Paul Ryan’s line of reasoning that it was important that GOP principles ‘move forward.’ About 12 hours later, I interviewed Gaspar and she said that ‘Trump is the polar opposite of me,’ referring to the bullying style of The Donald.” San Diego Union Tribune, Logan Jenkins Column, [8/26/16]

But she also said she wasn’t ‘over the moon for anybody in this election. It’s kind of sad.’ After polls closed for the June 7 primary, she said she decided to vote for Trump. ‘I cast a vote for Trump today. I think that’s important,’ Gaspar said in an interview with KPBS. Over the summer her position changed, well before the recent accusations. And they're keeping their respective courses after reports that Trump groped woman on a flight 30 years ago, more recently kissed two others against their will, and groped a fourth a decade ago. These accusations didn't change anything for his clients, Roe said. 'Kristin took a position against Trump two months ago,' he wrote in an email Thursday. Farm Land

Nov. 2013: Gaspar Voted To Allow Development On What Opponents Of The Decision Called The Largest Remaining Farmland In Encinitas

Nov. 2013: Gaspar Voted Against Overturning A Planning Commission Decision To Allow Development On What Opponents Of The Decision Called The Largest Remaining Farmland In Encinitas. “The council’s decision came late in the night after hours of public testimony and debate on another agenda item -- an appeal of a city Planning Commission decision. Former Mayor Sheila Cameron asked the council to overturn a Sept. 19 commission decision allowing the nonprofit Leichtag Foundation to put offices within part of the 68-acre Ecke Ranch property along Saxony Road. Cameron and her supporters argued that the commission’s decision would eventually result in the end of agriculture on what is now the largest remaining bit of farmland in the city. Leichtag representatives and their supporters said their offices would only occupy a small portion of the property -- about 4,000 square feet of the 20,000 square feet of building space at the site. They stressed that they would continue farming the land and would emphasize new agricultural trends, including hydroponics. The council denied Cameron’s appeal in a 3-2 vote, with Gaspar and Muir opposed. While more than a dozen public speakers testified during the farmland item, only three people spoke on the bag ban and all of them supported the proposal.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 11/22/13; Encinitas City Council, minutes, [11/20/13]

Urban Agriculture

Gaspar Voted To Bar Individuals From Selling Homegrown Vegetables At Temporary Roadside Stands Without A Permit

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Voted To Bar Individuals From Selling Homegrown Vegetables At Temporary Roadside Stands Without A Permit. “People who want to sell a few homegrown tomatoes or peppers at temporary roadside stands in Encinitas may be in luck this summer. The city’s long-debated Urban Agriculture Ordinance looks to be in place in time for peak tomato and zucchini production. Among other things, the new ordinance will allow people to set up small fruit, flower and vegetable stands - less than 120 square feet - in front of their homes without needing a city permit. In a 3-2 vote, with Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir opposed, the City Council gave its initial approval to the ordinance Wednesday night. After a second council vote and a waiting period, the new rules will take effect.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 5/13/16]

Gaspar Said She Opposed The Proposal Because Neighbors Would Have To Look At Roadside Stands For Most Of The Day. “Gaspar said she liked most of the proposed ordinance, except for the section that would allow people to set up small, ‘temporary’ produce stands in their front yards. The new regulations will allow someone to put out a stand for up to 12 hours a week, and that means neighbors could be stuck looking at the stand for at least an hour every day, she noted. ‘That’s not OK with me,’ she said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 5/13/16; Encinitas City Council, minutes, [5/11/16]

Gaspar Voted Against An Ordinance That Would Create “A New Administrative Permit For Urban Agriculture Activities”

May 2016: Gaspar Voted Against An Ordinance That Would Create “A New Administrative Permit For Urban Agriculture Activities.” “The Encinitas City Council has taken the first step toward enacting an ordinance that would craft new urban agricultural policies in the city. And after two years of debate and discussion, the council was still divided on its passage. The City Council voted 3-2 to approve the introduction of the ordinance, which, among other things, creates a new administrative permit for urban agriculture activities and spells out the following agricultural activities that property owners could do by right or with the new ag permit, including: • Have farms smaller than an acre • Host farmers markets with 15 or fewer vendors at churches, schools and community centers, • Set up fruit stands of 120 square feet or smaller and operate them 12 hours a week. [...] Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir voted against the ordinance. The two said there were aspects of the ordinance they could support, such as the streamlined permitting process, which is cheaper ($250) and less arduous than the minor use permit that residents traditionally had to obtain for these activities. But it was other aspects of the code — namely the expansion of where people could have beehives in the city — that concerned both council members.” Coast News Group, 5/12/16; Encinitas City Council, minutes, [5/11/16]

June 2015: Gaspar Voted To Approve A $96 Million Operating Budget With A Six-Year Capital Improvement Plan. “The Encinitas City Council unanimously adopted a $76 million operating budget and its six-year capital improvement budget, but voted down an 11th-hour request by the Sheriff’s Department to hire an additional deputy.” Coast News Group, [6/11/15; Encinitas City Council, minutes, 6/10/15]

2014: Gaspar Voted Against Approving The City’s Budget For 2015

June 2014: Gaspar Voted Against Approving The City’s Budget For 2015. “Reflecting the ongoing conflict over spending $10 million to purchase the former Pacific View Elementary School, a divided Encinitas City Council voted Wednesday to approve the city’s proposed budget for the coming fiscal year. The budget discussion overshadowed the council’s approval of election paperwork that will put a medical marijuana initiative on the city’s November ballot. The measure proposes to set standards for dispensaries, and if approved would allow such clinics to open in certain areas of the city. The council’s hand was forced on that issue by a 2012 petition drive that gathered enough signatures to qualify for a public vote. The panel approved the paperwork without discussion Wednesday, after Councilman Mark Muir asked City Attorney Glenn Sabine whether the council had any choice in the matter and Sabine replied no. The budget vote was 3-2, with Muir and Mayor Kristin Gaspar opposed. Both noted that they have repeatedly raised concerns about the proposed plan and said they could not support it now.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/12/14; Encinitas City Council, minutes, [6/11/14]

Gaspar Said She Thought Areas Of The Budget Were Not Aligned With The Community’s Priorities.

2017: Gaspar Proposed And Voted For An “All-Out Ban” On Medical And Non-Medical Marijuana Facilities In Unincorporated County Areas, After A Majority Of Voters Backed Legalization

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Proposed A Ban On All Medical And Non-Medical Marijuana Facilities In Unincorporated San Diego County Areas

Jan. 2017: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Proposed An “All-Out Ban” On Marijuana Businesses In Unincorporated Areas, After The Board Originally Met To Consider A Package Of Regulations For Medical Marijuana Facilities. “The San Diego County Board of Supervisors voted today to consider a ban on all marijuana businesses in unincorporated county areas, with plans to vote on the proposal before a moratorium expires in March. The board met to consider a package of regulations for medical marijuana facilities in the unincorporated areas and whether to extend a moratorium on new dispensaries for an additional year, but Vice Chairwoman Kristin Gaspar instead proposed an all-out ban.” City News Service via Southern California Patch, [1/25/17]

The Motion Passed On A 3-2 Vote. “‘It’s our responsibility to protect what we have control over in an uncertain environment,’ Gaspar said. ‘At the risk of quickly becoming the most unpopular supervisor in this room, I’d like to make a motion to have staff bring back a ban ordinance for board consideration.’ After a two-hour hearing involving county staff, community groups and dozens of individuals, the motion passed on a 3-2 vote, with Supervisors Greg Cox and Ron Roberts dissenting.” City News Service via Southern California Patch, [1/25/17]

Jan. 2017: Gaspar Moved To Ban On “All Medical And Non-Medical Marijuana Facilities, Collectives, Dispensaries, And Cultivation Within The Unincorporated Areas Of San Diego County.” “ACTION: ON MOTION of Supervisor Gaspar, seconded by Supervisor Horn, the Board closed the Hearing and directed the Chief Administrative Officer to return to the Board, with an Ordinance to place a ban on all medical and non-medical marijuana facilities, collectives, dispensaries, and cultivation within the unincorporated areas of San Diego County, including an amortization clause for those that have been determined to be vested or are legally operating, for a period of five years with the ability of one 6-month extension. San Diego Union Tribune: Column: Gaspar Reportedly Said She Would “Respect The Will Of The Voters” When Pressed About Marijuana Farming During A Candidate Forum. “During a candidate forum Monday night hosted by the San Diego Farm Bureau, Larson asked the two District 3 supervisorial candidates — Supervisor Dave Roberts and Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar — if they would support the cultivation of marijuana in the county’s unincorporated areas. In their haste to express their disapproval of recreational marijuana, the candidates fumbled Larson’s question, which was about farmers making money, not preserving public safety. San Diego Union-Tribune: The Board Passed The Ban Only “Four Months After A Majority Of San Diego County Voters” Supported Legalizing And Regulating Recreational Marijuana. “Four months after a majority of San Diego County voters supported a statewide proposition to legalize and regulate recreational marijuana, the Board of Supervisors on Tuesday passed a ban on cannabis shops and farms in unincorporated areas. In November, 57 percent of county voters backed Proposition 64, a ballot measure that makes recreational marijuana legal, regulated, and eventually, taxable. It also gave local governments the ability to regulate where cannabis facilities could be located, or ban them entirely. On Tuesday, supervisors exercised that option and voted 3-2 to stop almost all new medical and recreational marijuana facilities from opening. Three dispensaries that are operating must close by 2022. Two that are in the permitting process may still open, but must also close in five years.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/15/17]

57 Percent Of San Diego County Voters Previously Voted In Favor Of Proposition 64, Which Legalized Marijuana In California. “The board’s efforts to curtail the opening of dispensaries and cultivation centers comes after 57 percent of voters across San Diego County supported Proposition 64, a ballot measure that legalizes, regulates and eventually taxes marijuana. While the proposition allows for recreational use and homegrown pot, it also allows cities and counties to ban dispensaries and cultivation centers within their jurisdictions.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/28/17]

Gaspar Claimed That Cities In Her District Were Not Interested In Additional Marijuana Dispensaries, But 65 Percent Of Voters In Encinitas Supported Proposition 64, “The Biggest Spread Among All 18 Cities Within The County.” “Gaspar said she needed to make safety a priority and made the motion that her colleagues later passed. ‘Clearly, my cities have spoken and haven’t been interested in additional dispensaries,’ she said, referring to some actions to ban dispensaries. Election results, however, show that a majority of constituents in each of the cities within Gaspar’s district supported Proposition 64. In Encinitas, the city where Gaspar served as mayor before becoming a supervisor earlier this month, 65.23 percent of voters supported Proposition 64, the biggest spread among all 18 cities within the county. Gaspar Said Marijuana Legalization Was Not A “Moral Issue” But A Question Of Managing “Unintended Consequences”

Gaspar On Marijuana Legalization: “This Isn’t A Moral Issue For Me. What Is At Hand Here Is Really A Decision On Can I Manage The Unintended Consequences?” “The board was presented with a variety of zoning options before the ban was suggested by newly sworn-in Supervisor Kristin Gaspar in January. Gaspar said her office received a lot of feedback from the community after she proposed the ban, including several inappropriate comments. ‘Communicating messages that ‘Supervisor Gaspar should be shot’ for my opinion on this matter, that I am an ‘unfit mother’ and another example being that I ‘want to send cancer patients to jail’ are just not reasonable comments,’ she said. ‘This isn’t a moral issue for me. Gaspar Flip Flopped On Proposition 47 To Reduce Low-Level Felonies To Misdemeanors

Oct. 2016: Gaspar Said Proposition 47 “Placed Criminals Back Onto Our Streets”

Gaspar Said AB 109 And Proposition 47 “Placed Criminals Back Onto Our Streets Creating A Tremendous New Burden On Our Local Law Enforcement – Absent Funding From Sacramento.” “Q: What’s the county doing right and wrong in terms of social services, especially mental health services? A: AB 109 and Prop. 47 have placed criminals back onto our streets creating a tremendous new burden on our local law enforcement - absent funding from Sacramento. In addition, voters could further intensify the problem through the passage of Prop. 57 this November. We need to work closely with law enforcement to understand the rising impacts on our county and ensure they have the resources needed to keep our residents safe and that our mental health services are adequate.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 10/30/16]

Proposition 47 Reduced Some Low-Level Felonies To Misdemeanors And Used Savings To Invest In Mental Health And Substance Abuse Treatment Programs. “Proposition 47 was a voter-approved initiative on the November 2014 ballot that reduced certain felony drug and theft crimes to misdemeanors and enacted the Safe Neighborhoods and Schools Act, which designates that 65 percent of the State corrections savings from Proposition 47 shall be used to fund mental health and substance abuse treatment programs to reduce recidivism of people in the justice system. The Board of State and Community Corrections (BSCC) is the administrator of the Proposition 47 Grant Program, and on November 18, 2016, the BSCC released the guidelines for counties to apply for funding through a competitive process. Policing

Following Riots In Ferguson, Missouri, Over Policing, Gaspar Said Encinitas Citizens Reported “High Levels Of Satisfaction” With Law Enforcement

Sept. 2014: San Diego Union-Tribune: During A Candidate Forum, Gaspar Said There Were Bad Examples Of Policing Behavior In The County, But Encinitas Citizens Reported “High Levels Of Satisfaction” With Law Enforcement. “The five people seeking the Encinitas mayor’s spot and the four folks running for City Council offered some varied viewpoints this week on city policing efforts and the competency of city employees. The candidates weighed in on several unusual issues -- ranging from water quality to city planning -- during the first candidate forum of the election season held Tuesday at Ada Harris Elementary School in Cardiff. [...] Several city candidates said they thought city government needed an overhaul and one said he thought the county Sheriff’s Department, which provides policing services in Encinitas, was becoming too militaristic in its approach to training and equipment purchases. He argued that the recent riots in Ferguson, Missouri, could happen in San Diego County because deputies have access to armored vehicles and train in a combative style. [...] Kristin Gaspar, the current appointed mayor who was elected to the council four years ago, said that bad examples of policing behavior can be found in America, but that Encinitas residents report high levels of satisfaction with their policing services when asked in community surveys. She said the city has made some mistakes when it came to hiring consultants to produce reports that just ‘collected dust,’ and said she would fight to stop that.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/18/14]

The City Council unanimously gave its initial approval to the proposal late Wednesday night, but one councilman said he did so with reservations. ‘Is there something that might limit their ability to do this?’ Councilman Tony Kranz asked city employees, later add-ing, ‘I’m concerned that it might be abused.’ Noting that some people slip away to hotels to engage in behavior that might be considered ‘inappropriate’ but not illegal, Kranz said deputies could use this information later against a person.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/21/13]

Because you didn’t have the opportunity to plan, as the accountant that spoke articulately this morning – there was no opportunity to plan over a period of time. And so getting hit with an 88 percent increase, getting hit with a 168 percent increase, that’s significant with no time to adjust your business models. So I think that your concerns are heard. This is not something that I would be able to accommodate for in my own business. I have my challenges with this too. We have increasing burdens coming down from the state. We’re dealing with adjustments on the minimum wage and as business owners we’re all trying to find a way to make it work. Now if we have a full cost recovery board policy that’s fine by me, but by all means we have to adhere to that policy so that we give our businesses time to adjust and at the same time, a reexamination of the fees may only lead us to the same place we’re in today.” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 51:10, [3/22/17] (VIDEO)

Feb. 2017: Gaspar Did Not Vote To Conduct A Feasibility Study Of A Community Choice Aggregation (CCA) Program, Which Could Provide Lower Fees And Cleaner Energy Than San Diego Gas & Electric

Feb. 2017: No Supervisors Seconded Supervisor Jacob’s Vote To “Prepare A Community Choice Aggregation (CCA) Feasibility Study,” Which Was Recommended By The County Planning Commission. “RECOMMENDATION: PLANNING COMMISSION The Planning Commission considered the consultant Report and recommended that the Board consider 11 of the 17 recommendations with modifications to items 1 and 4 shown in italics below for CREP Phase Two. 1. Community Choice Aggregation Programs Allowed Local Government To Decide “Which Power Plants To Contract With Or Invest In.” “The arrangements, known as community choice aggregation, or CCA, is being adopted by an increasing number of cities and counties statewide. They typically take the authority to buy and sell power away from utilities. Those companies continue to maintain the pipes and wires that deliver the electricity while municipal government officials — or their appointees — decide which power plants to contract with or invest in.” San Diego Union Tribune, [2/16/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: A Feasibility Report Conducted By The City Of San Diego Found That CCAs “Could Deliver More Green Energy While Costing Residents And Business Less Money Over Time.” “A government-run alternative to San Diego Gas & Electric could deliver more green energy while costing residents and businesses less money over time, according to a report released Wednesday by the city of San Diego. The document sparked the latest round of jockeying by environmentalists, fiscal hawks, backers of investor-owned utilities and others, with each group espousing what it sees as the benefits, detriments or unknown factors of community choice aggregation — commonly called CCA.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/12/17]

The Report Stated That CCAs Could Be Cheaper And Provide More Green Energy Than San Diego Gas & Electric. “Under community choice, a utility still operates the poles and wires needed to deliver energy, but elected officials control the buying and selling of power for their jurisdiction. If a city or county votes to form or join such a program, ratepayers can opt out if they prefer to stick with the plans and rates offered by their traditional utility. Specifically, the new report found that a community choice program has the potential to deliver cheaper rates than SDG&E’s while providing 50 percent renewable energy by 2023 and 80 percent green power by 2027. SDG&E currently offers about 43 percent renewable energy to its customers, and under state law must get to 50 percent by 2030.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/12/17]

Feb. 2017: Gaspar Asked What The “Rush” Was To Implement CCAs And Said It Was “Often Hard” To Find Jurisdictions With CCAs That Had Cleaner Power And Lower Rates

VIDEO [2:11:29]: Gaspar Asked What The “Rush” Was To Implement CCAs. “In my view, after completing extensive review, there are many jurisdictions in that feasibility process stage. There are fewer jurisdictions that have actually implemented and have a CCA operational. So in my view, the CCA is still in its infancy compared to where it will be over the next few years. [...] So having said all of this, I think my review can be summarized in three words and perhaps one question. The three words would be ‘What’s the rush?’ and my former city manager will tell you words that I frequently spoke to him: ‘Let’s get it right and not rushed.’ Because there are indeed times when being a trailblazer is of clear value. Is this one of those times?” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:11:29, [2/15/17] (VIDEO)

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said Feasibility Studies Should Be Done “When You’re Ready To Move Forward And Pull The Trigger.” “On Wednesday, the supervisors were considering the CCA study as part of a range of potential projects considered to be environmentally friendly — from taking better stock of wind-energy projects in unincorporated communities to raising the public’s awareness about use of solar-panel systems. The broader effort is known as the Comprehensive Renewable Energy Plan, which has been in the making since 2013. Newly minted Supervisor Kristin Gaspar, former mayor of Encinitas, opposed the plan to study how CCA would impact rates for residents in the county. ‘In my view, when you’re ready to move forward and pull the trigger, that’s when you do the feasibility study,’ Gaspar said at the board’s meeting in downtown San Diego. ‘I ask you, ‘What’s the rush?’ she added. ‘Let’s get this right, not rushed.’” San Diego Union Tribune, [2/16/17]

Registered lobbyists for Sempra Energy in the County of San Diego, as of February 2018. San Diego County Board of Supervisors, Registered Lobbyists Board letter, [2/1/18]*

Feb. 2017: Sempra Energy Representatives Publicly Spoke Against The CCA Feasibility Proposal At The San Diego County Supervisors Meeting. “The county Board of Supervisors on Wednesday blocked efforts to explore a public energy program that would provide residents and businesses an alternative to San Diego Gas & Electric. [...] During the session, the San Diego County Taxpayers Association, several contractors with Sempra Energy — San Diego Gas & Electric’s parent company — and others challenged the value of conducting a feasibility study about community choice aggregation. ‘Today, we’re told that if government is in control of procurement, we’re going to have more renewables and lower emissions. But actual experience makes this conclusion highly questionable,’ said Frank Urtasun, regional vice president of external relations for Sempra Energy.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/17/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: San Diego Gas & Electric Was “Arguably The Biggest Opponent” Of CCA And Was “The First Investor-Owner Utility In The State To Form A Shareholder-Funded Lobbying Group To Weigh In On Community Choice.” “Arguably the biggest opponent of CCA proposals in San Diego County is SDG&E. This year, it became the first investor-owned utility in the state allowed to form a shareholder-funded lobbying group to weigh in on community choice. Investigators at the utilities commission said they are looking into whether the SDG&E lobbying arm began meeting with elected officials before it was cleared to do so. Sempra officials have denied any wrongdoing. The creation of a lobbying division followed the Legislature’s decision in

2011 to bar investor-owned utilities from using ratepayer dollars to speak out on CCAs. The lawmakers took action after a bitter fight between Marin County and Pacific Gas & Electric over establishment of the state’s first CCA program.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/12/17]

Sempra Energy, The Parent Company Of San Diego Gas & Electric, Created “Sempra Services Corp,” A “Marketing Arm” To Lobby Against The CCA Proposal. “In California, a growing number of local governments have embraced or are exploring CCA as a way to limit use of fossil fuels in favor of renewable energy in the fight against climate change. These programs have routinely delivered more green power at prices equal to or lower than what utilities charge. After a bitter fight between Marin County and Pacific Gas & Electric over establishing the state’s first CCA, the Legislature in 2011 barred utilities from using ratepayer dollars to lobby on such programs. State law does allow investor-owned utilities to set up shareholder-funded marketing divisions for this purpose, and last year, SDG&E and its parent company, Sempra Energy, became the first in the state to officially pursue creation of such an entity. They named their new division Sempra Services Corp. The marketing arm cleared a key hurdle in August, but is still seeking final approval from the California Public Utilities Commission. State regulators have rejected multiple blueprints drafted by SDG&E for how the marketing division would remain independent from the utility. The CPUC is considering a third revision to the company’s so-called compliance plan.” San Diego Union Tribune, [2/17/17]

Members Of The “Clear The Air Coalition,” Whose Members Include Sempra Energy Lobbyists, “Urged Caution” Against Replacing San Diego Gas & Electric For The County’s Utilities. “The green energy program — which would account for 30 percent of all reductions under the plan — sets up a controversial decision for the supervisors. Much like in the city of San Diego, elected officials in the county will need to decide whether to start a government-run alternative to San Diego Gas & Electric or rely on a program designed by the investor-owned utility. Members of the Clear the Air Coalition, which includes lobbyists paid by the shareholders of SDG&E’s parent company Sempra Energy with some of the region’s most powerful groups — from the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce to the Downtown San Diego Partnership to the San Diego County Taxpayers Association — urged caution in the decision of whether to abandoning the utility. ‘I think it’s very important that we do not sign up for a risk that we don’t know how to quantify,’ said Haney Hong, president and CEO of the San Diego County Taxpayers Association.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/14/18]

Dec. 2014: Gaspar Voted To Create A Subcommittee To Explore Ways To Prevent Rising Sea-Levels In Encinitas, But Said She Did Not Want To “Set Up An Expectation” For Funding A Consultant. “In the coming months, an Encinitas City Council subcommittee will look into ways to protect Encinitas’ coast from sea-level rise. The full council voted unanimously Dec. 17 to set up a subcommittee, made up of council members Tony Kranz and Lisa Shaffer and two representatives from the Encinitas Environmental Commission, to develop a plan addressing coastal vulnerabilities. [...] And the subcommittee will tackle how to best grapple with bluff erosion. [...] Councilman Mark Muir said it’s an important topic, but expressed concerns that the agenda report stated the sub-committee’s work could lead to the city hiring a special consultant who was an expert on coastal erosion. Mayor Kristin Gaspar echoed him. ‘I don’t want to set up an expectation that funding for a consultant will be there,’ she said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 12/28/14; Encinitas City Council, minutes, [12/17/14]

Droughts

Gaspar Opposed The Encinitas City Council’s Decision To Impose A Level 2 Drought Response And Called For Lowering Drought Water Rates So Ratepayers Were Not “Unduly Burdened”

Sept. 2010: Letter To The Editor: Gaspar Wrote A Letter Opposing The Encinitas’ City Council’s Decision To Adopt A Level 2 Drought Response Instead Of A Level 1 Response. “I listened to council member comments at the recent hearing on drought levels and as an Encinitas resident, I appreciate and sympathize with concerns for long-term water supply shortage issues. I agree conservation is important. But I believe transparency and advocacy for the ratepayers are of highest importance. I encourage residents to review our drought response conservation ordinance. This ordinance clearly indicates the council should have adopted a Level 1 response.” San Diego Union-Tribune, Kristin Gaspar letter to the editor, [9/9/10]

Letter To The Editor: Gaspar Said City Councilors Should Update The Current Conservation Ordinance To “Reduce Drought Water Rates So That Ratepayers Are Not Unduly Burdened.” “I encourage residents to review our drought response conservation ordinance. This ordinance clearly indicates the council should have adopted a Level 1 response. I would suggest that if the council wants to stay at Level 2 drought condition to send a mandatory conservation message. But they should also update the ordinance to reflect how decisions will be made in the future and reduce drought water rates so that ratepayers are not unduly burdened.” San Diego Union-Tribune, Kristin Gaspar letter to the editor, [9/9/10]

Letter To The Editor: Gaspar: “Lowering The Drought Water Rates Is Best For Our Customers And Their Wallets.” “The vast majority of water districts in the county do not impose drought rates under elevated response levels. If the desire is to be like other agencies, we are definitely not following suit. I would argue that we should not do what other agencies do, but rather do what is best for our customers. Lowering the drought water rates is best for our customers and their wallets.” San Diego Union-Tribune, Kristin Gaspar letter to the editor, [9/9/10]

Gaspar Brought Forward A Request To Approve More Than $430,000 To Upgrade A Fire Detection Network, Operated By The University Of California At San Diego. “On Jan. 23, the County of San Diego Board of Supervisors voted to approve an investment in technology developed at the University of California San Diego that will improve the County’s fire detection and response capabilities. The County unanimously approved $437,174 to make critical upgrades to the High-Performance Wireless Research and Education Network (HPWREN) and Alert Wildfire network, operated by Scripps Institution of Oceanography and the San Diego Supercomputer Center at UC San Diego. [...] ‘In an era of more extreme weather conditions, we have a duty to arm the brave firefighters sent to the front lines with the kind of accurate and timely information this technology will provide,’ said San Diego County Supervisor Ron Roberts, who along with Chairwoman Kristin Gaspar brought forward this request. ‘The HPWREN network proved its value again during the Lilac Fire, giving our firefighters real time views of the blaze from key locations throughout North County,’ added Chairwoman Gaspar. ‘I want to thank my colleagues for once again stepping up to fund an expansion of this valuable regional resource.’” University of California - San Diego, press release, [1/23/18]

June 2012: Gaspar Voted Against Approving A New Mini-Fire Station In Olivenhain, An Area Where Residents Reportedly Pushed For Greater Fire Protection

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Voted Against Approving A Lease For A New Mini-Fire Station In Olivenhain, An Area Where Residents Reportedly Had “Pushed For Greater Fire Protection.” “The Encinitas City Council voted 4-1 this week to approve a lease to establish a mini-fire station at an office building in Olivenhain. The station, at 770 Rancho Santa Fe Road, will initially be staffed 12 hours a day and will eventually transition to 24-hour coverage after tenant improvements are done. The proposed five-year lease begins July 1. [...] Residents of the sparsely populated community in the eastern part of town have long pushed for greater fire protection. The average response time for firefighters is seven minutes.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/30/12]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Claimed The Project Was Not Fiscally Responsible And That Fire Personnel Would Occupy The Building Before Improvements Were Finished. “The city would pay $1,700 a month in rent to the Rancho Santa Fe Road and Associates LLC, the owners of the building, until April 2013, when the station transitions to full time and rent increases to $2,200. Beginning July 2013 the monthly rental payment will increase 4 percent annually. [...] Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar cast the dissenting vote Wednesday. She felt the project wasn’t fiscally responsible since the start-up, tenant improvement and operational costs have not been finalized. She also was concerned about the rent increase of 4 percent, saying a typical industry figure for a standard rental increase was more along the lines of 2.5 to 3 percent. Gaspar also took issue with the fact that fire personnel would be occupying the building before improvements have been done.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/30/12]

May 2013: Gaspar Voted To Hire A New City Communications Specialist, But Did Not Hire Three New Firefighters

San Diego Union-Tribune: The City Council Approved The Hiring Of A “Communications Specialist” For $136,700 A Year, But Did Not Hire Three New Firefighters. “Encinitas will spend up to $136,700 to acquire a ‘communications specialist’ to help it organize its publicity in the Internet age, but it won’t be hiring three more firefighters this coming fiscal year. City Council members gave their initial OK to the media expert post and a thumbs-down to the Fire Department’s re-quest Wednesday night during the unveiling of the city’s proposed budget for the new fiscal year, which begins July 1. The spending plan is expected to be put to a final vote June 12.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/28/13]

Gaspar Said The City Council Was Promised That The New Fire Station Would Not Require More City Firefighters. “One area where money won’t be spent is on new firefighters. Four of the five council members said Wednesday night that the city’s Fire Department should continue to cover shifts at the recently opened mini-fire station on Rancho Santa Fe Road with overtime hours rather than adding three new firefighter positions as department officials requested. The fifth council member, retired Fire Chief Mark Muir, supported the Fire Department’s request. Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said council members were promised before the new station opened a year ago that it wouldn’t require extra city employees. She and Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer said the department needs to explore short-term solutions and do more research on how existing work shifts can be restructured to avoid adding new employees.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/28/13]

Gaspar Said There Needed To Be More Long-Term Emphasis On Fire Safety In San Diego County

June 2016: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said There Needed To Be More Of A Long-Term Emphasis On Fire Safety. “‘There should be zero tolerance for elected officials behaving improperly while they are in office and we need to expect more from our leadership,’ Gaspar said. On policies, she said she’ll emphasize public safety. The county seems to be focused on short- and medium-term public safety projects, she said, adding that there needs to be more emphasis on long-term goals, particularly with fire safety.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/8/13]

June 2014: The City Council Voted To Reject A Consultant’s Recommendation To Issue An Environmental Study On Banning Single-Use Plastic Bags, Effectively Approving To Move Forward With The Ban.

“Encinitas will move forward with plans for an ordinance banning single-use plastic bags by Sept. 1, instead of waiting to do a full-scale environmental study of the idea, the City Council decided Wednesday night. [...] ‘We are a coastal city that has a direct responsibility to protect our marine environment,’ Councilman Tony Kranz said as he explained why he wanted to pursue the bag ban now and seek an exemption to the environmental report.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/26/14]

Gaspar Voted To Issue The Study And Said The County Should Not “Cherry Pick” Which Environmental Standards To Follow. “By a 3-2 vote, the panel rejected a consultant’s recommendation that the study be ordered. Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir voted no. [...] Gaspar said she may not agree with some of the consultant’s findings, but said the city shouldn’t seek an exemption to its own greenhouse gas emission standards in order to pursue the bag ban. The council shouldn’t ‘cherry pick’ when it comes to the standards it will follow, she said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/26/14]

A Fellow City Councilor Called The Consultant “Uber-Conservative.” “Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer called the report by Rincon Consultants ‘uber-conservative,’ saying it makes assumptions that reusable bags have far more of an environmental impact than they do in reality. Nov. 2013: Gaspar Voted Against Banning The Distribution Of Plastic Bags

Nov. 2013: Gaspar Voted Against A City Ordinance To Ban Single-Use Plastic Bags. “Encinitas will create its own ban on single-use plastic bags, instead of waiting for state legislators to vote on weaker restrictions early next year, the City Council decided this week. The environment ‘can’t wait for the state to get its act together,’ Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer said Wednesday night as the council asked city staff to draft a bag ordinance similar to one approved by Solana Beach in 2012. Solana Beach bans the use of plastic bags at grocery stores, food vendors, pharmacies and retail stores and mandates a 10-cent charge for paper bag use. The Encinitas council voted 3-2 to pursue plastic bag restrictions, with Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir opposed.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/22/13]

Gaspar Voted Against The Proposal Because She Wanted To See Where The State Senate’s Bill To Ban Plastic Bags “Play[ed] Out.” “Muir and Gaspar said they wanted to wait to see what happens to a plastic bag bill that the state Senate is expected to consider in early 2014. ‘For me, timing is of the essence here and I’d like to see how (Sen. Alex) Padilla’s bill plays out,’ Gaspar said. But the council majority said the time had come to act. Encinitas first considered creating its own plastic bag ban five years ago, but held off out of fear that the city would be sued. Councilman Tony Kranz said Wednesday that the proposed Senate bill has holes and Encinitas should enact the ‘more robust’ ban used by Solana Beach.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/22/13]

Nov. 2016: Gaspar Was Absent For A City Council Vote That Unanimously Banned The Use Of Polystyrene Cups And Food Containers In Encinitas. “Encinitas will become the second city in San Diego County to ban the use of polystyrene coffee cups and takeout food containers, a year after it began barring the distribution of single-use, plastic shopping bags. The City Council voted 4-0 Wednesday, with Mayor Kristin Gaspar absent, to prohibit the use of the white plastic foam products. The new city ordinance will require a second council vote, and once that step is taken, the ban will go into effect six months later.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/10/16]

March 2015: While Gaspar Was Mayor, Encinitas Agreed To Pay A $430,851 Fine Over Storm Water Runoff

March 2015: While Gaspar Was Mayor Of Encinitas, The City Agreed To Pay A $430,851 Fine Over Stormwater Runoff After Two Years Of Negotiations. “After two years of negotiations, Encinitas has agreed to pay the full $430,851 state fine for twice letting sediment-filled stormwater flow off a city park construction site and into San Elijo Lagoon, state officials announced Thursday. Under the terms of the tentative settlement agreement, the city will pay the full fine, but nearly half of the money -- $206,393 -- will be diverted to a San Elijo Lagoon habitat restoration project, said Rebecca Stewart, a sanitary engineering associate with the San Diego office of the state’s Regional Water Quality Control Board. [...] ‘Clearly, we’re disappointed with the amount of the fine that was leveled,’ Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar said Thursday afternoon. She added that while city officials are not happy about the fine amount, they are glad the state let them give half the money to the San Elijo Lagoon project. And, she added, the city has learned ‘some valuable lessons along the way’ about tightening its construction project monitoring efforts.” San Diego Union Tribune, [3/6/15]

Gaspar Declined To Issue A Proclamation In Support Of Reducing Gun Violence Following A Mass Shooting In San Bernardino

Dec. 2015: Gaspar Declined To Issue A Proclamation To Reduce Gun Violence Following The San Bernardino Shooting Because It Was Too Politically Divisive

Dec. 2015: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Declined To Issue A Proclamation That “Called For The City To Commit To Doing What It Could To Reduce Gun Violence.” “An anti-gun violence activist is crying foul after Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar declined to issue a proclamation that called for the city to commit to doing what it could to reduce gun violence, which Gaspar called too politically divisive. Steve Bartram, a board member of the San Diego County chapter of the Brady Campaign to Prevent Gun Violence, who has helped organize the National Vigil to End Gun Violence’s local event the past three years, requested Gaspar issue the proclamation, which he said was even more pertinent in the wake of the recent massacre in San Bernardino.

[...] In addition to declaring the day as a day of ‘remembrance for all victims of gun violence,’ the proclamation also encouraged ‘each of us to honor our peacemakers and renew our commitment to the prevention of such suffering in the future.’” Coast News Group, [12/8/15]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said The Proclamation Did Not Have A “Link” To Encinitas And “Focused More On Broader Issues And Statements.”

“Reached this week, Gaspar said she declined the proclamation because it focused on the broader issue of gun violence and did not have a clear and obvious link to Encinitas, which she said is the rule of thumb she uses to determine whether to accept or decline proclamation requests. In her declining, Gaspar said she left the door open for Bartram to submit a more narrowly focused proclamation request. While the city does not have a uniform policy on proclamations, Gaspar said this has been the practice of past mayors, including her immediate predecessor, Teresa Barth. ‘I have declined a few requests from groups, organizations, and individuals in my first year as Mayor. In each instance, it was offered for the request to be rewritten to demonstrate a clear and obvious link to Encinitas,’ Gaspar wrote in an email.

‘Unfortunately this request focused more on broader issues and statements.’” Coast News Group, [12/8/15]

Continued the statement, ‘This race has a strong Democrat and a strong Republican running; neither has voted against the Second Amendment as Gaspar has done,’ referring to Democratic incumbent Dave Roberts and GOP Escondido mayor Sam Abed. But Gaspar beat Abed for second place and now faces Roberts in the fall. Which Could Reduce Health Care Coverage For As Many As 31,000 People In CA-49

Final Tax Bill Eliminated Central Affordable Care Act Provision, Leading To 13 Million Fewer Americans With Insurance. “The individual mandate is part of the Affordable Care Act, and removing it was a top priority for Trump and congressional Republicans. April 2014: Gaspar Voted To Propose Revisions To The City’s Smoking Laws That Give E-Cigarettes Equal Weight To Cigarettes And Cigars. “Encinitas will put electronic cigarettes, or ‘e-cigs,’ on equal footing with traditional cigarettes, and ban their use at parks, beaches and restaurants. The City Council unanimously gave its initial approval last Wednesday to proposed revisions to the city's smoking ordinance, emphasizing that existing restrictions on cigarette and cigar use also apply to the new electronic smoking devices. [...] Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said she had horrible allergies and can't be around smoke. She said she's not opposed to people using the electric devices -- she wishes her cigarette-smoking brother would make the switch. However, she added, she supports the new restrictions, saying there should be 'some boundaries with the devices.'" San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/2/14]

Affordable Housing

Sept. 2017: Gaspar Voted To Create A $25 Million Innovative Housing Trust To Increase Affordable Housing Opportunities In San Diego County

Sept. 2017: Gaspar Voted To Create A $25 Million Innovative Housing Trust To Increase Affordable Housing Opportunities In San Diego County. “On June 20, 2017 (21), the San Diego County Board of Supervisors directed the Chief Administrative Officer to return to the Board with an ordinance that would create an interest bearing Innovative Housing Trust Fund (Fund) and establish criteria for the use and distribution of the monies in this fund. The purpose of the Fund is to increase affordable housing opportunities throughout San Diego County through the construction, acquisition, and/or rehabilitation of single and/or multi-family housing for low income households. The Fund will include an initial investment of $25 million and be administered by the Health and Human Services Agency, Housing and Community Development Services. [...] ACTION: ON MOTION of Supervisor Roberts, seconded by Supervisor Jacob, the Board of Supervisors took action as recommended, introducing the Ordinance for further Board consideration and adoption on October 10, 2017. VIDEO: 2:11:00: June 2017: Gaspar Said San Diego County Could Not “House Our Way Out Of Homelessness” And Said Only Providing Housing Would Not “Address The Root Causes Of Homelessness” Or “Reliance On Government Assistance.” “Our region receives over $18 million per year in federal homelessness assistance and currently that money must be spent to house a very important but narrow population – the chronically homeless. The current approach adopted by the federal government suggests the only intervention that ends homelessness is housing. However, we cannot house our way out of homelessness in San Diego. That is an incremental and pragmatic approach. While it will likely reduce the number of people physically sleeping on the streets, I am not convinced it will address the root causes of homelessness or the reliance on government assistance and taxpayer subsidized housing. It should be our goal to move people into housing and self-sufficiency and out of homelessness and dependency. With this innovative housing trust fund, the County of San Diego will have the unique flexibility our region really needs to pilot some truly innovative work and housing models free from federal government regulations.” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, 2:11:00, [6/20/17] (VIDEO)

July 2014: Gaspar Voted Against Requiring That Low-Income Units Within Some Proposed Developments “Be Closer In Size To The Market-Rate Units.” “Opponents of the state’s density bonus law, which lets builders squeeze more units into their projects than would otherwise be allowed, celebrated late Wednesday as the Encinitas City Council tightened some city development standards. Most of the revisions garnered unanimous support from council members, who said they wanted to act now because community dissatisfaction with some recent housing projects that fall under the law has been so intense. [...] On Wednesday night, the council unanimously agreed to four proposed changes, including one that requires city planning employees to ‘round down’ rather than up when calculating a project’s allowable housing density. The council also voted 4-1, with Gaspar opposed, to require that low-income units within the proposed developments be closer in size to the market-rate units. Gaspar Called For “High-Quality” Housing That Protected The Community’s Character And Cutting Down Government Bureaucracy As Ways To Address The Affordable Housing Crisis In San Diego County. “Q: What should the county do to address the current housing crisis? A: San Diego is suffering from a housing affordability crisis. Sadly, the likelihood of our children being able to stay in San Diego is dwindling. Our region’s ability to attract young entrepreneurs and start up businesses critical to economic vitality is declining. Additionally, diversity in housing options for our aging population is extremely limited. Addressing this issue will take a multi-prong approach. We must increase the housing stock through the construction of high-quality housing throughout the county that protects the character of existing communities. Our policies need to focus on economic growth as a means to provide stable, good paying jobs throughout the region. Lastly, 47 percent of the cost to build a house in the city of San Diego is government bureaucracy which leads to higher housing prices and inferior projects.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/30/16]

Zoning

Density Bonus Laws

July 2015: While Gaspar Was Mayor, Encinitas Was Ordered To Pay $200,000 In Legal Expenses In A Settlement With The Building Industry Association Over A Zoning Law

While Gaspar Was Mayor Of Encinitas, The City Was Ordered To Pay The Building Industry Association Of San Diego County $200,000 To Cover Legal Expenses Stemming From A Lawsuit Over Zoning. “The city of Encinitas is lifting restrictions it enacted last year on residential developers who want to exceed zoning limits on certain properties by including affordable housing units -- a practice allowed under state law. The about-face is part of a settlement the city reached Wednesday with the Building Industry Association of San Diego County, which sued Encinitas in October over changes to the housing regulations. The city also agreed to pay the building association $200,000 to cover its legal expenses. The council announced the deal Wednesday after a closed-session vote. The decision was 3-2, with Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir voting no. [...] Gaspar said that she voted against the settlement because it didn't ‘provide much-needed closure for the community on several key issues’ and left Encinitas open to future housing development lawsuits. ‘In addition to the $120,000 the city has already invested in defense of the lawsuit without resolve, this settlement leaves us absent protection against future litigation, and we have now handed the BIA $200,000 to potentially aid in fighting the city on density bonus,’ she said.” San Diego Union Tribune, [7/9/15]

The Building Industry Association Of San Diego County Sued Encinitas For Revising “Density Bonus” Laws That Allowed Them To Build More Homes On Lots If They Provided Additional Units For Low-Incoming Housing. “Encinitas is trying to settle a lawsuit filed against it by the Building Industry Association of San Diego County and is asking the association to offer input on how the city can meet low-income housing needs. [...] The association sued the city last year after Encinitas changed its regulations regarding what are termed ‘density bonus’ projects -- projects where developers receive special incentives, such as permission to put more homes than might ordinarily be allowed on a lot, if they will set aside some of those additional units for low-income people. Part of state law, the density bonus regulations aim to increase the amount of housing available to the state’s neediest residents.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 4/24/15]

The City Council “Directed City Planners To Begin ‘Rounding Down’ Rather Than ‘Rounding Up’ When Calculating How Many Homes Are Allowed On A Given Lot In Density Bonus Projects.” “In response to multiple campaigns by people unhappy with density projects in their neighborhoods, particularly the Desert Rose project in Olivenhain, the council agreed last summer to change the way it handles such projects. Among other things, the council directed city planners to begin ‘rounding down’ rather than ‘rounding up’ when calculating how many homes are allowed on a given lot in density bonus projects.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 4/24/15]

Growth-Initiative

2103: Gaspar Supported Writing The City Council’s Ballot Statement In Opposition To A “Growth-Control” Initiative, Which Would Be Voted On Via Ballot Measure, In A Private Meeting

2013: Gaspar Reportedly Had “Unanswered Questions” About A “Growth-Control” Proposal To “Require A Public Vote To Change A Property’s Zoning Or Increase Its Allowable Housing Density.” “The Encinitas City Council decided this week to commission a study on a citizens growth-control initiative that has gathered

enough signatures to qualify for a special election if the council declines to adopt it outright. ‘I believe this is the prudent thing to do -- to order the report,’ Mayor Teresa Barth said, and then later added, ‘I would prefer to do this right, rather than quickly.’ The proposed initiative would require a public vote to change a property’s zoning or increase its allowable housing density. It would also set a citywide building height limit of 30 feet and expand the city’s public notification requirements for development proposals [...] Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said she had a large list of unanswered questions about the initiative. Her questions included everything from what effect the initiative would have on attracting new businesses to town to what the long-term cost would be of regularly holding elections on development proposals.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/5/11]

March 2013: Gaspar Supported Writing The City Council’s Ballot Statement In Opposition To A “Growth-Control” Initiative, Which Would Be Voted On By The Public Via Ballot Initiative, In A Private Meeting.

“The Encinitas City Council took the highly unusual step Wednesday of writing a ballot statement from the dais that spells out the city’s argument against a growth-control initiative that will go to Encinitas voters in June.

[...] Council members debated whether to do the task with the public watching. A council subcommittee tried earlier this month to draft a ballot argument during two public meetings and failed. On Wednesday night, council members Mark Muir and Kristin Gaspar sought to have the subcommittee meet privately and come up with the ballot argument, which council members would each decide to sign.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/29/13]

Gaspar: “We’ve Already Let The Opposing Team Into The Locker Room, But Let’s Not Hand Over Our Playbook.”

“‘We’ve already let the opposing team into the locker room, but let’s not hand over our playbook,’ said Gaspar, who served with Mayor Teresa Barth on the subcommittee. But Barth, who has campaigned for years to open council subcommittee meetings to the public, said she would not sign any argument produced in such a meeting. ‘I refuse to meet in private on this issue,’ she said. Council members Tony Kranz and Lisa Shaffer said they also wanted the ballot argument created in a public meeting.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/29/13]

The Opposition Statement Argued That The Proposal Could Increase City Limits In Residential Areas And Nullify Special Community Planning Documents.

“The council’s new opposition statement declares that the initiative could result in raising city limits in residential areas and nullifying special community planning documents. It ends by declaring that the council is committed to making some changes to city regulations to ‘fulfill the spirit of Proposition A -- the right to vote on up-zoning -- without the potential adverse consequences’ the initiative could create. Among other things, members are considering eliminating an exemption that allows them to approve major zoning changes without a vote of the people if the proposed development contains a significant public benefit.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/29/13]

Voters In Encinitas Approved The Growth-Control Initiative. “Former Encinitas mayor Sheila Cameron said voters sent a strong message to city officials in June when they approved the growth-control initiative known as Proposition A and created the 30-foot height limit.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/29/13]

Home Size

Sept. 2015: Gaspar Voted Against A Proposal To Restrict Home Sizes To Prevent People From Buying Smaller Homes In Older Neighborhoods And Developing Mansions

Sept. 2015: Gaspar Voted Against A Proposal To Restrict Home Sizes To Prevent People From Buying Smaller Homes In Older Neighborhoods And Developing Mansions. “Encinitas will explore ways to curb the construction of oversized homes that neighbors call ‘McMansions,’ while attempting to balance the rights of property owners. Councilman Tony Kranz, who brought the idea forward at a council meeting last week, said people who own smaller homes in the city’s older neighborhoods shouldn’t have to worry that someone will buy a neighboring home, demolish it, and then build a new structure that towers over all the other houses. ‘I just don’t think that’s good for the community,’ he said. His proposal to restrict home sizes divided the council on Wednesday. Council members voted 3-2, with Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Mark Muir opposed, to direct the Planning Commission to explore the idea and bring back some recommendations.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/5/15]

Gaspar: “The Moment You Start Suddenly Talking About Decreasing A Homeowner’s Property Value, We’re Going To Have Some Problems.” “Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer, who voted with the majority, said she supported the concept but had some concerns about whether the proposed new restrictions might impact home remodeling projects as well as new home construction. If a couple wants to build an addition to their home to accommodate their growing family, they’re not going to be happy if the city bans them from doing so, she said. Gaspar said she and Shaffer were on the same side when it came to that issue, adding that restrictions limiting home sizes will outrage many property owners. ‘The moment you start suddenly talking about decreasing a homeowner’s property value, we’re going to have some problems, I can tell you that,’ she said. ‘So, I would say tread lightly on any ordinance that you’re looking to put in place.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [9/5/15]

Homelessness

Gaspar Said She Would Prioritize Fighting Homelessness As Supervisor

Jan. 2017: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Would Focus On Mental Health Care Services And Programs To Fight Homelessness. “Without much fanfare, Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar took the oath of office in late December and she continues her preparations to become just the second new San Diego County supervisor in 24 years. While she doesn’t have much of a precedent to follow before her term starts on Monday, she is poised to take a different course than her predecessor, outgoing Supervisor Dave Roberts, and her future colleagues on the board. She said she won’t make as many appearances at community groups and civic organizations as Roberts was well-known for, and she plans to have a strong focus on the county’s mental health care services and programs to help homeless people. It’s an emphasis that is shaping how she’ll spend her day, who she’ll hire to her staff and what sort of policies she may propose.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/7/17]

Gaspar Said Most Of Her Staffers Would Conduct Work Related To Mental Health Care And Ending Homelessness. “While other supervisors have assigned staffers to handle different policy topics, whether it’s land use or public safety or social services, Gaspar said that nearly all of the people she hires will do some sort of work related to mental health care and ending homelessness as a portion of their responsibilities. Her staff likely won’t include a land-use policy expert like other supervisors because nearly all of her north coastal district is composed of incorporated cities that make their own urban planning decisions, she said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/7/17]

Gaspar Said Tackling Homelessness Did Not Necessarily Mean Spending More Money, But “Linking People To Services And Getting Them Back On Their Feet”

Gaspar Said Tackling Homelessness Did Not Necessarily Mean Spending More Money, But “Linking People To Services And Getting Them Back On Their Feet.” “During the campaign, Gaspar highlighted dealing with homelessness and mental health as among her key issues, and she said they will be a big focus of her upcoming term on the Board of Supervisors. On her first day, she met with San Diego Mayor Kevin Faulconer to discuss homeless issues. Tackling homelessness doesn’t necessarily mean spending more on the problem, she said, but instead critically assessing available services. ‘We’re spending a fortune on this issue. Is there a better way?’ she said. ‘It’s about linking people to services and getting them back on their feet.’” Del Mar Times, [2/9/17]

Gaspar Said The Ramifications Of Propositions 47 And 57, Which Resulted In The Release Of State Prison Inmates, Would Be A Challenge To Fighting Homelessness

Gaspar Said Propositions 47 And 57, Which Would “Result In The Release Of State Prison Inmates,” Would Be Another Challenge In Tackling Homelessness. “We’re spending a fortune on this issue. Is there a better way?’ she said. ‘It’s about linking people to services and getting them back on their feet.’ Another challenge will be dealing with the ramifications of Propositions 47 and 57, two voter-approved measures that will result in the release of state prison inmates, Gaspar said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/9/17]

Proposition 47 Reduced Some Low-Level Felonies To Misdemeanors. “Proposition 47, the ballot initiative passed by California voters on November 4, 2014, reduces certain drug possession felonies to misdemeanors. It also requires misdemeanor sentencing for petty theft, receiving stolen property and forging/writing bad checks when the amount involved is $950 or less. No one is automatically released from state prison because of Proposition 47. The new law allows people who are already serving a felony conviction for these crimes to petition the court for resentencing. In addition, Proposition 47 allows a person who has completed his/her sentence for the specified offenses to file an application before the trial court to have the felony conviction reduced to a misdemeanor.” California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, accessed [2/28/18]

Proposition 57 Was A Ballot Measure That Increased Parole For Non-Violent Offenders, Established New Good Behavior Programs, And Required Judges To Determine Whether A Juvenile Would Be Tried In Adult Court. “What will Proposition 57 do? Proposition 57 includes three major components designed to improve the juvenile and adult criminal justice system in California. • It will require judges, rather than prosecutors, to determine whether juveniles charged with certain crimes should be tried in juvenile or adult court. • It establishes a parole consideration process for non-violent offenders, as defined by California Penal Code, who have served the full term for their primary criminal offense and who demonstrate that they should no longer be considered a current threat to public safety. • It will give inmates the opportunity to earn additional credits for good behavior and participation in rehabilitative, educational, and career training programs so they are better prepared to succeed and less likely to commit new crimes on the outside.” California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation, Proposition 57 Frequently Asked Questions, [5/1/17]

2016: Gaspar Introduced A Homeless Recovery Plan That Included New Hires, Public Audits, And An Increase In Services

Oct. 2016: Gaspar Said She Introduced A “0-1-2-3 Homeless Recovery Plan” To Combat Homelessness In San Diego County That Included A New Homeless Coordinator, Public Audits, And Increase In Services. “Q: What’s the county doing right and wrong in terms of social services, especially mental health services? [...] As a result of these legislative changes, I have significant concerns that the county is getting behind on addressing our growing homeless population, putting accountable plans in place, and deploying resources efficiently given the changing dynamics. That is why I have introduced a 0-1-2-3 homeless recovery plan for San Diego County. Zero nights on the streets for children, women, families or veterans. They are on the streets, they get a clean, safe room, immediately. Support for a homeless coordinator to centralize overlapping city, county, and private programs to save money and improve services. Two yearly outside, public audits of the books and performance of the programs to hold them accountable. Three services under one roof: addiction treatment, job placement and safe shelter with bathing and cleaning facilities.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/30/16]

July 2017: A Pilot Program To Tackle Homelessness That Gaspar Proposed As Mayor Was Renewed By The Encinitas City Council. “Encinitas has renewed a pilot program aimed at housing some of the city’s chronically homeless people and homeless veterans after the program exceeded its expectations. The City Council recently approved allocating $107,000 to reauthorize the Opening Doors Project, a partnership between the city and Community Resource Center that housed 61 homeless people — a total of 27 households — in its first year. [...] Originally proposed by former Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar, the program pairs homeless with a housing navigator at the Community Resource Center, who performs a housing assessment and matches them to available housing resources.” Coast News Group, [7/6/17]

2016: Gaspar Voted To Pay For A $108,000 City-Funded Pilot Program To Fight Homelessness

April 2016: Gaspar Voted To Pay For A $108,000 City-Funded Pilot Program To Fight Homelessness. “Encinitas will attempt to find housing for much of its homeless population through a new $108,000, city-funded pilot project in the coming year. The City Council voted unanimously Wednesday pay for the program, proposed by the Community Resource Center and Interfaith Community Services - two northern San Diego County social service organizations. The first step would be hiring a full-time social worker to be a ‘navigator’ - someone who meets with homeless individuals on the streets, identifies their needs, and walks them through the steps to obtain housing, representatives for both groups said. [...] In addition to paying for a social worker, the project would set aside money for one-time payments to landlords who agree to accept new tenants that were formerly homeless. The city is putting $15,000 into that program to entice land-lords to participate.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/29/16]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Said She Was Glad To Support The Proposal And With Issues Like Homelessness, People “Feel Defeated Before We’ve Even Started.” “Encinitas Mayor Kristin Gaspar said she was glad to support the proposal and that it offers hope to what can seem like an overwhelming problem. With issues like this, people ‘feel defeated before we’ve even started,’ she said. Councilman Mark Muir said he would support the proposal, but that he worried it might encourage more homeless people to come to Encinitas. Councilman Tony Kranz said he wasn’t fearful that would happen and Gaspar said the city could always stop participating after the trial period ended, if the program didn’t work out as hoped.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/29/16]

Gaspar Refused To Sign The Letter Urging The County To Support A Welcoming Community Initiative, And Requested That The Deputy Mayor Sign It Instead

VIDEO [0:53:53]: Gaspar Objected To Sending A Letter To San Diego County With Her Signature, And Requested That The Deputy Mayor Sign It Instead. “My discomfort level actually that I share with you is on the letter to the County that had my signature, and it appeared as though that it was supported by the whole Council by being on the letterhead. So I wanted to request that it be on our City of Encinitas letterhead and perhaps the Deputy Mayor sign that letter that goes to Supervisor Roberts or indicate the vote on that letter. I think the first is probably a cleaner way to do it.” Encinitas City Council Meeting Minutes, 0:53:53, [3/9/16] (VIDEO)

Feb. 2016: Gaspar Voted Against Developing The Welcoming Community Subcommittee's Proposals

Feb. 2016: Gaspar Voted Against A Proposal For Encinitas To Develop A “Welcoming Community” For Immigrants To Engage In Local Immigration And Refugee Integration Efforts. “A divided city council adopted a proposal for the city to fully commit to participating in a White House program that calls for communities to embrace its immigrant and refugee populations. The council voted 3-2 on Feb. 24 on the recommendations brought forth by a subcommittee composed of council members Tony Kranz and Lisa Shaffer. The city, since January, had been exploring participation in the Building Welcoming Communities Campaign, an initiative through the White House Task Force on New Americans aimed at encouraging communities to engage in local immigration and refugee integration efforts. The national program is in partnership with Welcome America, a national nonprofit with similar goals. [...] Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir voted against the proposal.” Coast News Group, [3/3/16]

The Proposal Was To “Continue Developing” The Welcoming Community Subcommittee’s Recommendations. “10H. Report from Subcommittee on Becoming a Welcoming Community Contact Persons: Deputy Mayor Shaffer and Council Member Kranz[.] Recommended Action: Receive and review report from the Welcoming Community Subcommittee and give direction on recommendations. [...] ACTION: Shaffer moved, Kranz seconded to continue developing the following next steps and to bring back more detailed proposals with costs and other specifics[.] [...] Motion carried. And I would almost prefer to see the facilitator of this be a nonprofit organization, perhaps in our own community. Hint Leichtag Foundation. This is something that’s a real passion area and I’d really like to see a good non-profit organization in our community serve in that facilitator role. And I almost feel it’s kind of an awkward role of the city government to be providing that facilitator role.” Encinitas City Council, 3:57:18, [2/24/16] (VIDEO)

Editorial: The San Diego Union-Tribune Opposed AB 1250. “The measure would be absolutely devastating not just to county budgets but to the services they provide via hospitals and public health programs, law enforcement, fire protection, child protective services and more. In nearly all these services, contractors supplement the work of county employees. If the cost of providing such services skyrocketed, what would be the result? Far fewer services. It’s astounding that Gonzalez Fletcher and fellow local Assembly Democrats Shirley Weber and Todd Gloria voted for something this reckless. May the Senate have the sense to shelve this atrocity.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [8/25/17]

Each county, by contrast, is managed by a board of supervisors that answers directly to local voters. The payroll-contracting ratio is a function of local needs, as it should be. Sacramento lawmakers should not impose a one-size-fits all rule that strips local supervisors — and voters — of their power to make their own staffing decisions.” Los Angeles Times, Editorial, [8/5/17]

Gaspar Supported Constructing A Landfill On Sacred Native American Land

May 2016: Gaspar Supported Building A Landfill In Gregory Canyon, Claiming That It Would Be More Environmentally Friendly To Store Trash Locally Than Out-Of-State. “Gregory Canyon Landfill: The landfill is more than two decades in the making and is on state Route 76, east of I-15, next to the San Luis Rey River. Developers have promised to install sophisticated and long-lasting liners before dumping trash and contend it’s more environmentally friendly than trucking it elsewhere. Critics say that there is still too much of a risk of contaminating water supplies, including sources that provide drinking water to Oceanside. Gaspar said she’s fine with a landfill. ‘I stand by the voters, and I stand by the courts when I say I do support a landfill project,’ she said, referring to the long political and legal course the project has taken. Storing trash locally is more eco-friendly than moving it out of state, but at the same time, people should work to reduce their waste to make refuse disposal a smaller problem, she said.” Sam Diego Union Tribune, [5/2/16]

Gregory Canyon, Where Gaspar Supported Building A Landfill, Was Considered Sacred Land By Several Native American Tribes. “More than 20 years of controversy over a plan to put a landfill in Gregory Canyon in North County comes to an end, as the Pala Band of Mission Indians buys a portion of the site for $13 million. [...] Robert Smith, chairman of the Pala Band, said its members voted this week to go ahead with the $13 million purchase of 700 acres on Gregory Mountain, in order to stop the dump. ‘Yeah, we’ve been fighting it for over 20 years,’ Smith said. ‘The main thing is protecting our water sources and ancestral burial grounds and village, so it’s a great accomplishment for the tribe.’ Shasta Gaughen, the environmental director and Tribal Historic Preservation Officer for Pala, said several Native American Indian bands regard Gregory Mountain as sacred, the legendary home of one of their spirit ancestors.” KPBS, [11/18/16]

The Landfill Was “Scrapped After A Key Piece Of The Land Was Sold To A Native American Tribe That Opposed The Project.” “In late November, a controversial plan to build a landfill in rural northern San Diego County was scrapped after a key piece of the land was sold to a Native American tribe that opposed the project. The deal ended a 25-year fight that included several lawsuits and two countywide ballot measures over the proposed Gregory Canyon landfill. The city of Oceanside, environmental groups and the Pala Band of Mission Indians had all tried to block the project, but it steamed ahead until a few years ago when financing problems forced the property owner into bankruptcy.” [San Diego Union Tribune, 12/25/16]

June 2017: Gaspar Was the Only Supervisor To Vote Against Appointing “Veteran Prosecutor” Summer Stephan As Interim District Attorney

June 2017: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Was The Only Supervisor To Vote Against Appointing “Veteran Prosecutor” Summer Stephan As Interim District Attorney. “The Board of Supervisors today appointed veteran prosecutor Summer Stephan as San Diego County’s interim top prosecutor to succeed Bonnie Dumanis, who is retiring. Stephan is the chief deputy district attorney, and has gained numerous endorsements for the permanent job when elections are held next year. She’s served 28 years. She was appointed as interim D.A. on a 4-1 vote, with Supervisor Kristin Gaspar dissenting. Others who applied for the job were Adam Gordon, a former prosecutor who now practices in business litigation and white-collar defense and retired prosecutor Greg Walden.” San Diego Union-Tribune, 6/20/17; San Diego Board of Supervisors, minutes, [6/20/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Voted To Appoint Stephan To A Full Term, And Did Not Require Him To Not Seek Election For A Full Term in 2018. “After a three-hour hearing, the San Diego County Board of Supervisors unanimously voted Tuesday to make veteran prosecutor Summer Stephan the interim district attorney for the next 18 months. In making the decision, the supervisors didn’t heed calls made over the past several weeks and by some speakers at the hearing to require that anyone getting the appointment pledge not to run as a candidate for the full term in 2018. Instead, supervisors expressed confidence in Stephan and brushed off suggestions of appointing a caretaker to finish the term of District Attorney Bonnie Dumanis, who announced in April she would resign in July from the job she has held since being elected in 2002.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [6/20/17]

Gaspar Said She Voted Against Appointing Stephan Because The Board Did Not Send The Candidates To A Second Interview. “Supervisor Kristin Gaspar cast the dissenting vote, saying she wanted to follow county policy and send the candidates to a second interview. ‘We had three candidates apply for the interim D.A. position,’ Gaspar said. ‘As a business owner, I believe in thoroughly vetting any potential employee. The county’s policy for filling a vacancy requires two rounds of interviews. I voted to send all three candidates on to a second interview and therefore did not support waiving the second interview.’ Gaspar said said has ‘complete confidence that Summer Stephan will be a strong and effective leader as interim District Attorney.’” City News Service via Southern California Patch, [7/7/17]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Developers May Have “Caught A Break” With Gaspar In Office, Who Was A “Proponent Of Smart Growth” And “Open Minded To Land Use Issues.” “North County housing developers haven’t had much to cheer in the past few years, but they may have caught a break now that Kristin Gaspar has officially unseated Dave Roberts in the Third District County Board of Supervisors election. Gaspar has described herself as a proponent of smart growth and being open minded to land use issues. That is good news for Newland Communities, which has proposed the 2,100-home Newland Sierra development in Twin Oaks north of San Marcos, and Accretive Investments’ proposed 1,746-home Lilac Hills Ranch northwest of Valley Center.” [San Diego Business Journal, 12/5/16]

Chargers Stadium

Gaspar Said The City Should “Not” Be Willing To Do “Anything It Takes” To Keep The San Diego Chargers In Town

April 2016: Gaspar Said The City Should “Not” Be Willing To Do “Anything It Takes” To Keep The San Diego Chargers In Town. “Gaspar did not say if she believes public money should be used to build a stadium, or if voters should approve a ballot measure on the project. But she did say that government should not do whatever it takes to keep the Chargers in town, or to appear too enthusiastic during negotiations. ‘I think it’s really important that we not be willing to do anything it takes to keep the Chargers, that we minimize the impact on our taxpayers’ she said. ‘I think it’s important that we pay attention to your hospitality community in this situation’ and make sure new taxes don’t deter visitors.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/23/16]

Gaspar On The Chargers Stadium: “Gone Are The Days Where There Is Broad Public Support For Taxpayer-Funded Stadiums. It’s Very Difficult To Find A Rate Of Return In That Investment.” “The Chargers’ dramatic split from the city of San Diego may be a sign that California is officially done spending public money on sports franchises. California voters have grown more skeptical of pouring billions of dollars into football stadiums, which have been shown to generate less of an economic boom than the National Football League has advertised. That’s upending the traditional relationship between billionaire franchise owners and their hometowns. ‘Gone are the days where there is broad public support for taxpayer-funded stadiums. It’s very difficult to find a rate of return in that investment,’ said Kristin Gaspar, who was elected as a county supervisor in San Diego in November.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [1/14/17]

Clinton Foundation

April 2013: Gaspar Voted To Authorize The City To Negotiate With The William J. Clinton Foundation To Redevelop An Old Gas Station Into A Not-For-Profit Electric-Vehicle Charging Station

April 2013: Gaspar Voted To Authorize The City To Negotiate With The William J. Clinton Foundation To Redevelop An Old Gas Station Into A Not-For-Profit Electric-Vehicle Charging Station. “A luxurious electric-vehicle charging station, complete with a coffee shop and wireless Internet service, may move into a parking lot at Encinitas City Hall. In a nifty twist of irony, this proposed charging center site once contained an old-style gasoline service station. The old gas station is long gone -- it was demolished in 2009, said Encinitas Deputy City Manager Richard Phillips -- and the area now serves as a 25-space, overflow parking lot for City Hall. The site is on the southeast corner of Vulcan Avenue and E Street. [...] Last week, the City Council unanimously agreed to authorize city employees to begin negotiating with the William J. Clinton Foundation -- a philanthropic organization founded by former President Bill Clinton -- for the use of the land. The foundation is proposing to establish a not-for-profit, regional pilot project on the site to showcase some of the newest innovations in electric-vehicle charging technology, Phillips said.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 4/17/13]

Gaspar Reportedly Called The Project A Good Opportunity. “Phillips said Monday that the city has other such arrangements and may be able to come to a deal with the foundation. The Friends of the Encinitas Library organization pays $10 a year for its bookshop space at the library’s entrance, he said. At last week’s meeting, City Council members said they were pleased the city was being offered the pilot project. Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar called it an excellent opportunity, and Mayor Teresa Barth called it ‘a 21st-century service station.’” [San Diego Union-Tribune, 4/17/13]

Desert Rose

March 2013: Gaspar Approved The “Controversial” Desert Rose Housing Proposal, Which Local Homeowners Opposed

March 2013: Gaspar Voted To Approve The “Controversial” Desert Rose Housing Proposal In Olivenhain. “The Encinitas City Council has rejected a city Planning Commission decision and approved the controversial Desert Rose housing proposal. In a meeting that lasted until late Wednesday night, council members called it one of the toughest decisions they’ve made, but said the state low-income housing laws were on the developers’ side and thus the Olivenhain area project couldn’t be denied.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/14/13]

Woodbridge Farms Estates, A Developer, Proposed To Build 16 Homes On A Horse Boarding Facility That Local Homeowners Opposed. “The developers -- Woodridge Farms Estates -- are proposing to build 16 homes on what is now a horse boarding facility on Desert Rose Way, which is east of Rancho Santa Fe’s intersection with 13th Street on the very edge of the city limits. Nearby homeowners have been fighting the proposal for years, saying that 16 homes is far too many for the 6-acre lot. They argue that the project doesn’t fit with their neighborhood’s rural character, is a fire hazard and could harm the environment.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/14/13]

The Developers Were Allowed To Build On The Property Because They Reserved On Home For A Low-Income Family. “Attorney Marco Gonzalez, a noted environmental attorney who is representing the developers on this project, has countered that the surrounding neighborhood is more suburban than rural, and has repeatedly said that the developers have state law on their side. Under state law, developers get special privileges, including permission to put extra homes on their lots, if they agree to set aside part of those homes for low-income residents. One of the 16 houses in the Desert Rose development would go a low-income family.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/14/13]

Developer Fees

May 2014: Gaspar Said The Council Had To Be “Very Careful And Considerate” When Raising Fees On Developers

May 2014: Gaspar Said The Council Had To Be “Very Careful And Considerate” When Raising Fees On Developers. “The Encinitas City Council backed away Wednesday from a proposal to increase by nearly 63 percent a traffic impact fee that developers pay. In a unanimous vote, the council instead agreed to a small -- 2 percent -- fee hike and asked staff members to come back at a later date with proposals to possibly phase in the larger fee increase over a three-year period. The vote to go with a 2-percent fee increase came after the council heard from two local developers and a representative for the Building Industry Association of San Diego. John Vance of Shea Homes told the council that drastically raising the fee would make new homes more costly in an area where home prices are already high, while building association representative Mike McSweeney said the city could face legal trouble if it unfairly raised fees to fight existing traffic congestion issues. Following their comments, Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said the city already has ‘clear affordability’ issues and any fee increases would compound the problem. ‘I believe we have to be very careful and considerate when making these changes,’ she said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/22/14]

May 2016: Gaspar Said The City Wanted To “Be A Part Of” Preserving The Historic La Paloma Theatre As A Historical Landmark. “Downtown Encinitas business leaders have started looking into obtaining national historic preservation status for the much-adored La Paloma Theatre. It’s a top priority project for the Encinitas 101 MainStreet Association in the coming year and the consulting company Dudek has already donated employee time to prepare a building history document, the association’s president told the City Council last week. Leucadia Gas Station

April 2016: Gaspar Was The Only Councilor To Vote Against Denying An Appeal For A “Hugely Controversial Gas Station Expansion Project” In Leucadia

April 2016: Gaspar Was The Only Councilor To Vote Against Denying An Appeal For A “Hugely Controversial Gas Station Expansion Project” In Leucadia. “A hugely controversial gas station expansion project in Leucadia has lost its appeal to the Encinitas City Council and its owners warned a lawsuit could follow. [...] The Shell station - which occupies the southeast corner of the busy Orpheus Avenue and Leucadia Boulevard intersection, just west of Interstate 5 - straddles two worlds. To the south along Orpheus Avenue are many homes, while to the north is the relatively new drive-through Starbucks, which has been described as one of the busiest drive-up coffee places in the San Diego region. The Gupta family, which has owned the Shell station for about two decades, is proposing to add more pumps and re-place the old-style mini-mart with an upscale marketplace featuring organic foods. The most controversial aspect of the expansion plan is an automated car wash with a blow-dry feature, which neighboring homeowners argue will create so much noise that it will be like living near an airport. [...] The council voted 4-1, with Mayor Kristin Gaspar opposed, to deny the appeal. Members of the majority said the city could easily make a case that the project was incompatible with the neighborhood, while Gaspar strongly disagreed with this view.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/21/16]

Gaspar Said She Did Not See The “Legal Grounds To Deny The Project.” “Gaspar said she believed the station’s owners had tried their best to work with the neighbors by including extensive landscaping in the development plan and by deciding to put buildings toward the freeway side of the property. ‘I just don’t see the legal grounds to deny the project,’ she said. Just before their vote, council members offered a compromise to Gonzalez, saying they might be willing to overturn the Planning Commission’s decision if the station’s owners would eliminate the most controversial aspect of the development plan - the automated car wash.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/21/16]

The Gas Station Owners’ Attorney Claimed The Council Could Be Sued For Denying The Appeal For Development. “‘Go ahead and do your denial - I’ll just say, ‘Good luck dotting your i’s and crossing your t’s,’” attorney Marco Gonzalez told the council Wednesday night just before it voted to deny his clients’ appeal of a recent city Planning Commission decision. [...] Gonzalez, who recently successfully defended the proposed Desert Rose housing development plan against a lawsuit filed by its Olivenhain neighbors, told the council Wednesday that it wouldn’t be able to back its denial with legal findings needed to prevail in court. The project’s traffic and noise studies do not show that expanding this gas station will have a significant impact on the surrounding neighborhood, he said.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [4/21/16]

Lilac Hills Ranch

Gaspar Did Not Take A Position On The Lilac Hills Ranch Development, A Proposed 1,746 Home Development On Land That Was Zoned For Up To 110 Homes That Voters Rejected In A Ballot Initiative

Gaspar Said She Would Not Take A Position On The Lilac Hills Ranch Development, But Would Support Projects That Offered Affordable Housing “While Protecting The Environment And Community Character.” “Q: How will you vote on Measure B, the Lilac Hills Ranch development, and why? A: It is important to understand that I will serve in a quasi-judicial role on the board tasked with implementation should the voters approve Measure B and therefore can’t take a position on Lilac Hills. Speaking more generally, San Diego County has both an affordable housing crisis and a dwindling amount of precious open space. I will support quality development projects that balance the need for diverse housing and services while protecting the environment and community character. I will continue to bring an open mind to land use, making informed decisions on a case-by-case basis.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/27/16]

Lilac Hills Ranch Was A Ballot Measure Item That Would Allow For A 1,746 Home Development On Land That Was “Currently Zoned For Up To 110 Homes.” “Gaspar and Roberts have declined to say how they will vote on Measure B, a ballot item that would amend the county’s general plan and zoning to allow for the 1,746-home Lilac Hills Ranch development. Currently the land is zoned for up to 110 homes. Both candidates said that complex land-use decisions are best left in the hands of county supervisors, who have had the time to study the nuances and fine details of urban planning and development.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/24/16]

Voters Rejected The Lilac Hills Ranch Development Ballot Measure. “Developers hoping to build a master-planned community of more than 1,700 homes near Valley Center were weighing their next steps Wednesday after San Diego County voters overwhelmingly rejected the project in this week’s general election. Accretive Investments representatives said in a statement released late Tuesday that they would continue pursuing their so-called Lilac Hills Ranch project despite the failure of Measure B, an initiative that would have granted an amendment to the county’s General Plan needed for the development to move forward. The company’s options appear limited.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [11/10/16]

Pacific View Elementary School

Aug. 2011: Gaspar Recused Herself From A Controversial Vote On Whether To Rezone A Former Elementary School, “Even Though She Didn’t Have To”

Aug. 2011: Gaspar Recused Herself From A Vote That Resulted In Denying The Encinitas Union School District To Rezone A Former Elementary School For Residential Development “Even Though She Didn’t Have To.” “Despite acknowledging the city might lose in court, the Encinitas City Council has denied allowing a 2.8-acre former elementary school property two blocks from the beach to be rezoned for residential development. The 2-2 decision Wednesday night not to rezone the site of the old Pacific View Elementary School frustrated Encinitas Union School District officials, who had agreed in February to delay suing the city over the site so the two agencies could negotiate. [...] The vote Wednesday by the five-member City Council was complicated when Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar recused herself even though she didn’t have to. The rezone needed four votes to pass entirely. Three would have allowed the district to take it to a public vote. It received support from Councilman Jerome Stocks, who acknowledged the city would likely lose in court, and Mayor James Bond. She said she had always stayed out of the Pacific View issue and felt it was inappropriate to weigh in now since she refrained from a related action in January. Houlihan and Bond questioned the move. Sabine said it was Gaspar’s right to participate in the item if she wanted to. Baird, the superintendent, said he did not expect Gaspar to recuse herself. ‘It’s probably a vote that City Council members don’t want to be on either side of,’ he said. Gaspar said she does not shy away from controversial issues. ‘I think it’s an unfair criticism to say I simply step out of a contentious issue,’ she said. ‘That’s what we’re here for, that’s our job, it’s incredibly difficult for me to sit on the sidelines, I want to be there participating.’” San Diego Union-Tribune, [8/20/11]

Nov. 2011: The Encinitas Union School District Sued The City Of Encinitas Over Its Decision To Deny A Rezoning Of A Former School Site For Residential Development. “Despite its admittedly slim chances in court, the city of Encinitas will defend itself in a lawsuit filed by the Encinitas Union School District to rezone a former school site for residential development. The Encinitas City Council voted 2-1 Wednesday to defend its two previous denials of what the school district considers its right under state law to rezone the old Pacific View Elementary School to the same as the surrounding residential neighborhood. The council most recently denied the district’s request in August in a 2-2 vote, despite concessions made by Encinitas Union to retain historical elements of the property. March 2014: Gaspar Voted Against A Confidential Offer To Purchase The Elementary School From The Encinitas Union School District. “Trustees in the Encinitas Union School District will meet today to consider delaying until May the auction of the Pacific View Elementary School site after receiving a last-minute offer from the city. The Encinitas City Council voted in closed session late Wednesday to submit a confidential offer for the 2.8-acre former campus, which the school district shuttered in 2003. Feb. 2014: Gaspar Voted Against A Proposal To Not Purchase The Elementary School, And Instead Explore A Sales Tax To "Fund The Purchase Of The School If The Auction Somehow [Fell] Through." "The city of Encinitas said last week it won't participate in next month's auction of the Pacific View School property in Encinitas, but it will explore the idea of a sales-tax increase that could fund the purchase of the school if the auction somehow falls through. At its Wednesday night meeting, the council declined to submit a bid for the proposed auction, saying the district's $9.5 million bid requirement was far too pricey. But in a 3-2 vote -- with Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir opposed -- the panel agreed to study whether to raise the city's sales tax rate to fund new civic projects, including transforming the old school property into a city arts center." July 2014: San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Voted To Renegotiate The City's $10 Million Purchase Price For The Former Elementary School, Citing Various Issues Like Hazardous Materials And "Neighboring Property Access Issues." "Encinitas won't renegotiate its $10 million purchase price for the Pacific View Elementary School property, a majority of the City Council council decided Wednesday, declaring that there was nothing unexpected in a new 'due diligence' report that noted the property contains asbestos and that neighbors use part of the site to access their land. [...] Mayor Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir strongly disagreed, and voted in favor of renegotiating the purchase price. They mentioned the hazardous material asbestos found in the school buildings, that there are neighboring property access issues, and that the school property's title remains cloudy at this point. 'These are some major concerns,' Gaspar said, adding that the city should consider the report in the same light that a prospective homeowner would and seek price breaks based on the issues it raises. 'Otherwise,' she added, 'I don't know why we even bothered to do it in the first place.'" San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/17/14]

A Majority Of The City Council "Strong Disagreed" With Gaspar's Claims. "On Wednesday night, the council majority strongly disagreed with Gaspar's contention that the report discovered major unknown problems regarding the 2.8-acre school property, which occupies a full city block along downtown's Third Street. Shaffer and Councilwoman Teresa Barth said the neighbors' use of the eastern edge of the property as an alleyway access has been occurring for years and is a well-known situation. 'We didn't just discover there's a road there because of our due diligence,' Shaffer said. And, she added, finding asbestos in the tile flooring of the buildings shouldn't come as a surprise given the age of the school, which dates from the 1950s." San Diego Union-Tribune, [7/17/14]

May 2014: Gaspar Voted Against Selling Lease-Revenue Bonds "To Cover The $10 Million Purchase Of The Former Pacific View School Property And The $3 Million Moonlight Beach Lifeguard Tower Project." "Encinitas should sell lease-revenue bonds to cover the $10 million purchase of the former Pacific View school property and the $3 million Moonlight Beach lifeguard tower project, the City Council tentatively decided late Wednesday night. In a 3-2 vote, with Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir opposed, the council gave its initial backing to a spending scenario that called for using bond financing for both projects. The proposal will be part of the city's 2014-15 budget, which the council is set to approve June 11." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 5/23/14]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Using Bonds Was Estimated To Cost Encinitas An Extra $734,000 A Year For 30 Years. "Using lease-revenue bonds to finance the school purchase and the lifeguard tower project is expected to cost Encinitas an extra $734,000 a year for 30 years, City Manager Gus Vina said Wednesday night. Lease-revenue bonds, unlike general obligation bonds, don't require voter approval. But any revenue generated by the projects they fund must first go toward paying off those bonds. Encinitas currently has a bond-debt ratio of just over 8 percent and that would climb to about 9 percent with the newly proposed bond sale. This increase would still keep the city below its target of a 10 percent debt ratio, Vina said." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 5/23/14]

Gaspar: "When $733,000 Is Going To Debt Service (Each Year), That's $733,000 That's Not Going To Something Else." "Council members Muir and Gaspar, who opposed spending $10 million for the Pacific View property in March, reiterated their concerns that the huge price tag will force Encinitas to start cutting funding for core city services, particularly road repairs and building maintenance. 'When $733,000 is going to debt service (each year), that's $733,000 that's not going to something else,' Gaspar said. She said she already hears many complaints about the condition of the city's roads. The city manager's new lease-bond budgeting scenario calls for spending the same amount on roadway repairs next year as is being spent this year, she noted, adding that this will ultimately result in pavement conditions deteriorating. The city's current Pavement Condition Index scoring system indicates that 75 percent of the city's road network is in 'good' condition. That's forecast to fall by 3 percentage points over the next five years, unless the city increases spending on roadway repairs, Gaspar said." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 5/23/14]

April 2013: Gaspar Voted To Allow The City Of Encinitas To Explore Purchasing The Former Pacific View Elementary School Property

April 2013: Gaspar Voted To Allow The City Of Encinitas To Explore Purchasing The Former Pacific View Elementary School Property, Ending A Years-Long Debate That Included Proposals To Redevelop The Property. "The city of Encinitas should explore purchasing the long-closed Pacific View Elementary School property and thus end the lengthy battle over its future, the City Council unanimously decided Wednesday night. 'I truly believe we both have the best of intentions,' Mayor Teresa Barth said as she praised Encinitas Union School District officials for agreeing to revisit its several-years-old offer to sell the prime coastal property to the city. In early March, district Superintendent Tim Baird sent the city a letter stating that the district was once again willing to consider 'any good faith offer from the city' for the 2.8-acre property, which occupies a coastal blufftop site along downtown's Third Street. Baird wrote that he was making the offer again because he had heard the city might be more receptive to it now." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 4/12/13]

Gaspar Said She Supported The County Board's Decision To Hire An Internal Investment Team To Navigate Pension Funding Issues

Gaspar Said She Supported The County Board's "Recent Decision To Hire A New Internal Investment Team To Navigate" Pension Funding Issues As A Means To Improve The Health Of The Fund. "Q: This year, the county's pension fund finished its worse investment year since the financial crisis of 2008. How would you improve the health of the fund? A: The county of San Diego needs effective leadership on the SDCERA board to ensure a strong financial future. Unfunded pension liabilities pose the largest threat to long term stability of any organization. I support the recent decision to hire a new internal investment team to navigate this challenging issue. SDCERA's return to a traditional public fund investment and governance structure will reduce risk and provide additional accountability." San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/30/16]

Rep. Darrell Issa (CA-49) Voted Against The Republican Tax Scam Bill

Dec. 2017: Rep. Darrell Issa (CA-49) Voted Against The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act. In December 2017, Issa voted against “Adoption of the conference report on the bill that would revise the federal income tax system by lowering the corporate tax rate from 35 percent to 21 percent; lowering individual tax rates through 2025; limiting state and local deductions to $10,000 through 2025; decreasing the limit on deductible mortgage debt through 2025; and creating a new system of taxing U.S. corporations with foreign subsidiaries. Specifically, it would repeal personal exemptions and would roughly double the standard deduction through 2025. It would raise the child tax credit to $2,000 through 2025, would repeal the alternative minimum tax for corporations and provide for broader exemptions to the tax for individuals through 2025. It would double individual exemptions to the estate tax and gift tax through 2025, and would establish a new top tax rate for ‘pass-through’ business income through 2025.” The conference report passed 227 to 203. Issa Said He Would Vote Against The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Because It Did “Not Go Far Enough To Guarantee Tax Relief” For His Constituents And That It Would Could Raise Taxes “For Many.”

“Congressman Darrell Issa (R-Vista) released the following statement on the final tax reform bill released today by the Conference Committee to the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act: ‘While the bill agreed to in conference today makes some improvements, unfortunately, the changes do not go far enough to guarantee tax relief for constituents in my district. Californians need tax relief now more than ever, especially as the tax factory in our State Capitol continues looking for ever increasing ways to take more of our hard-earned paychecks. Yet I still fear that, even in the revised proposal, many in my area could face higher taxes under this plan. Californians have entrusted me to fight for them. I will not vote to make the incredible tax burden they already endure even worse.’” Rep. Darrell Issa, press release, [12/16/17]

Nov. 2017: Rep. Darrell Issa (CA-49) Voted Against The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act The First Time It Appeared In The House Of Representatives. In November 2017, Issa voted against “Passage of the bill that would revise the federal income tax system by: lowering individual and corporate tax rates; consolidating the current seven tax income rates into four rates; eliminating the deduction for state and local income taxes; limiting certain deductions for property taxes and home mortgages; and creating a new system of taxing U.S. corporations with foreign subsidiaries. Specifically, it would eliminate personal exemptions and would nearly double the standard deduction. It would raise the child tax credit through 2022, repeal the alternative minimum tax, repeal the estate tax in 2025 and reduce the gift tax rate in 2025. It would establish a new top tax rate for pass-through business income and would modify tax credits related to energy production.” The bill passed 227 to 205. HR 1, Vote [#637, 11/16/17; CQ, 11/16/17]

Issa Said The House Bill Did “Not Provide The Same Tax Relief To Californians As It [Did] To The Rest Of The Nation.”

“Congressman Darrell Issa released the following statement after voting no on the House Republican tax reform package which today was passed by the U.S. House of Representatives: ‘I didn't come to Washington to raise taxes on my constituents and I do not plan to start today,’ said Congressman Issa. ‘It's disappointing that the bill approved today will not provide the same tax relief to Californians as it does to the rest of the nation. California families are being crushed under the constant barrage of tax increases coming out of Sacramento's tax factory on everything from their everyday purchases, paychecks and yes even their gasoline. Constituents in my district have picked up extra shifts, stayed late, and worked hard only to see less and less of their take-home pay as taxes have skyrocketed across the state. My constituents deserve to see a tax cut too. Before reform reaches the President’s desk, I will continue fighting for changes to deliver tax relief for ALL taxpayers -- regardless of where they live.’” Rep. Darrell Issa, press release, [11/16/17]

...Which Included A Cap On SALT & Property Tax Deductions That Could Eliminate Savings On $12,303 Worth Of Taxes For CA-49 Homeowners

Final Tax Bill Scaled Back The Cap On State & Local Taxes To $10,000, Which Included SALT, Property Tax Deductions, Or A Combination Of Both. “Under current law, the state and local deduction (R-SALT) is unlimited. In the final GOP plan, people can deduct up to $10,000 (R-married couples are also limited to just $10,000). The House initially restricted the $10,000 deduction to just property taxes, but the final bill allows any state and local taxes to be deducted, whether for property, income or sales taxes. The move is widely viewed as a hit to blue states such as New York, Connecticut and California, and there are concerns it could cause property values to fall in high-tax cities and leave less money for public schools and road repairs.” Washington Post, [12/15/17]

If not for the sunset for the tax changes for individuals, we likely would have rated Gillibrand’s statement False or perhaps Mostly False. Middle-income taxpayers will either benefit or see no change in their tax liability through 2025. But her claim could hold up after the bill’s individual provisions expire that year. After Passing A Tax Bill That Added Trillions To The Deficit, Speaker Ryan Said Medicare And Medicaid Would Need To Be “Reformed” In Order To Decrease The Deficit. “With his dream of tax reform now realized, Ryan is hoping to make progress on two other issues he’s targeted during his two-decade career in Washington: entitlement and welfare reform. ‘We’re going to have to get back next year at entitlement reform, which is how you tackle the debt and the deficit,’ Ryan, a former Budget Committee chairman, said in a recent interview this month on the Ross Kaminsky radio talk show. There’s two things you need to do to get the debt under control so that our kids and grandkids get a debt-free nation. Number one, grow the economy. This tax cut bill will help do that. Number two, reform entitlement programs. We’re-- it’s unfortunate that our health care bill which passed the House last May didn’t get through the Senate, but we need to revisit that issue because that’s key entitlement reform. And then back to the welfare issue.” [CBS This Morning, 12/20/17]

Gaspar Voted To Use Funds From The State’s Newly Approve Gas Tax Increase To Repair County Roads.

“San Diego has a new plan to use money from the state’s gas tax hike to improve county roads. The five-year process of sealing cracks and filling potholes will take revenue from the fuel-tax increases and fees from the recently approved Road Repair and Accountability Act to rejuvenate some 2,000 miles of county roads. Over the last six years, street conditions have fallen from a 70 on a well-known rating system down to a 60. With the new plan, conditions will be returned to a 70 in five years, paid for with the gas tax increases. March 2017: Gaspar Seconded A Motion To Support The Water Authority To Sue The Metropolitan Water District (MWD) Over High Costs And “Illegal Expenses”

March 2017: Gaspar Seconded A Motion To Support The Water Authority To Sue The Metropolitan Water District (MWD) Over High Costs And “Illegal Expenses.” “Over recent decades, the Water Authority and its member agencies have successfully transformed the San Diego region’s dependency upon MWD. According to the Water Authority, this transformation caused MWD to actively work against the Water Authority through the establishment of rates and charges intended to penalize San Diego and its water diversification efforts. The Water Authority estimates the sum of overcharges could cumulatively total more than $7 billion by 2040. The Water Authority contends MWD’s questionable financial practices and continuous overcharging, while the Water Authority has committed to provide a reliable, cost-certain and diverse water supply for the sustained prosperity of all San Diego County residents and business enterprises. Adopt a resolution entitled “A Resolution of the San Diego County Board of Supervisors Supporting the San Diego County Water Authority’s Long Term Water Supply Plan and Litigation against the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California” (Attachment A). ACTION: ON MOTION of Supervisor Jacob, seconded by Supervisor Gaspar, the Board took action as recommended, adopting Resolution No. 17-037, entitled: A RESOLUTION OF THE SAN DIEGO COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS SUPPORTING THE SAN DIEGO COUNTY WATER AUTHORITY’S LONG TERM WATER SUPPLY PLAN AND LITIGATION AGAINST THE METROPOLITAN WATER DISTRICT OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. AYES: Cox, Jacob, Gaspar, Roberts, Horn[.]” San Diego County Board of Supervisors, minutes, [3/22/17]

The San Diego Water Authority Claimed MWD Overcharged Them For Supplying The County With Water From The Colorado River. “In 2003, the Water Authority agreed to buy enough Colorado River water for roughly 1.6 million people a year from another water agency in Imperial County. That was the largest water purchase of its kind in United States. Then, a year and a half ago, it helped open the largest desalination plant in the country, in Carlsbad. Those supplies are more expensive: The new water is about 62 percent of the Water Authority’s supplies, but 72 percent of the agency’s water costs. [...] The Water Authority calls the water it gets from Imperial County its own “independent” supply of water. Metropolitan scoffs at that and says San Diego’s so-called independence relies in large part on the use of Metropolitan’s system. Because the Water Authority never built a pipeline to the Colorado River, it has to rely on Metropolitan to bring the Imperial County water to San Diego. Metropolitan charges money for that. The Water Authority believes Metropolitan is overcharging it by up to 465 percent to bring that water to San Diego.” Voice of San Diego, [5/25/17]

June 2017: A California Appeals Court Overruled A Previous Ruling That MWD Overcharged The Water Authority And Said MWD “Abided By Regulations In Charging The San Diego County Water Authority”

June 2017: A California Appeals Court overruled A Previously Ruling That MWD Overcharged The Water Authority, Stating That It “Abided By Regulations In Charging The San Diego County Water Authority.” “A California appeals court dealt San Diego’s water provider a major blow on Friday after it ruled a lower court erred in awarding millions in damages due to a series of apparent overcharges. The California First District Court of Appeal found that the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, which supplies water to most Southern California residents, abided by regulations in charging the San Diego County Water Authority for water it delivered to the agency from the Colorado River. The appellate court reversed a lower court order that found Metropolitan had consistently overcharged the Water Authority over a four-year period and awarded San Diego’s water purveyor about a quarter billion dollars in damages.” Courthouse News, [6/23/17]

Gaspar Was Previously The President Of The San Dieguito Water District Board Of Directors

Gaspar Was The President Of The San Dieguito Water District Board Of Directors. “Gaspar was elected to the City Council in 2010 and last year became the North County city’s first elected mayor. She has also been president of the San Dieguito Water District Board of Directors and the Encinitas Rotary, chaired the Encina Wastewater Authority Board, and is the founder of the North County Leadership Council.” City News Service via KPBS, [8/31/15]

May 2016: Gaspar Said She Opposed The SANDAG Sales Tax Increase, Which Was Later Voted Down In A Ballot Measure

May 2016: Gaspar Said She Opposed A Ballot Initiative That Would Raise The County Sales Tax From 8 To 8.5 Percent

Oct. 2016: Gaspar Opposed The SANDAG Sales Tax Increase. “Q: Where do you stand on Measure A, SANDAG’s sales tax increase, and why? A: I oppose the SANDAG sales tax increase. Despite generating billions of dollars through a new tax, the plan falls short of providing a balance between traditional and alternative transportation modes in District 3, and ignores the trend of technological innovation. This is evidenced by the strong opposition from interest groups on both sides and many elected officials throughout the region. I encourage voters to closely examine the projects that are guaranteed in the proposition versus available through a competitive grant process. The plan puts taxpayers desperate for traffic relief on the hook for a period of 40 years on investments that will likely be outpaced by technology. Traffic congestion is a pressing issue that impacts daily quality of life, requiring proactive solutions and effective leadership. I will continue to be supportive of a full complement of traditional and alternative transportation modes that protect our taxpayers and local economy while improving the flow of traffic in our county. Unfortunately, this plan needs to go back to the drawing board.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [10/30/16]

May 2016: Gaspar Said She Opposed The SANDAG Sales Tax Increase, Which She Said Would Result In North County “Giving Billions OF Dollars To Get Very Little In Return.” “Q: Where do you stand on SANDAG’s sales tax increase? A: It is all wrong. I understand the intent to invest in infrastructure, and my top priority has been in infrastructure. But at the same time, how many times are we going to come back and ask for more money to achieve some of these plans? In North County, the way we feel about this, is that we’re giving billions of dollars to get very little in return, and it’s not even guaranteed. So it’s a tough leap, especially for the North County cities, and not something that I’m in current support of.” San Diego-Union Tribune, [5/19/16]

The San Diego Union-Tribune Said Encinitas Was Expected To Receive $84.1 Million Over 40 Years. “In North County, the way we feel about this, is that we’re giving billions of dollars to get very little in return, and it's not even guaranteed. So it's a tough leap, especially for the North County cities, and not something that I'm in current support of. Q: Encinitas is supposed to get in the first year ... over 40 years, $84.1 million." San Diego-Union Tribune, [5/19/16]

Gaspar Said She Was “Not Convinced” That SANDAG Had “Property Prioritized The Projects” For Encinitas. “Q: Encinitas is supposed to get in the first year ... over 40 years, $84.1 million. A: It's perplexing to me how they've prioritized the projects. I know that they came out and did some community workshops, but at the same time they never asked as an elected body which projects ought to be prioritized for our city. It was almost like they just kind of cherry picked certain projects to get kind of the alluring factor there for residents. And I'm not convinced that they've properly prioritized the projects for our city either.” San Diego-Union Tribune, [5/19/16]

The Sales Tax Would Increase From 8 To 8.5 percent To “Raise Dedicated Local Revenue For Infrastructure, Highway Improvements, Expanded Trolley And Bus Operations,” And More. “The board of directors of the San Diego Association of Governments (SANDAG) has voted to place a countywide measure on the November ballot, proposing a half-cent increase in the current sales tax to finance $18 billion in transportation-related projects. The measure, requiring the approval of two-thirds of county voters, would raise the sales tax from 8 percent to 8.5 percent over the next 40 years. It is intended to raise dedicated local revenue for infrastructure, highway improvements, expanded trolley and bus operations, and other road and transit-related upgrades.” San Diego Business Journal, [7/8/16]

Nov. 2017: The Sales Tax Increase Was Voted Down In A Ballot Measure

The Saves Tax Increase Was Voted Down In A Ballot Measure. “Transportation planners in San Diego County were disappointed last November when a half-cent sales tax measure to fund new infrastructure projects failed to win enough support from voters. The region's need for greater investments in transportation remains, however, and discussions began almost immediately on how to pay for them without the extra revenue. Those discussions have been happening mostly at the San Diego Association of Governments, or SANDAG. The agency is tasked with planning and funding the county's transportation projects, and its staff and board members were behind the unsuccessful tax proposal, Measure A.” KPBS, [2/9/17]

March 2014: Gaspar Said She Opposed Raising The City's Sales Tax By Half A Percent For Community Improvements

Gaspar Said She Opposed Raising The City's Sales Tax From 8 To 8.5 Percent To Fund Community Improvements

March 2014: San Diego Union-Tribune Editorial: Gaspar Said She Opposed Raising The City's Sales Tax From 8 To 8.5 Percent To Fund Community Improvements. “The Encinitas City Council last week discussed placing a measure on the November ballot to raise the city's sales tax from 8 to 8.5 percent to pay for community improvements. They also considered spending as much as $100,000 for what would clearly have been a phony poll essentially intended to give provide political cover to put the tax hike on the ballot. Putting the question before voters would require approval from four of the five council members. Fortunately, that's unlikely; council members Kristin Gaspar and Mark Muir said they oppose it. Still, council members Tony Kranz and Lisa Shaffer and Mayor Teresa Barth voted to at least check out more polling cost estimates.” [San Diego Union-Tribune, Editorial, 3/22/14]

Gaspar Voted Against Considering A $100,000 Study On The Effects Of Raising The Sales Tax From 8 To 8.5 And Suggested Cutting Expenses Instead Of Raising Taxes

March 2014: Gaspar Voted Against Considering A $100,000 Study On The Effects Of Raising The Sales Tax From 8 To 8.5 And Suggested Cutting Expenses Instead Of Raising Taxes. “A proposal to study whether Encinitas voters would support raising the city's sales tax will go back before the City Council on Wednesday night. The council voted 3-2 a week ago to seek cost estimates for what's forecast to be a roughly $100,000 research study, but Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer -- who was one of the three votes in favor -- has since indicated that she'd like to re-consider her decision. [...] Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar and Councilman Mark Muir voted against the survey proposal, saying the city should look at cutting expenses rather than researching ways to increase taxes." [San Diego Union-Tribune, 3/23/14]

Gaspar: "When We're Exploring Any Kind Of A Tax, It Needs To Be A Last Resort -- I Don't Believe We're In That Place." "When we're exploring any kind of a tax, it needs to be a last resort -- I don't believe we're in that place,' Gaspar said. Conducting surveys and doing other community research in preparation for a ballot measure is likely to cost at least $100,000, research consultant Catherine Lew told the council." March 2017: Gaspar Suggested Lowering The Standards For Road Maintenance “For The Purpose Of Having Some Additional Money In Our Pocketbooks”

March 2017: Gaspar Suggested Lowering The Standards For Road Maintenance “For The Purpose Of Having Some Additional Money In Our Pocketbooks.” “Earlier this year county supervisors took the first steps to improve more than 2,000 miles of roads, but months later, the looming price tag has brought questions about the value of patching potholes and filling cracks in the asphalt. At a hearing earlier this month, Supervisor Kristin Gaspar said it might make financial sense for the county to lower its standards for road maintenance if it saves money. Rather than trying to have all of the county-owned roads score at least a 70, a rating considered a ‘lower risk’ on a nationally-used scale of road conditions, the county could settle for something less. (On the scale, 71-100 is deemed ‘good.’) A lower ratings might make sense ‘for the purpose of having some additional money in our pocketbooks,’ she said. The funds that aren’t spent on roads could be used on other initiatives, like increasing the stock of affordable housing, she said, referring to what has been one of her top priorities.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/23/17]

Feb. 2013: Gaspar Voted To Eliminate A Northbound Lane From Coast Highway 101 In Leucadia

Feb. 2013: Gaspar Voted To Eliminate One Northbound Lane From Coast Highway 101 In Leucadia. “Encinitas will push forward with plans to eliminate one northbound lane of Coast Highway 101 in Leucadia, despite new objections from the state Coastal Commission. After hearing from 30 people -- mostly bicyclists who strongly backed the lane-reduction plan because it will give them a designated bike lane -- the City Council unanimously agreed late Wednesday night to proceed with the restriping between Leucadia Boulevard and La Costa Avenue.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/1/13]

The Coastal Commission Told The City Council They May Need To Apply For A Permit To Eliminate The Lane. “Last week, after being contacted by project opponents, the state Coastal Commission weighed in by sending the city a letter stating that the project may now need a state Coastal Development Permit, even though construction work is already well under way. ‘Reducing the number of lanes on a major coastal access route requires a coastal development permit because it changes the intensity of use of the road,’ state District Manager Deborah Lee wrote in the letter. The letter notes that the city is proposing to overhaul the road in several years with a ‘streetscape’ beautification effort, and the restriping plan should be reviewed in the context of that pending, much larger project.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/1/13]

Gaspar: “Coastal Commission, I’m Sorry, You Can’t Just Change The Rules Mid-Game.” “On Wednesday, council members agreed to send the state a ‘polite’ response, requesting a meeting and indicating that they don’t think the project needs a state permit. ‘Coastal Commission, I’m sorry, you can’t just change the rules mid-game,’ Councilwoman Kristin Gaspar said before the council vote. City officials said the repaving work is separate from the Highway 101 Streetscape project, which is now in the design and environmental permitting stage.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [2/1/13]

San Diego Union-Tribune: Gaspar Supported A “Smaller Scale Widening Of Interstate 5 To Help Alleviate Traffic.” “Kristin Gaspar is the CFO of Doctors of Physical Therapy. She said that as someone who oversees her company’s 401(k) plan, she would be able to help create a benefits package that allows Encinitas to retain highly qualified workers, while considering the cost to taxpayers. Gaspar said she believes community comment is vital to updating the general plan, and that she would support a smaller scale widening of Interstate 5 to help alleviate traffic.” San Diego Union-Tribune, Editorial, [10/14/10]

May 2016: Gaspar Voted To Overturn A Previous City Council Decision To Develop Encinitas’ Section Of The Coastal Rail Trail Along San Elijo Avenue

Gaspar Voted To Overturn A Previous City Council Decision To Develop Encinitas’ Section Of The Coastal Rail Trail Along San Elijo Avenue. “The Encinitas City Council reversed course this week on a controversial plan to build a fenced bicycle and pedestrian pathway on the east side of the railroad tracks through Cardiff, an issue that had sharply divided the community. In a 4-1 vote Wednesday, the panel overturned its May decision to put the city’s section of the Coastal Rail Trail along San Elijo Avenue, a mostly residential road that overlooks the railroad tracks and the Pacific Ocean. Instead, the council opted to study how it could improve an existing jogging and cycling route along Highway 101, west of the tracks. Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer dissented, saying the move would waste time and money.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/30/16]

Gaspar Moved To Form A “Working Group Of Residents To Advise And With City Staffers on The Project” and “Continue Studies Of A Pedestrian Crossing” At Another Location. “Mayor Kristin Gaspar made the motion to discontinue work on the trail’s eastern alignment, proceed with work to improve the Highway 101 route, form a working group of residents to advise and work with city staffers on the project, and continue studies of a pedestrian crossing to be built at Montgomery Avenue. Other coastal cities have completed portions of the Rail Trail, and Solana Beach has finished its entire segment.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [3/30/16]

May 2016: Gaspar Voted To Hire WSP Parsons Brinckerhoff To Create A Planning Document For The Coastal Rail Trail. “Aiming to avoid more conflicts like the ongoing battle over the Cardiff Rail Trail project, Encinitas will spend $227,500 to establish a long-term vision plan for the rail corridor that cuts through the city’s coastal neighborhoods. The time has come to think about the broader picture, rather than going project by project, City Council members said Wednesday night as they unanimously agreed to hire consulting firm WSP Parsons Brinckerhoff to create the planning document. The work, which includes everything from train horn quiet zone recommendations to educating kids about crossing the tracks safely, is expected to take six months to a year. [...] The Cardiff Rail Trail project is being managed by the regional San Diego Association of Governments. Last year, the council voted 3-2 to endorse an eastside route for the proposed trail along the railroad corridor. After much community outcry, the council’s position shifted when Blakespear announced she could no longer support the plan. In late March, the council voted 4-1, with Shaffer opposed, to overturn its earlier decision and look instead into a westside route along Highway 101.” San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/24/16]

Gaspar Said It Would Be Her Final Decision, And Not The Consultants’, To Decide What Organizations, Agencies, And Residents Would Sit On Advisory Boards For The Project. “The consultants are proposing to establish two advisory groups to help in the planning effort. One would represent the organizations and agencies involved in operating the railroad tracks, while the other would include community members. Councilwoman Lisa Shaffer suggested that the proposed planning group include some of the 30 people who have already volunteered to serve on a now-forming Cardiff Rail Trail advisory group. Mayor Kristin Gaspar said the consultants can put together a suggested membership list, but that she will make the final recommendation - that's her job as mayor." San Diego Union-Tribune, [5/24/16]

May 2010: Gaspar Wrote A Letter To The Editor Calling On The Encinitas City Council To Purchase "Wayside Horn[s]" For Train Intersections

May 2010: Gaspar Wrote A Letter To The Editor Advocating For The Encinitas City Council To Purchase "Wayside Horn[s]" For Train Intersections, Which She Claimed Were Affordable And Effective.

"Inexpensive solution on train whistles During my many years as a resident and business owner in Encinitas, the city has explored several options to silence the trains that come through our town more than 50 times per day. The city has looked at 'grade separating' the intersections at an outrageous price tag as well as the establishment of a federally approved 'quiet zone.' That would be a tough financial hurdle for our city. A new federally approved technology has emerged called a wayside horn. Wayside horns are mounted on the rail crossing arm equipment and aimed, in a focused manner, at the approaching traffic with less decibel strength than the horns typically mounted on the trains. This new technology has been used successfully at more than 100 crossings in the nation and costs a more affordable $80,000 to $150,000 per crossing. This technology would certainly improve the quality of life for our neighbors along the rail corridor. I strongly urge the Encinitas City Council to pursue this quality-of-life improving solution with all possible urgency." San Diego Union-Tribune, Kristin Gaspar letter to the editor, [5/9/10]

180207 San Diego County Board of Supervisors Public Records Request (3).pdf
.pdf File

Dear [REDACTED]

We write in response to your attached records request.

1. Every email sent by or to Supervisor Kristin Gaspar. This includes emails sent to or from any of her personal email accounts for work purposes, and constitute an applicable record. This would include any email in Supervisor Gaspar's possession, and any email in possession of another member of the Board of Supervisors or from Supervisor Gaspar. Eliminating duplicate emails is fine.

We are reviewing a large volume of emails for privileged or otherwise exempt materials. We anticipate completing this review in three weeks. We will further identify any exemptions asserted at that time.

2. Every email in the county system to or from the domain "nrcc.org".

Our search yielded no responsive records.

3. Records of reimbursements, or per diem paid to Supervisor Gaspar.

We have records reflecting travel on two occasions. We are redacting credit card information and similar data and will send the records to you tomorrow (Wednesday February 21).

4. Records of Supervisor Gaspar's work travel, including travel outside San Diego County.

See Item 3.

5. Salary records for Supervisor Gaspar.

Below is the salary data for Supervisor Gaspar.

Date	Salary
1/02/2017	$153,531.20
3/17/2017	$163,126.90
7/1/2017	$170,035.70
12/08/2017	$180,037.80

Please do not hesitate to call with any questions.

2016 Standard Mileage Rates for Business, Medical and Moving Announced

IR-2015-137, Dec. 17, 2015

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service today issued the 2016 optional standard mileage rates used to calculate the deductible costs of operating an automobile for business, charitable, medical or moving purposes.

Beginning on Jan. 1, 2016, the standard mileage rates for the use of a car (also vans, pickups or panel trucks) will be:

- 54 cents per mile for business miles driven, down from 57.5 cents for 2015
- 19 cents per mile driven for medical or moving purposes, down from 23 cents for 2015
- 14 cents per mile driven in service of charitable organizations

The business mileage rate decreased 3.5 cents per mile and the medical, and moving expense rates decrease 4 cents per mile from the 2015 rates. The charitable rate is based on statute.

The standard mileage rate for business is based on an annual study of the fixed and variable costs of operating an automobile. The rate for medical and moving purposes is based on the variable costs.

Taxpayers always have the option of calculating the actual costs of using their vehicle rather than using the standard mileage rates.

A taxpayer may not use the business standard mileage rate for a vehicle after using any depreciation method under the Modified Accelerated Cost Recovery System (MACRS) or after claiming a Section 179 deduction for that vehicle. In addition, the business standard mileage rate cannot be used for more than four vehicles used simultaneously.

These and other requirements for a taxpayer to use a standard mileage rate to calculate the amount of a deductible business, moving, medical or charitable expense are in Rev. Proc. 2010-51. Notice 2018-01 contains the standard mileage rates, the amount a taxpayer must use in calculating reductions to basis for depreciation taken under the business standard mileage rate, and the maximum standard automobile cost that a taxpayer may use in computing the allowance under a fixed and variable rate plan.

Brandi-

I made the decision to fly to DC a bit early with my son. We are departing on Friday the 17th. He will be flying back solo the morning of the 20th at 6 AM. I will be available for any briefings all day on the 20th (Mon). My return flight is booked for 5:45 PM on Tuesday night. I am hoping this is late enough. If not, let me know and I can reschedule for something else. I will need to be reimbursed for my portion of the first flight below (half of the cost) and all of the second flight. As far as hotel is concerned, can you book me early for Friday/Saturday and I will pay for these days? I can give you my CC number if you text me. Sunday/Monday should be paid for by the City.

Let me know! Thanks, KG

What you need to know to travel:

- Don't forget to check in for your flight(s) 24 hours before your trip on southwest.com or your mobile device. This will secure your boarding position on your flights.
- Southwest Airlines does not have assigned seats, so you can choose your seat when you board the plane. You will be assigned a boarding position based on your checkin time. The earlier you check in, within 24 hours of your flight, the earlier you get to board.
- WiFi, TV, and related services and amenities may vary and are subject to change based on assigned aircraft. Learn more.

Remember to be in the gate area on time and ready to board:

- 30 minutes prior to scheduled departure time: We may begin boarding as early as 30 minutes prior to your flight's scheduled departure time. We encourage all passengers to plan to arrive in the gate area no later than this time.
- 10 minutes prior to scheduled departure time: All passengers must obtain their boarding passes and be in the gate area available for boarding at least 10 minutes prior to your flight's scheduled departure time. If not, Southwest may cancel your reserved space and you will not be eligible for denied boarding compensation.

Meals and Incidental Expenses (M&IE) Breakdown

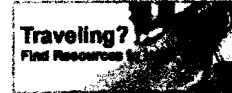

The separate amounts for breakfast, lunch and dinner listed in the chart are provided should you need to deduct any of those meals from your trip voucher. For example, if your trip includes meals that are already paid for by the government (such as through a registration fee for a conference), you will need to deduct those meals from your voucher. Refer to Section 301.11.13 of the Federal Travel Regulation for specific guidance on deducting these amounts from your per diem reimbursement claims for meals furnished to you by the government. Other organizations may have different rules that apply for their employees; please check with your organization for more assistance.

The table lists the six M&IE tiers in the lower 48 continental United States (currently ranging from $46 to $71). If you need to deduct a meal amount, first determine the location where you will be working while on official travel. You can look up the location-specific information at www.gsa.gov/perdiem. The M&IE rate for your location will be one of the six tiers listed on this table. Find the corresponding amount on the first line of the table (M&IE Total) and then look below for each specific meal deduction amount.

The table also lists the portion of the M&IE rate that is provided for incidental expenses (currently $5 for all tiers)

Total	Continental Breakfast/Breakfast	Lunch	Dinner	IE
$46	$7	$11	$23	$5
$51	$8	$12	$26	$5

New Standard Mileage Rates Now Available; Business Rate to Rise in 2015

IR-2014-114, Dec. 10, 2014

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service today issued the 2015 optional standard mileage rates used to calculate the deductible costs of operating an automobile for business, charitable, medical or moving purposes.

Beginning on Jan. 1, 2015, the standard mileage rates for the use of a car, van, pickup or panel truck will be:

- 57.5 cents per mile for business miles driven, up from 56 cents in 2014
- 23 cents per mile driven for medical or moving purposes, down half a cent from 2014
- 14 cents per mile driven in service of charitable organizations

The standard mileage rate for business is based on an annual study of the fixed and variable costs of operating an automobile, including depreciation, insurance, repairs, tires, maintenance, gas and oil. The rate for medical and moving purposes is based on the variable costs, such as gas and oil. The charitable rate is set by law.

Taxpayers always have the option of claiming deductions based on the actual costs of using a vehicle rather than the standard mileage rates.

A taxpayer may not use the business standard mileage rate for a vehicle after claiming accelerated depreciation, including the Section 179 expense deduction, on that vehicle. Likewise, the standard rate is not available to fleet owners (more than four vehicles used simultaneously). Details on these and other special rules are in Revenue Procedure 2010-51, the instructions to Form 1040 and various online IRS publications including Publication 17, Your Federal Income Tax.

Besides the standard mileage rates, Notice 2014-79, posted today on IRS.gov, also includes the basis reduction amounts for those choosing the business standard mileage rate, as well as the maximum standard automobile cost that may be used in computing an allowance under a fixed and variable rate plan.

CANDIDATE'S STATEMENT OF QUALIFICATIONS

The Candidate's Statement of Qualifications is a voluntary statement for candidates seeking local non-partisan elective office. The statement may contain the education and qualifications for the office which is being sought.

FILING PERIOD

The statement shall be filed with the City Clerk when Nomination Papers are returned for filing. If the candidate chooses not to submit a statement of qualifications to be printed in the Voter Information Pamphlet, he or she must sign below the "I DO NOT WANT to file a candidate statement" section on the Candidate's Statement Information Sheet.

WHERE

City Clerk's Office, City of Encinitas, 505 S. Vulcan Avenue, Encinitas, California.

COST

A deposit of $850, determined by the San Diego County Registrar of Voters as an estimate, is required. The actual cost may require additional billing or a refund following the election.

CONTENTS

The statement may contain the name, age, and occupation of the candidate and a brief description, not more than 200 words, of the candidate's education and qualifications expressed by the candidate.

PUBLIC REVIEW PERIOD

There will be a ten-calendar-day examination period when any voter of the City or the City Clerk may seek a Writ of Mandate or an injunction requiring any or all of the material in the Candidate's Statement to be amended or deleted.

LIABILITY

Nothing in Section 13307 of the Election Code shall be deemed to make any Candidate's Statement, or the author thereof, free or exempt from any civil or criminal action or penalty because of any false, slanderous or libelous statements offered for printing or contained in the Voter Information Pamphlet.

FORMAT

The statement must be typed, single-spaced, in block paragraph form, with no indentation. The following WILL NOT be permitted: handwritten statement, copy from a fax machine, extra exclamation points, stars, bullets, graphics, and italics. Statements will be type-set exactly as submitted.

CITY OF ENCINITAS
NOVEMBER 4, 2014 ELECTION

Candidates are advised to carefully check their statements for errors in spelling, punctuation, and grammar. The City Clerk is authorized to make corrections only to the format of Candidates' Statements. The California Election Code intends that the Candidates' Statements be uniform in appearance. By preparing candidates with their statements in accordance with the above guidelines, each statement will be uniformly printed and allowed the same amount of space in the Voter Information Pamphlet. This avoids favored composition or printing of one Candidate's Statement over another.

RESTRICTIONS

The Candidate's Statement shall not include the party affiliation of the candidate or membership or activity in partisan political organizations. Candidate's photographs are not permitted.

WITHDRAWAL

The Candidate's Statement may be withdrawn, but not changed, until 6:00 p.m. the next business day after the close of the nomination period. The nomination period closes on August 8, 2014, unless an incumbent does not file. In that case, the nomination period closes on August 13, 2014, for all candidates other than incumbents.

CONFIDENTIALITY

The Candidates' Statements shall remain confidential until the close of the nomination period.

Subject: City of Encinitas - Updated Preliminary Candidate Statement Costs

October 10, 2014

Good afternoon Kathy:

As was mentioned at the June 24th City Clerks Meeting, the Registrar of Voters (ROV) will be submitting preliminary candidate statement cost to each city by the middle of October 2014. This data is meant to advise you on whether additional dollars are required from candidates or whether a refund to the candidates is possible. The final candidate statement costs will be submitted to you no later than November 21, 2014.

The projected cost, prior to knowing the number of candidates on the ballot (i.e. August 8, 2014), was $700 to $1,000; three pages and six candidates.

The updated preliminary cost per candidate is $709; four pages with eight candidate statements. The increase in cost is due to the number of candidates who applied for the seat(s) and the number of candidate statement pages.

If you have any questions, please contact Donna Fobar at 858-505-7211 or at Madonna.Fobar@sdcounty.ca.gov.

Subject: 2017 NACo Annual Conference and Exposition - Upcoming Hotel Reservation Information

Dear Kristin,

We look forward to welcoming you to Columbus for the 2017 NACo Annual Conference and Exposition. Below is a summary of your confirmed hotel reservation. Please take a moment to review your check-in and check-out dates for accuracy. If you would like to adjust your hotel reservation, please give us a call at (888) 751-5182; available Monday through Friday 8:30 AM EDT - 9:00 PM EDT.

We look forward to your arrival. In the meantime, please feel free to let us know if there is anything we can do to make your stay more enjoyable.

Sincerely,

2017 NACo Annual Conference and Exposition Housing Team
